To the Graduating Students of the Year 1922

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:--

to your predecessors that you will go forth from the University carrying our heartiest good wishes for your success in life. You are well equipped for entering upon the new phase of your career. You take with you minds that have been put through a very much more rigorous training than that of the average person. More, therefore, will be expected of you.

The Editor has told me that the note of this year's TORONTO-NENSIS is leadership. It is not to be expected that you will all become leaders of men. In fact, those who definitely set themselves forth to lead their fellows simply because they have had a university education will meet with serious disappointment, but with your education you should be able to do far better work for the community than those who have not enjoyed such privileges. Also, I doubt not that from among you many leaders will spring up whose natural ability has been developed by the process through which they have gone in this University. We shall be disappointed if this does not prove to be the case. Democracy will attain success not only through the high average quality of the individual citizen, but also through the high quality of those whom it chooses as its leaders.

Two factors therefore enter into the success of a democracy. First, that the people as a whole should not be jealous of the leader, that they should be willing to look for and later intelligently to choose a leader with the finest qualities, and then to be trustful of him and loyal to him. Rapid displacement of popular favourites is injurious to the continuous welfare and progress of a people. Careful choice and adherence to persons of fine intellectual and moral standards will react favourably on the progress of the people as a whole. The second factor is that our education and social environment should be such as to provide men and women who are competent to become leaders in a democracy; and the great universities of the land must, if they are fulfilling their duty, prepare a large share of these future leaders. Here you are taught to think, to face your problems calmly, to endeavour to get a reasonable solution, and to believe that the law of righteousness in life in the long run will prevail, that the world is gradually coming more under the control of a fundamental order, and that human life will injure itself if it dashes itself irrationally against this divine order. It will be your duty if you are to become leaders to discover and to carry into effect the principles of this order on which the welfare of society rests.

EW books in our day have met with such a chorus of condemnation as Colonel Repington's "Diary of the First Great War." The Man with the Duster has attacked it, together with "The Autobiography of Mrs. Asquith," as representing British egotism and insolence at its height. Such a bracketing of the books is hardly fair. Colonel Repington had knowledge and the means of gaining knowledge. In no other direction can the same information be gained as to the numbers of the troops that Great Britain raised and the stages by which she raised them. The criticism by which the author has been belaboured has been brought upon him by his callousness and social flippancy. Day by day there is given, beside the record of his military investigations and journalism, a list of the company at lunch or dinner or both; headings of the conversation, sufficiently suggestive; notes of the conditions of the various tennis courts over the week-end. Everyone has a nickname, and this witty society, male and especially female, plays itself while tens of thousands of our men are being blasted to pieces on the Somme, or, sorely wounded, are crawling round the shell holes and sinking in the bottomless mud of Passchendaele. Perhaps the gaiety was not as pitiless as it seemed, but the book will be mentioned in years to come, not because of its picture of war, but because of its record of the flippancy of great social figures during these tragic years.

But what has this to do with Torontonensis or graduating students in general. Simply this, that the temper in which knowledge is used is often more important than the knowledge itself. No one is going to do his lifework in a void. Every study, even the most abstruse, will impinge on human nature sooner or later. So far as the machinery for the imparting of knowledge is concerned it would not be difficult for the educator to devise a system which would be a good deal more economical in time and money than anything at present in view. It would be a cramming establishment, not a university. It would give only knowledge and not heart; technical dexterity and not character. The engineer would know all about stresses and strains and nothing about the handling of a construction gang; the medical man would become as learned as MacKenzie on the murmurs of the heart and not understand anything of those causes not wholly physical which make vitality droop. It is the business of a university to produce men, not merely pundits. 'Varsity has been doing this in the past and under present conditions is able even better than formerly to continue this broad tradition of mingled scholarship and manhood.

Queen's sends its cordial good wishes to the Graduating Classes of Toronto University with the hope that in the broader field of life the teams may again meet and play the game with the same good spirit as heretofore.

1922 finds us after four or more years of College Life, standing at the crossroads from which each one of us must take our separate way. This new feature in our life makes us pause and look back over the years in which we have travelled this road together. The rough edges of the picture fade in retrospect and the recollections to most of us are alluring. Memories range from moments of the utmost solemnity to the gayest, maddest lark of our career.

We set out full of hope and energy with a determination to make ourselves felt. Historically we consider ourselves rather interesting. The last year to enter while the war was in progress we have seen during our academic life the coming of the Armistice, the peace treaty, the League of Nations and the disarmament conference, as well as doubtless other factors in the making of history. Our numbers have been enriched by the addition of many soldiers of earlier years who have returned to finish their work with us. Much has happened in the last four years, and yet one marvels at the speed with which the time has flown. At this juncture we are unable to gauge the extent or the value of the lessons we have learned, many of them unconsciously in our College Life. We entered impressionable; we found much to impress us. We were plastic and variety of moulds was available. have been unique opportunities for fellowship in matters social, intellectual and spiritual and in the realm of sport. If in this fellowship we have given something to our Alma Mater which we hope has made it a little better for those who will come after us, our time has not been wholly lost. It is not possible here to pay adequate tribute to all those to whom we are indebted, but one would not wish the year of 2T2 to depart with no word of gratitude to those whose endeavour to inspire, to stimulate and to inform has meant so much to us, namely, the members of the faculty.

Mingled with our reflections is a very sincere regret, a feeling common to all who reach the crossroads. It is partly for the things left undone and the opportunities neglected, partly for the life and associations which so shortly will know us no more. Varsity has become a home to us whether we think of greystone or red brick, and while the unknown has its charms there cannot but be some reluctance in leaving the habitation where we are known and have made our place, to make a new place for ourselves elsewhere.

One wearies at times of hearing it proclaimed that students are the coming leaders. But it does appear that whether we will or no people are going to demand leadership from us. And so the challenge is a serious one because the world to-day is crying out for leadership in every walk of life. Leadership involves much more than the issuing of instructions at a safe distance from the scene of action or delivery of lengthy speeches on the way things should be done. There is a demand for very active participation, a blazing of the trail and often the treading of the path in fuller measure than those who are to follow. It requires vision to see the path, resource to meet difficulties, courage to face unpopularity and faith to remain steadfast.

In our miniature world here we have perhaps felt the call to and the burden of leadership. If not we have at least had an opportunity of watching others and forming our own standards of leadership. We have had occasion to study the great leaders of the past. We have perhaps learned to discern and follow leadership greater than our own.

It will not be in a conscious seeking for leadership for its own sake that we shall accomplish most. It is primarily a service, and it is as such that we shall find it. Of those of our number who will be called to serve in the full glare of the public eye we shall be justly proud. But that this will come to few is no cause for laxity or discouragement among the others. Leadership can be effective without publicity.

ADELAIDE MACDONALD

Foreword

In presenting this XXIV volume of TORONTONENSIS it is our wish, not only to provide a suitable memorial of our stay at the University, but also to emphasize certain responsibilities both to ourselves and others, as graduates of an institution of learning which we have every reason to be proud of, an institution whose good name is due in great part to the record of previous graduates.

A few short years ago we began our course with high hopes of what a University training would do for us. Our interests in the life of our University have been as varied as our objectives, but to each one the opportunity was afforded for participation in whatever sphere we choose as our own particular one. As we look back we see in retrospect what we did not always see as participants; how, with its great variety of activities and high ideals, our Alma Mater has given us the unique privilege of obtaining a training which should result in a type of character so essential for success, in the real sense of the word, in whatever sphere of activity we may choose our future life's work.

Our responsibilities to our Alma Mater, to ourselves and those with whom we shall mingle from now on, are by no means unimportant, and the question facing us now is, what use are we going to make of whatever training we may have acquired during our University course?

It is the purpose of TORONTONENSIS to suggest an answer to this question. The resumé of all University activities serves as a reminder of the opportunities we have had for the development of that part of our personality which a purely academic training could not give. The various messages from our teachers and fellow-students calls to mind what we owe to them for inspiring us with higher ideals than we perhaps had at our time of entering college. Ideals which we hope will be in part realized in the life which lies before us. Leadership has been chosen as the keynote of the volume with a view to emphasizing from that point of view our duty to ourselves and those among whom our lot will be cast from now on. The subject has been treated by the different contributors from a great many viewpoints, and it is only necessary for us to refer to it here. Universities and Colleges have always been mountains of vision and training grounds for unselfish leadership. We as graduates will bear evidence as to whether or not our University has served such a purpose. The world was never in greater need of men and women with vision and the instinct for unselfish leadership. Those who will interpret the need rather than the spirit of their age. The worst of the peace is over and we are beginning to settle down to a serious consideration of those lines along which constructive forces must move; where practice gives place to theories. Progress can only continue by the co-operation of all, which co-operation can be created and rightly directed by those who have a vision of the possibilities of mankind when inspired by high ideals. Whether we will it or not we shall be looked upon as those capable of guiding the destinies of others, not always in a large way, perhaps only in our own little community, but the responsibility differs in degree not in kind.

We are grateful to Dr. Bruce Taylor for his message from Queen's University, and hope that it will serve to cement further the spirit of good-will already existing between the two Universities. We had hoped to have a message from McGill also, but pressure of work made it impossible for General Currie to send us one. He sends his good wishes, however, to the graduating classes of Toronto, and wishes them every success in their life's work.

The usual apologies are made for mistakes, which we have done our best to prevent and we hope those who are the victims will treat us with kindly tolerance.

To the Graduating Class of University College

PRINCIPAL HUTTON

It is one of the contradictions of this age that the world is continually asking for leadership and at the same time repudiating leadership when proffered; or at best accepting only such leadership as falls far short of the term as it is usually understood.

The most conspicuous example of leadership of recent date was President Wilson's attempt to lead the world to a League of Nations, and Premier Venizelos' attempt to lead Greece into the Great War before it was well nigh finished. President Wilson. was violently repudiated, first by his own Senate, then at the Presidential election by his own people; it is easy to see his lack of tact and his domineering methods; nevertheless, here was not merely a case of real leadership but of leadership towards a goal which not only Europe but his own people probably in their hearts fervently desired. It was no wave of passing emotion but a real compunction of conscience, no doubt, which led to a mild popular demonstration in his honour at Washington when the Peace Conference assembled. The crowd recognized that personal bitterness and dislike, had defeated a purpose to which in itself the majority of the nation were still friends. Then why did his leadership fail? Presumably because leadership in the old sense is almost impossible to-day and for fairly simple reasons. This is the age of general education; general education has removed illiteracy and raised the standard of intelligence; education, as it becomes general, implies, to begin with, a real approximation to general equality of judgment and of intelligence; if men are not equal in capacity at any rate they are much more nearly equal than they used to be when education was a privilege of the few. It is at least truer than it was of old to say that one man does not differ much from another.

In the second place, general education, if it does not produce a real equality of judgment, at least produces a belief that capacity and judgment are fairly equal, in the men of to-day, and that comes to the same thing, so far as leadership is concerned; men at least think themselves equal; and therefore resent leadership.

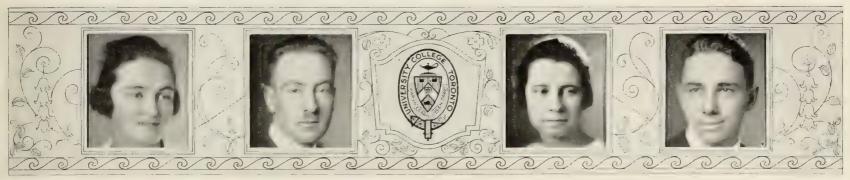

When I was in Paris in 1910 I witnessed the Ferrero demonstration. Ferrero put this proposition of equality very strongly and unselfishly "Don't bother about me and my fate," in effect he said. "Let them shoot me; it is of no consequence; no man is of consequence to-day; the day of leaders is gone; if my death is of any use to the cause of the masses I am amply repaid; and it is well worth while."

Leadership, therefore, such as President Wilson attempted, is "up against it." Modern conditions or modern education provoke at once disgust and resentment towards the idea of leadership.

Then what leadership remains possible? Only, I think, a minor leadership of two kinds: first, there is the leader who has a genius for sizing up his fellow-men and putting their ideas into the best words; he may rarely "stand up to" his age and contradict it, but he can always gain great power by giving the age its best expression. Every one sees of whom I am thinking. Mr. Lloyd George has a perfect genius for catching on to the prevailing mood, and giving it adequate voice; every one even his opponents, were anxious in the autumn of 1920 that he should go to Washington. He and he alone can properly express a national passion. He possesses a real leadership, but it is "opportunism" not less than leadership which he incarnates—he gives back in steam what he takes in vapour from his countrymen; he is their mouthpiece, their megaphone, their bell man; but he is not their leader in the full sense, for his own moods shift with theirs and adapt themselves to theirs and are in truth their reflection. And then there is the minor leadership of the organizer; the War produced Mr. Hoover as well as President Wilson, and who shall say that Mr. Hoover was not the more efficient and effectual leader? But leadership in the older sense he would be the first to disclaim; he is an organizer, not a leader; or if it is better to put it so, he is the only sort of real leader possible under modern conditions---the capable organizer.

Mr. Hoover is by no means a negligible or a poor product of democracy; far from it. Such leadership can work marvels and has worked marvels in the war; but it is a new and minor form of leadership. It is agency not leadership; mechanical not spiritual; but it is such leadership as is left.

CHESTER McGREGOR ANDERSON

"Early to bed and early to rise Makes a man healthy and wealthy and wise."

Wilton Grove, Middlesex County, claims "Andy" as a native. Born 1899, educated at London Collegiate, he came to U.C. 1917. Course, Chemistry. Pastime, skating. His smile will prove his fortune.

DOROTHY LOUISE ARTHUR

"How I wonder what you are?"

This young star began to Twinkle in 1901, at Sudbury. Shone brightly for seventeen years. Came to Varsity, where her career in Moderns has been meteoric. Has always taken a stellar rôle in the Modern Language Club, and in the dramatic firmament also she has ever been a foremost star. Even her eye Twinkles.

JOHN CODE ARMSTRONG

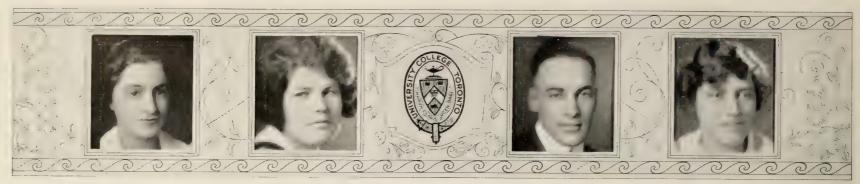

"Nymph, in thy orisons, be all my sins remembered,"

Jack was born in Ottawa on July 19, 1899. He matriculated from the Ottawa Collegiate Irstitute in 1918. From there he went to the Royal Military College, transferring to Toronto in his recruit year to enter the combined course in Arts and Medicine. In spite of the difficulties "P and B" offers, he has always found time to play a bit. He is on the executive of the Squash-Raquet Club, and is a member of the Kappa Alpha Society.

WILLIAM ALFRED BAKER

"Happy am I, from care set free Why aren't they all content like me?"

Bill first created a disturbance in Moose Jaw, Sask., on July 30, 1902. Senior Matriculation at M.J.C.I. 1919. Aspiring to intellectual heights, he entered ranks of Polly-Ann '22 as a fresh-soph,' Partakes of Rugby and Boxing for recreation.

GRACE BELL

"Without seeking triends nor trust she can't avoid them."

Grace proceeded from St. Margaret's to University College. Here she proved her histrionic ability by starring in (the) Dramatics, her tact and good judgment, by her successful management of Queen's Hall as head girl, and her charm by the devotion of her friends.

GERTRUDE RHODA BIRD

To take good notes, to underline,
To keep the point, she likes,
And Chelsea buns, and fine

For, and for firelight gleams,
And apples, and armchairs.

WILFRED BREDIN

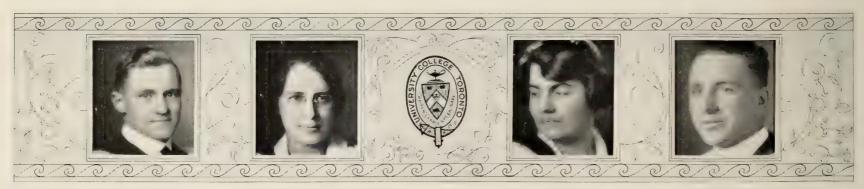

"He who sous courtesy reaps triendship."

Jan. 8, 1900, marks Wilf's initial appearance in Toronto. The R.A.F. started him upward and he has kept on climbing with the class of 2T2 Political Science. A careful student and a loyal comrade, efficiency has ever been the standard of all his activities. Osgoode Hall will precede a business career.

ETHEL GEORGINA BRIERLY

"She has a work, a life purpose, she has found it and will perhaps follow it."

Ethel decided some few years ago to go in for higher education. With that object in view she entered U.C. We have heard various rumours regarding her, but little in detail. She expects to graduate this year, and may continue in some active occupation.

CLARENCE GEORGE BRENNAND

"A lusty love of life and all things human."

Born in Toronto 1897. Senior matriculation from North Toronto H.S. 1917. Served in R.A.F. 1917-1919. Entered Varsity in 1919 in C. and M. Revels in Mineralogy and calls fossils by their first names.

ROSE PRISCILLA BROADBRIDGE

"For if she will, she will, you may depend on't And it she won't, she won't, and there's an end on't."

Independence, fearlessness, a love of nature and an insatiable thirst for knowledge—these are Rose's outstanding characteristics. The number of books she devours astonishes us—yet she can do all the feminine things which are foreign to most intellectual maidens.

Who dares predict her future?

A. M. H. BROWN

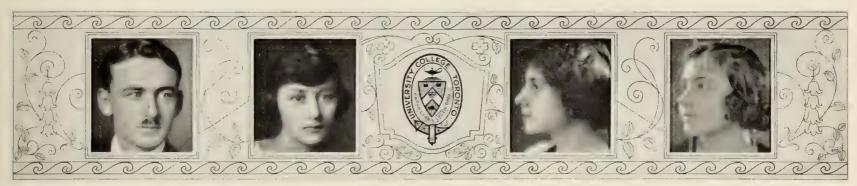

First year, mostly grousing.
Second year, more rousing; she joins Ardent zealots gathering at Des Moines.
Third year, militant:
With appeals diligent, she pleads
Her cause with Mr. Brebner—and succeeds.
Fourth year, glorious!
Likewise laborious, for she

Embarked on a Conservative career in Palmerston, including in her tour Harriston made intensive study of foods in relation to man. Her versatility enables her to appreciate anything from the sublime to the ridiculous and has won her the love of loyal friends.

HONORA MAY COCHRANE

"How dull it were to pause, to make an end."

A victim of the improved (?) Modern Language Course. Shows a perverted en-High School, Faculty and U. of T. Here thusiasm for work and a mania for opening windows, but is otherwise a law-abiding member of the year.

MARJORIE CRAY

"Quips and cracks and wanton wiles,"

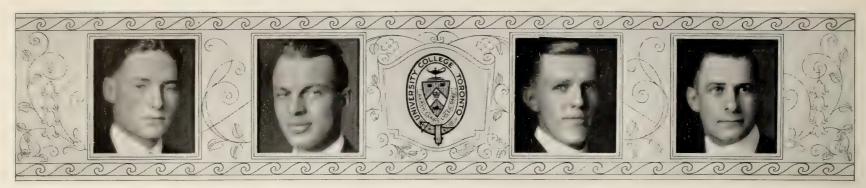

First appearance Guelph, August 7, 1900. Carelessly assumes responsibilities of Vice- ing in Smith's Falls. Welcomed by the regis-Fresident of Newman Club, Secretary of the Women's Press Association, and Associate Editor of the Varsity, to balance the frivolous life of a popular Co-Ed of 2T2.

Vocation: probably Journalism. Avocation: English and History.
Ambition: Voting—(realised this year).

CLIFFORD AUSTIN CURTIS

"What! without asking, bother burried whence, And without asking, whither hurried hence?

Arrived at Lindsay in 1899. Pursued learntrar to Varsity in '18. Hopes when a Eachelor of some Arts to conquer Osgoode.

ANDREW GIBSON CURRY

"Surela, surela, slumber is more sweet than toil." "For one may smile and smile and be a villain."

Andy dates from April 6, 1901 and a right splendid fellow he is. King's College School and St. Andrew's College claim some credit for his Edward Blake in Maths when he first hove to from Windsor, N.S., as a "long green" in C. & F. Now Pres. C. & F. Club. Distinguishing characteristics: -- of stature-

BEVERLEY VALLACK ELLIOT

"For even though ranquished, he could argue still."

Better known as Pete; hails from Norwich, Ont. Matriculated from Woodstock Collegiate Institute 1918. Joined the class of 2T2, with which he mingled freely at dances and lectures. He was a hard worker at Hockey and Rugby, and now leaves us to give his undivided attention to legal matters.

ALISON AGNES EWART

"'Tis not so deep as a well, nor so wide as a "I don't recollect anything that I have forgotchurch door; but 'tis enough, 'twill serve."

It has been deep enough to sound the depths of English and History. It has been wide enough to leave room for Burns, Barrie and bicycling. I think 'twill serve to take her to Oxford, and carry her through life.

GEORGE LINDEN FAIR

George upset his first bottle in 1900, near Millbrook, Durham Co., Ontario. Attended Riverdale Collegiate Inst. 1912-17, winning the Gibson General Proficiency Scholarship. One year in Boys' Work at Broadview "Y."
Entered U.C. in P. & B. Course. Class Treasurer in fourth year. Future: Medicine.

MARGARET E. FAIR

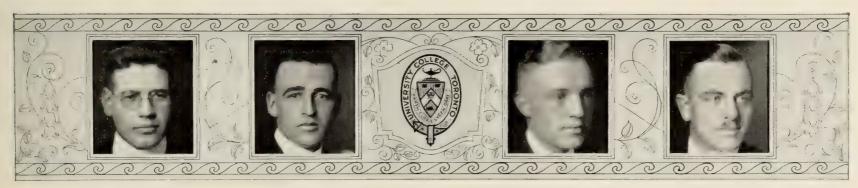

"I've taken my fun where I've found it."

Margaret demonstrated her executive ability in her third year, when she managed U.C. Basket-Ball and captained the first winning team in years. During her three years in Queen's Hall she was distinguished by the number of late-leave keys she overworked. True blue, through and through, in truth, a very Friend.

CALVERT LOCKWOOD FLETCHER

"When I'm a man I'll be a broker it I can,"

When "Fletch" skipped into history in 1896, Melbourne, Ont., shared in the reflected glory. Early years spent at home and St. Thomas Collegiate. Failing to reach Heaven via R.A.F., he entered University College 1918, in Political Science. Weakness: blondes.

FRANK CECIL FORSTER

"He'd rather
Chat with one he think is fair
Than sit upon a throne of state."

Frank belongs to Toronto, Mounted 2T2 Political Science in 1919, from P.C.I. and J.C.I. He has since felt the joys of prairie school teaching. A leader in Boys' Work, likes sports, debating, "dauncing." In fact, is going to be a legal luminary.

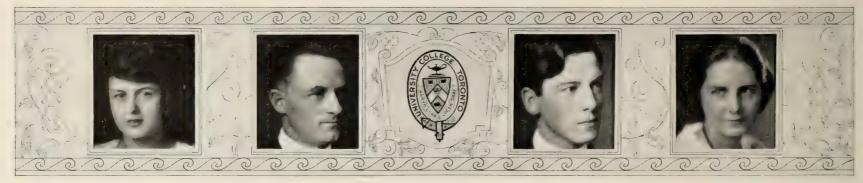

JOSEPH WARD FOSTER

"All great men are dying and I feel sick."

Born near Barrie, Dec. 10, 1900. Matriculated from Humberside Collegiate '18, spent one year at McMaster University. Transferred to U.C. to graduate with '22. Favorite saying: "Gee, she gave me a dirty look."

FRIEDA H. FRASER

"She looked wise, which was quite as good as understanding and not half so much trouble."

MARGARET H. FRIED

"A maid of excellent discourse Pretty, witty, wild yet gentle too."

London, Ontario, was Peggy's source;
To many schools she had recourse.
Till to U.C. she lent her force,
Where Moderns seemed the nicest course.
Acting is her famed resource,
And dances missed, her chief remorse,—
Of course!

MATTHEW JOSEPH FLYNN

"How compty learning, and How vain is art, But as they mend the life And guide the heart!"

Reached Toronto in 1914, via Hamilton. 1916-1919 learned to be "Old Soldier" Overseas; 1919 returned to Varsity, and continued said game with the class of 2T2.

Recreations: Modern Languages and French Plays.

THOMAS SOAMES GAULT

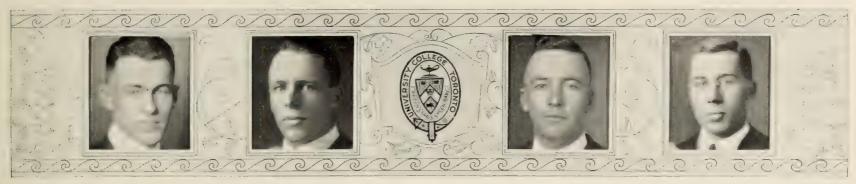

"I do not strive, I do not weep;
I rush with the swift spheres and glow
In joy, and when I will, I steep."

LAURIE HARRIS

"She had wit and song and sense Mirth and sport and eloquence."

Coming from Hamilton, Laurie attempted lectures for awhile, but later abandoned them. She has distinguished herself in dramatics and by being head of No. 4 Queen's Hall. Her spent most of his spare time exploring the magnetic smile and happy nature have blazed

SARA E. HELE

As a student she's fair, as a swimmer she's rare.

As a dancer she seems to be floating on air: As a friend she is true, bright and popular too,

Here's health, wealth, and happiness, Sally, to you!

BRETTA NANCY HICKSON

"She is so winsome and so wise."

In the Fall of Nineteen-eighteen, Came this maiden to seek knowledge, Came she to these halls of learning, Bringing with her merry laughter. Four years filled with mirth and pleasure, Four years filled with worth-while efforts, All are past -Now she's departing, But departing leaves us memories. Memories that will linger sweetly In the halls of this old college.

DOROTHY CRESSWELL HODGINS

"She is pretty to walk with, And witty to talk with, And pleasant, too, to think on."

For three short years a little learning she desired and a little pleasure too. Her high spirits and keen sense of humour have made for her a host of friends who prophesy an interesting future, not too academic.

SYDNEY DAVID HOLMES

"A crutch, a crutch! Why call you for a sword?"

Liverpool, England, was bonoured by Sid's arrival in 1899. An immigrant of 1907. Attended Picton C. I. Served with the Siege Artillery. Entered U. C. in Chemistry and Wineralogy. A resident of East House throughout. What next, Who knows?

September 6, 1900, Gordon arrived. Matriculated with high standing from Weston High School. U. C. 1918-22. Specialized in Chemistry and Mineralogy. Graduated with honours. A diligent student, an interesting personality. Promise of great ability.

RUTH MABEL HOME

You see her in the library, walled around with books,

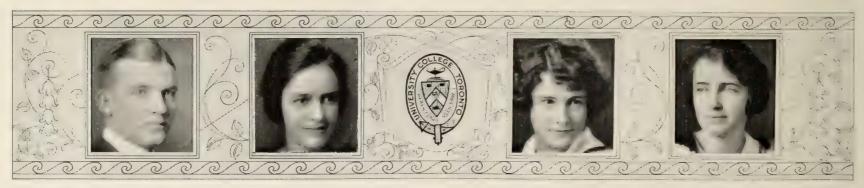

Or writing history essays in all the union nooks:

And when the English groups are getting deadly dull.

You wait expectantly for Ruth to liven up the lull.

Sometimes she's young and childlike, sometimes old and wise,

But in everything she says, or does, she's a terror for her size.

The stork left "Hutch" at Mitchell on February 12, 1899. Mitchell H. S. and Seaforth C. I. sent him, scholarships et al, to '19 M. and P. From the Overseas Company in 1917 he went to the Royal Naval Air Service, returning to '22 C. and M., later to Chemistry. Keenly interested in all phases of student activity. A capable student and loyal friend.

ALICE KATHLEEN HUME

"Thy modesty's a canale to thy merit."

If kindness and unselfishness are primary virtues, then Kathleen is supremely blest. Her pleasant disposition has won her many friends. Matriculating from Harbord in '17, she came to U. C. In '18 she entered Household Science and now,

"Of calories and vitamines she can tell And with her diet keep you well."

JEAN S. INWOOD

"As the moths around a taper, As the bees around a rose,"

Jean's history may be summed up in one word, friends. She left many at Branksome, to Ride a Bloor car, not very far,

Just down to College where all the girls are; With friends at her fingers' end, friends at her toes,

She'll be surrounded wherever she goes.

MARGARET JEAN JAMIESON

"True in word and tried in deed."

After spending her youth in U. S. A., Trinidad and Canada she at last found her sphere in U. of T. where she divided her time between Dietetics and innumerable meetings. Her capability, balanced by sheer love of fun have made her much appreciated.

FREDERICK KENT JASPERSON

"Love's young dream."

Born at Kingsville, Ont., 1900. Received his preliminary education at Leamington, Ont., Peddie Institute and Columbia University. He came to U. of T. in 1918 where he registered in Political Science. Hopes to eventually be one of the "Big Interests."

HAROLD W. JOHNSTON

"Of no great note, but has a vote."

Born in Toronto, January 31, 1900. Early utterances so obscure that Classical education seemed foreordained. Harbord Collegiate fostered the ambition. Class President President Classical Association '21. Humble devotee of the Muses, Terpsichore included. Hobbies: Class parties and domestic pursuits. ness. Hobby: enjoying life.

MINTON C, JOHNSTON

CLARKSON OGDEN JONES

"No profit grows where is no pleasure ta'en, In brief, sir, study what you most affect."

C. O. was born in Toronto on 6th August, tury. Sought early education at the Harbord 1901-not so very long ago at that. He matriculated from U. T. S. in 1918, and entering into the spirit of the General Arts Course, has fooled the Faculty for four consecutive years. He now proceeds to the Law through the medium of Osgoode Hall. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha Society.

FRANCES COLLISON KASTNER

" 'Twas how you talked and looked at things That made us like you so.

Youthful prodigy, graduating at twentyone years. Noted for her exuberance of spirits. As Head Girl successfully steered Nine Queen's Hall through the pitfalls of 1921. Her success in this office makes certain her ability to manipulate the affairs of some financial magnate which is the goal toward which she aims.

MYRA BERNICE KEARNEY

"Fair science sits enthroned Behind thy circled brows."

After living in three provinces Myra came to Varsity with a Scholarship in Mathematics and Science. Having an inborn love of numbers, she naturally chose Mathematics and Physics. The lure of the lab., after a longing glance at the stars, led her to Physics in fourth year. The stars, however, predict a bright future.

JOHN WILSON KEELER

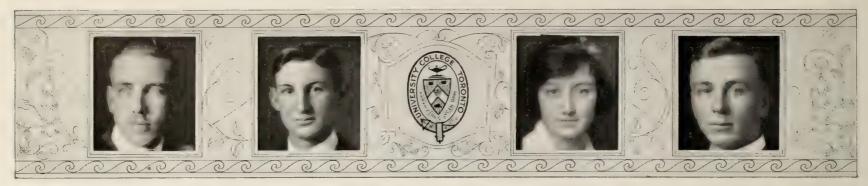

Far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife His sober wishes never learned to stray; Along the cool sequestered vale of life He kept the noiseless tenor of his way."

Born April 1st, 1899. Matric, Toronto University Schools. Joined O.T.C. spring of 1918. Uriversity College.

C. HELEN KEENS

"She stands four square To all the winds that blow."

Helen came from B. S. S. to brighten up the University, showing equal interest in lectures and all parties. She represented U. C. on the Torontonensis Board, proving in this as in everything else, capable and always reliable. Helen was renowned for her friendliness, loyalty and charming hospitality.

KENNETH PORTER KIRKWOOD

"You are a devil at everything, and there is no kind of thing in the 'versal world but what you can turn your hand to.

Born in Brampton, Ont., 1899. Educated in England and Toronto. Flight Sub-Lieutenant, R. N. Entered University College 1919. Activities: Pres., Science Club, 1920; Vice-Pres., U.C. Interests chiefly literary. Confesses to "an incurable itch for scribbling.

CLIFFORD EARL KITCHEN

"A good companion and as firm a friend."

Our hero hails from King, Ont., the auspicious event taking place August 29, 1900. Next heard from at Harbord C. I., matriculating 1918. Then Political Science U. C., where he cultivated an insatiable appetite for Roman Law. Class Executive '19. Business Manager "Patches" '20 and '21. Osgoode next. Good luck, Cliff.!

EDITH MARION LANGWORTHY

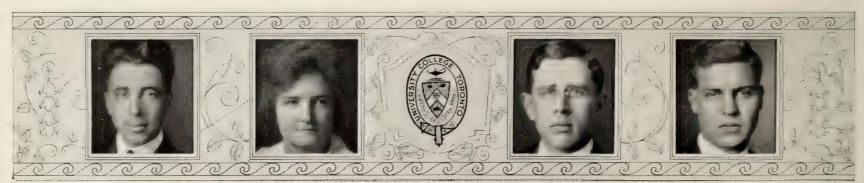

"She's little, but she's wise, She's a terror for her size.

Edith came from Port Arthur to the University of Toronto. Queen's Hall knows well her hearty laugh. She is sincere both in her pursuit of knowledge and in her friendships. Rumour has it, "She hath the gift of song."

L. C. LEE

"Here is a dear, a true industrious friend."

Aurora first resounded to his wails on October 13, 1896. Early in his career he showed symptoms of being a billiard shark. He joined His Majesty's Forces on February While in France he rose to the 21, 1916, rank of Sergeant. He returned to Canada January 29, 1918, and entered the Political Science course the following autumn. Hobby: Billiards. Favourite expression: "I don't give a hoot"!

HENRY LENNOX

"But howsoever love be blind the world at large .. Each thought was visible that rolled within, hath eyes."

Responsible for October 11th, 1897 being famous, resolved "to be a parson like daddy." Jumped from Maxville High School to France with 21st Bn.; from there to U. of T. Knox will finish education of future Apollos. Soccer coach and all round athlete. Interested in Queen's Hall; Ottawa, and prunes.

War and Theology claimed some attention; served with 180th (Sportsmen's) Battalion, later with R.A.F. in the East, Graduated from Wycliffe last year.

CHARLES GRANT LITTLEFIELD

Enough of science and of art; Close up those barren leaves."

Grant first greeted the light of day on May 13, 1898, in Peoria, Illinois. After a brilliant preparatory course and a business trip to France he entered Political Science course. He has taken an active interest in university life, social and athletic. Manager 2nd Rugby team, 1920, and has held various executive positions. Good luck to a good fel-

ARTHUR AUSTIN LOWTHER

"And French he spak ful faire and fetisly."

England has the honour of sponsoring Arts, in '99. Migrated to Toronto to find scope for his talents. Matriculated from Riverdale Collegiate where he carried off prizes in essaywriting and oratory. Believing in "Arts for Art's sake" he entered U. C. in Moderns. Future uncertain but meritorious.

ADELAIDE H. G. MACDONALD

"Ah, you are the vanilla of society— You flavour everything!"

If anyone has—Come to College, Graced Polycon. Sung songs. Made spicy remarks. Given good advice, and taken some. Been an all-round sport. And heaps of fun. Ask 2T2. Snagged a scholarship. Played tennis hard. And goal in hockey. Debated soundly. Run the W. U. A. Managed "Patches." Attended conferences. It's Mac!

ARCHIBALD LORNE MACINTYRE

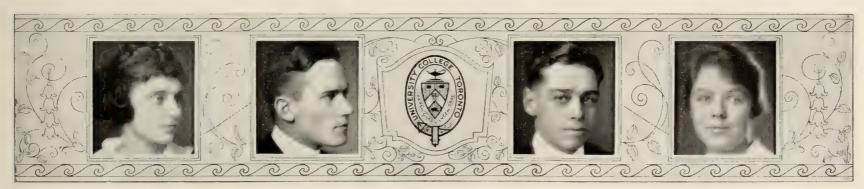

"To be, or not to be; that is the question."

August, 1901, out of the nowhere into Lindsay. After pursuing the three R's took Senior Matric. at L. C. I. Varsity in '18. Unrecognized genius. After graduation.

DONALD FORSYTH MACLAREN

"I'll speak to it though hell itself should gape And bid me hold my peace."

Received his preliminary education at Barrie Collegiate Institute. After serving overseas in the Royal Artillery he came to University in 1919, where he entered Political Science in University College. He became president of his year in 1920. Hopes to be the leading divorce lawyer in Canada.

HELEN MACDONALD MACLEAN

"Joy rises in her life a summer's morn."

English and History, the Lit., the "Varsity" and the Library have been Helen's spheres of action. An omnivorous reader, she consumes with relish Jane Austen. Mill and Barrie, with a sprinkling of best-sellers—a wonderful medley! Her irrepressible sense of humour has often proved disastrous to her friends' gravity; her favourite remark, "I really meant to come this morning", has become a by-word.

FINLAY ANGUS MACLENNAN

"See him smiling."

Mac first smiled in China in 1897. Matriculated from Harbord in 1914, and entered Varsity with 1T9. The 43rd Battery claimed his attention for three years and now behold him still smiling in 2T2. Like all true humourists he knows when to be serious. He can always find something to be happy about.

HAROLD BEAM MATCHETT

JOHN CLINTON McCANDLESS

"This briar old is never cold : This an optimistic guy."

Home, Brampton. Matriculated 1916 and came to Varsity, but soon changed to a three years' course in practical "military studies". 1919 started in again as a frosh in Modern History. Has a strange liking for burrowing among documents and books. Recreations: a pipe and fussing. Otherwise normal,

NORMAN ARNOLD McCORMICK

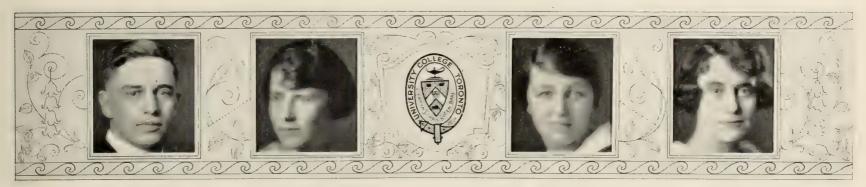

Ah God! The petty fools of rhyme Can't do me justice at such a time."

Made a howling début June 14, 1901, Wheatley, Ont. King Edward School, Walkerville; Windsor C. I. Followed path of wisdom in P. and B., proceeding with Meds. Addicted to hard work and women. Started an average kid, finished a thinking man.

ERNEST J. McGIRR

"His worth is warrant for his welcome,"

Grey first heard of Ernest in 1895. Matriculated at Durham H. S. Was a moulder of youth till '15. Then he found his way over to France serving with the 19th Battalion. At Varsity he preferred Glee Club, and Boy's Work with a little Philosophy, English and History. Motto: Service—"Say it with Smiles."

HELEN McKEOWN

"To live lite to its full "

St. Agnes' School and St. Margaret's College combined and sent Helen to the University of Toronto. Here she has been very busy with social enterprises, despite which she has managed to earry off the odd honour. During her three years in Queen's Hall she has impressed us with her charming personality and humorous ability.

MARJORIE BOYCE McKNIGHT

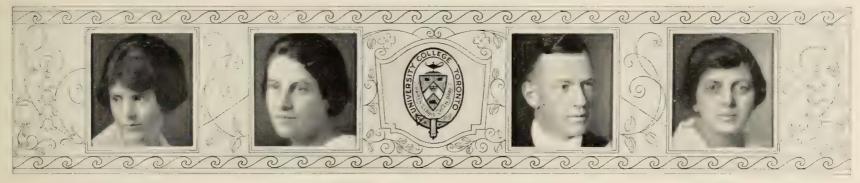

"Whose jest among her triends is free."

Asked her first question in Simcoe, Ont. Laughed her way through High School and then came to brighten the Household Economics Course, showing a marked interest in science, Natural and Applied. Chief diversions are tête-a-tetes, skating and practical jokes. A keen sense of humour and jolly disposition have made her a much-sought companion.

MYRA McLEAN

"I take it to be a true principle of life not to be too much addicted to any one thing."

What do we see? Shadows of M. and P.,
Press Club, Varsity and Lit.,
A drop of whimsicality,
A heap of versatility,
And a delightful fund of wit.

JEAN ROSS MACMILLAN

Thou, whose merry whimsical asides
And dreadful puns and gay caricatures
Enliven all our days; and yet,
Whose fertile brain at will propounds
Theories most philosophical.
Gifted thou art dramatically. Thou shinest
Alike in ballroom gay, and cosey fire-lit room;
In sooth, in every sphere thou show'st thyself
"The incarnation of sheer joy!"

Acquired Characteristics—Daniel W Scholarship.

Mutational Factors—Discussion, "Lit.", cocoa for the Biology Club.

MURIEL M. MORAN

"A shy, attractive kind of grace."

Shyly and unobtrusively Muriel absorbed at Peterboro' and Harbord learning sufficient to enable her to enrich the ranks of Moderns. Titian curls, sunny disposition, untamed sense of humour, a passion for tennis, together with uncanny ability to achieve essays at the forty-eleventh hour and slide gracefully through examinations constitute her modest claim to renown.

KATHLEEN MORRISON

When of K. they had their fill They sent her out of Chesterville. To give the town a good long rest They sent her all the way out West. But now she writes for "Varsity" And for the Press Club poureth tea; She goes to lectures on the run Is for her friends a fount of fun.

HOPE WINNIFRED MORSON

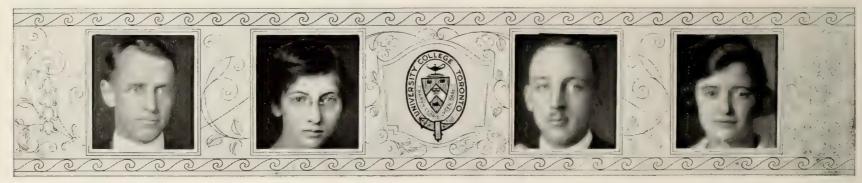

"Such a merry, nimble, stirring spirit?"

Hope has gained the reputation for absolute dependableness, whether for affairs important or otherwise, or merely for cheering up her less buoyant friends. Her "gameness" won her a "T" in hockey, offices on U.C., and Directorate, Athletic Executives, and her blithe heart a unique place in the hearts of her friends.

WILFRED STEPHEN MUIR

"A lot of work, a little play, 'Un medicin'—some day."

"Biff" was introduced to us December 12, 1891, at St. Marys, Ont. He acquired his early schooling at Niagara Falls, taking an interest in literary and athletic activities. Medicotropic influences drew him to U. C. where he entered P. and B. Denizen of South House.

Future—More teaching.

MAKY CRAIG NEEDLER

"With solace and gladness Much mirth and no madness All good and no badness."

For contemplation she, and Aristotle, For wintry walks and fire-side talks and tea. For tragedies and De La Mare a passion; For Latin prose and rouge—antipathy. The Interrog. and Lit. have known her well, and we Have loved her naive charm and courtesy.

WILLIAM EWART NODWELL

"The time is out of joint; O cursed spite...

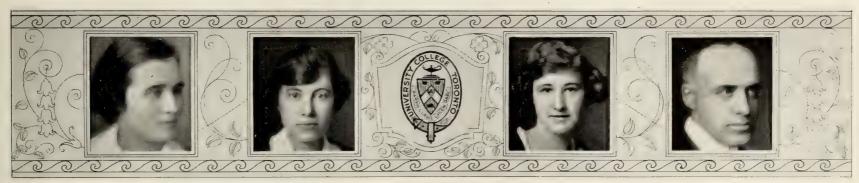

Arrived at the Homestead Farm, Hillsburg, in '96. Later attended Fergus and Brampton High Schools. With the Princess Pats, 1915-18. For some time Industrial "Y" Secretary, then Varsity. "Bill's" interests range from fairy tales to international goodwill. A dangetous and honourable opponent; an enthusiastic colleague; never found wanting in the pirch.

ISABEL LOUISE PATERSON

"It is not growing like a tree In bulk, doth make man better be."

S.C.M. Bible groups, M. and P. exec and Lit., Skating, dancing, midnight parties at the Hall.

First-class honours with it all,— And her future, what of it Business claims her, so they say: Wait and see who comes her way!

MARY JEANETTE PEARL

"Ne quid nimis."

Mary has tried to increase friendship between U.S.A. and Canada by nine years of school and University here. A Classics enthusiast, she has survived her exposure to Thucydides and Lucretius and Beethoven, and can of this doubtful record she was admitted into still take no less keen pleasure in matters of more frivolous aspect.

M. ALICE PIDGEON

"To-morrow again I begin."

Deep enough to be hard to fathom, leaving a little unsaid, a little to be explored. During her active career here and abroad has attended at least fourteen schools. In spite Household Science. We feel safe in saying that Alice's future will never prove a blank.

FRANCES PATRICIA PRATT

"Faith, lady, you have a merry heart."

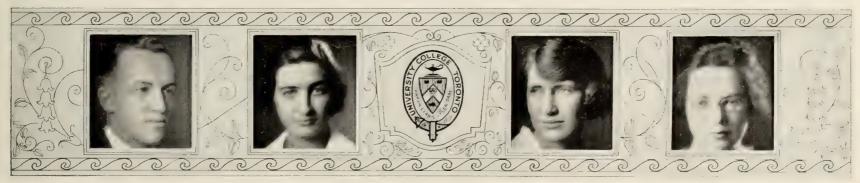

Although born in Guelph, Toronto now claims her as her own. After graduating from Parkdale Collegiate she entered Modern Languages and has managed to weather the

> A student good. A comrade gay, A dancer fine, And famed, they say; A damsel sweet, And wise, at that. A loyal friend-That's Frankie Pratt.

JOHN LESLIE PRENTICE

"Respect every man's opinion-act on your own."

He made his first hit in this world at Fergus, Ont. Early education at Wallaceburg and matriculated in Toronto. He slipped into school unnoticed and with luck might get out the same way. His habits-I'm only allowed limited space. May success be his solemn friend.

GERALD M. PURCELL

"And one man in his time plays many parts."

"Jerry" is a product of the Guelph Collegiate. President, Varsity Rugby Club, '21; Vice-President, Canadian Intercollegiate Rugby Union, '21; 1st Vice-President, U.C. Intercollegiate Literary and Athletic Society, '21; Sporting Editor of "The Varsity," '19 and '20; Class Executive, '20; U.C. Rugby and Basketball Captain, '19. Possesses genial personality and happy knack of fooling professors.

GRACE C. RANEY

"My head seems to be filled with ideas,-only I don't exactly know what they are."

Six brothers and four years of Classics have been sufficient to make Grace rather thoughtful and philosophical. But like many women she is a paradox, grave and gay, silent and loquacious, "Her infinite variety" will make her life far from monotonous.

MARGARET E. REID

It's like a book, I think, this bloomin' world, Which you can read and care for just so long, But presently you feel that you will die Unless you get the page you're readin' done. An' turn another-likely not so good. But what you're after is to turn 'em all.

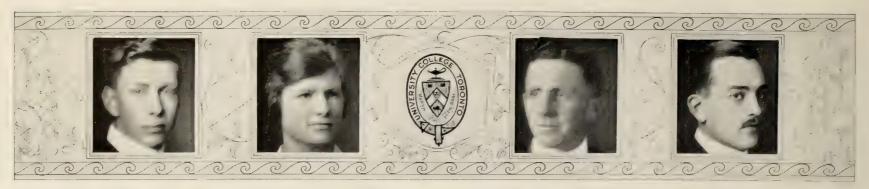

ANNIE REOCH

"Thou hast wit and fun and fire."

Who dropped in Nottawa from the sky? Who spent her terms at Collingwood High? Our Annie.

Who came to college meek and shy? Who greets us now with merry eye?

Our Annie. And in the days that lie before May all that's good be kept in store For Annie.

ALLAN REOCH

"How fit he is to sway That can so well obey!"

Allan first caused excitement at Nottawa, Ont., December 6, 1901. Educated at Nottawa Public School and Collingwood Collegiate, joining class of '22 in 1919. Busy in graduation year with duties as Vice-President of the Undergraduates' Association of Knox College, whither Allan will proceed to study theology.

MARGARET EVELYN RHODES

"Sweet personality, jult of rascality."

"Mardi" first smiled in Brockville and has been smiling ever since. Entered Moderns but saw her mistake and transferred of her own accord to the "Primrose Path"—General. Her congeniality made her Head Girl of the University College Residence and she was ever popular in musical circles. Chief diversion—
"Dent Dances!"

HAROLD COLMAN RICKABY

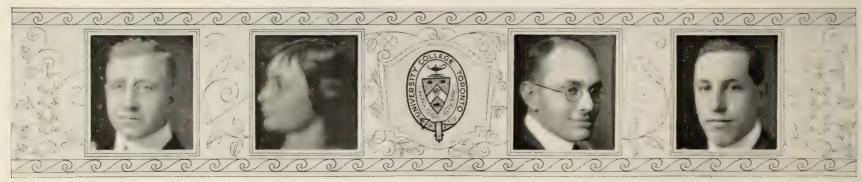

"Big men come from small towns."

Birthplace, Orono, Ont., December 29, 1891. Matric., Newcastle H. S. U.C., 1914-15. France, 1915 with 2nd University Co. Received commission 1918 for distinguished service with P.P.C.L.I. Honours in Chemistry and Mineralogy. An earnest student, a cheerful comrade, a true friend.

CLARENCE W. T. ROBINSON

"A little work, a little play, A game of bridge to end the day."

Robby made his début in Komoka, 1899, but his ambitious and venturesome spirit have taken him far afield. Graduated Strathroy C. L., 1915. Two years at Western University. Enlisted April, 1917, serving overseas in the R.F.C. Entered U.C. in 1919 in Chemistry. The cheeriest man in his class—his exotic happiness spreads to others. The Chemical profession claims his services.

ROBERT H. ROBINSON

"Though much be readeth, findeth time withal For lighter matters."

Great commotion, lasting some months, follows his advent in Fergus, Ont., October 6, 1894. Matric. at Fergus, F.O.E., '14. The Army. Some teaching. Varsity. Not a bad fellow when you know him.

MARGARET REEVE ROSEBRUGH

"Why should life all labour be?"

Margaret came to college with the ambition of becoming a scientist, but after two strenusus years of labs., she transferred her allegiance to the General Course, and has not regretted her choice. Her loyalty and unselfishness have won her many warm friends.

HARRY ROSENTHAL

Would you praise Caesar, say Caesar; go no further."

Matriculated at Harbord Collegiate, Toronto. President of the History Discussion Club, '18. Plays Basketball enthusiastically. Musicial-Composer. Of him it may be said—though loved by all, yet loving but one.—Political Science.

JAMES LEITH ROSS

"Much may be made of a Scotchman if he be caught young,"

Jim entered the Halls of Learning as a Political Scientist at the age of 18. He likes everything about the halls except the "No Sinoking" signs; has helped U.C. in their struggles for Rugby, Hockey and Swimming Cups, for many seasons; hopes to inspect the Oggoode Halls next year despite the fact of 9 o'clock lectures daily.

WM. A. ROULSTON

"For he was always commonplace, Of genius never had a trace

Born February 22, 1900. Matriculated at Oakwood C.I., from whence to engage in farming; was with the Desmoiniacs on their expedition to Iowa; Secretary, U.C. Student Volunteers, '21. Favourite recreations - walking, snowshoeing and riding. Hopes to get somewhere, somehow, someday.

R. KENNETH RUDDY

"And of a temper level as you sward,"

Rudd's hectic educational experience comprises three years, Woodstock College, one R.M.C., one overseas, one Political Science, and the remaining two resting up in ever reliable General Arts. He has acquired therefrom a mighty engaging grin, absurdly curlyhair, a place on Varsity swimming team and possibly a few notions about history and languages. You can't help liking Rudd.

ROSS RYRIE "And a little child shall lead them."

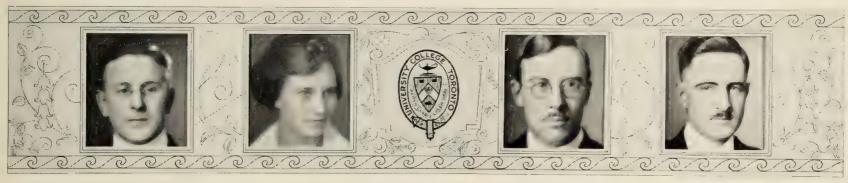

Born 1901, Entered the Commerce and Finance course from Trinity College School. Represented U.C. on rugby, hockey and rowing teams. Member of Historical Club, 1st year executive, U.C. Athletic Association, etc. President 4th year. Our hero's motto is:-"Conscientious application will ultimately bring me the doughnut.

CLAUDO SAUERBREI

"Ganz hart ist allein das Edelste."

Born November 17th, 1897, at Las Palmas, Grand Canary. School days partly in England, partly in Canada. Enlisted February, 1916 and served with the 16th Bn., from Vimy to the end. Entered U.C., 1919, and became keen student of Orientals. His future as abbot, acolyte or atheist will be interesting and brilliant.

HAROLD EDGAR SAUNDERS

"Oh, young Lochinvar is come out of the West,"

"Red" was born on February 1, 1901, in Simeoe, Ontario. Attended public school and Collegiate in Fort William. In Political Science course his career has been brilliant. His active interest in every department of university life has won him a host of friends, and many executive positions have proved his worth. He carries with him the good wishes memory within these old gray walls, of all.

KATHRYN STRATTON SCHORMAN

"Such different notes make all thy harmony,"

Kathryn has been on her class executive, acted in Hart House with the Players' Club, been prominent in settlement work, and business manager of the Dramatic, and in her spare time carried off A's in exams. Her charming personality no less than her activities in Coilege life, has left an undying

A. JEAN SMITH

Those who say few words but look volumes have ever been praised by the poets. They also write about "two black eyes" and "raven locks". Jean has all these. Add that she's always ready for work or fun and you have a good comrade, as her friends in Queen's Hall will bear witness.

JOSEPH B. SOLWAY

"When in doubt what to do don't do it."

Three pursuits only:-University Arts, '18, Faculty of Music, '20. Women-Plenty; good taste.

Music-Likes to listen; likes to play; palling capacity for bread and butter!

Accomplished violinist.
Characteristics—Obliging, sociable, eccentric.

E. JOSEPHINE STAGG

"Who mixed reason with pleasure and wisdom with mirth."

In 1918 Joe arrived from Brockville with the ardent desire of "acquiring an education." She assumed the grave responsibilities of the General Course and graduated in 2T2 with an vacation overseas. His success in running enviable record. A good student, a better

GRACE STANLEY

"Still achieving, still pursuing."

One of those people who somehow achieve more than the average! Grace has proved her intellectual ability in English and History, and won her "T" for swimming, hockey, and U.C. Hockey captain, and President of U.C. Women's Athletic Association. Famous for her trustworthiness, sincerity, and healthy sense of humour.

THOMAS MURRAY STEELE

"And Oh; he had that merry glance That seldom lady's heart resists."

Respiration began in Stratford, 1897. The local collegiate gave him his start in life. Murray entered P. and B. as first year President of 1T9. The artillery claimed him in 1916, and later the Air Force. Returned to Varsity with P. and B. 2T2. "As a fusser, student, or friend, he's hard to beat."

ROY ALEXANDER STEWART

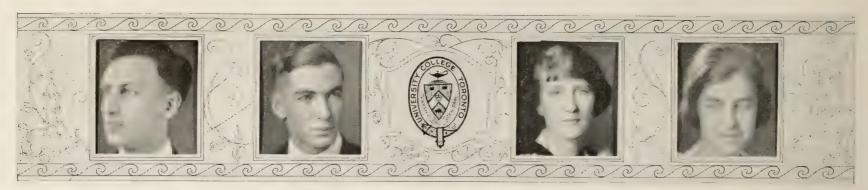

"For what I will, I will, and there's an end."

Born in 1899. Received his education at Brussels, Ont., and Stratford Collegiate Institute. Coming to University at the beginning of 1919 from the R.A.F., where he had been training before the armistice. Registered in Political Science where he played the usual part in College activities.

STANLEY ROSS STEWART

"A modest youth with cool reflection endowed."

Ross pulled into Toronto in 1900. Soon after he took a liking to the piano of which even four years at Jarvis Collegiate Institute could not deprive him. University College general course, first year executive, music committee and the light fantastic has taken up most of his time on the way to a B.A.

WILLIAM ALFRED STILWELL

IAN THOMPSON STRACHAN

"In every work that he began he did it with all "Rightly to be great is not to stir without great argument."

> Ian was born in Brockville, October 23rd, 1898. He escaped to Toronto at the age of 8, where he attended U.T.S., matriculating in 1917. He served in the Canadian Tank Corps, entering Varsity in 1919, in the course in Political Science. He was prominent in U.C. Athletics, and is a member of the Kappa Alpha Society.

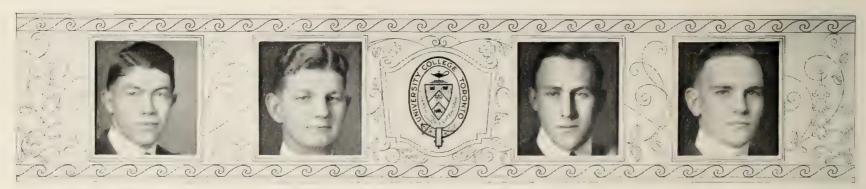

MARGARET M. STUART

These have I loved: limp covered books; Kipling; the subtle pest and jewels of other days; wet twilights, solitude, the unconventicnal in other people and bagpines skirling on the hills. Black wedgwood teapots, gleaming brass, and fires and mandarin red kimonas. Slim legs and tea and toast-and little boys.

R. GWENDOLYNE STUART

"To be merry best becomes her."

Mitchell, Stratford and Toronto are the milestones in Gwen's academic career. Her four years at college demonstrate a successful mixture of work and play, and she is now miscellany of books, essays, dance programmes preparing to depart, leaving behind her a -and many friends.

J. LOGAN SUTHERLAND

"A great master of gibes and flouts and jeers."

Born in Brantford, March 28, 1898. Honour Flying Corps, he "hitched his chariot to a star"-alack-a falling star! Following the crash he imagined himself on a higher "plane." Now he appears an invisible star in Political Science.

WILLIAM JOHN MINTO SWAN

"But let me laugh a while I've mickle time to grieve."

"Stork" was born in Toronto. Matriculated Matriculation, Ridley College. Enlisted, Jarvis Collegiate, 17. U.C. same Fall. Sec-March 9, 1916. In France with the Royal retary class executive. ANDREW COPELAND TAYLOR

"A mighty maze, but not without a plan."

From the mysteries of Ind to the majesty Varsity, using as stepping-stones Kodai School, India, Collingwood and Simcoe Collegiates, Andy climbed. While busy in P. and B. he found time for Soccer, Basketball, Rugby, and "night raids" at Knox. Also ki own as a Student Volunteer; a lion among

A. LUCILLE TAYLOR

"Half the night I waste in sighs and half in dreams."

"Lucille!" What memories are conjured up, of actions, words and mannerisms. In Hart House plays she signally distinguished herself and proved her artistic ability. With a very small amount of work she always ranked among the first in her course, and in life bids fair to carry on.

JOSEPH WATSON TAYLOR

"I am nothing it not critical."

Learned to see in Toronto, 1898-to matriculate at S.A.C .- to fly with the R.N.A.S. overseas. Without interfering with his pleasures, "Joe" has been a member of a Dominion Football Championship team, Intermediate Championship team, "Goblin" Editorial Staff, his year executive, and Commerce and Finance

NORMA CLAIRE TAYLOR

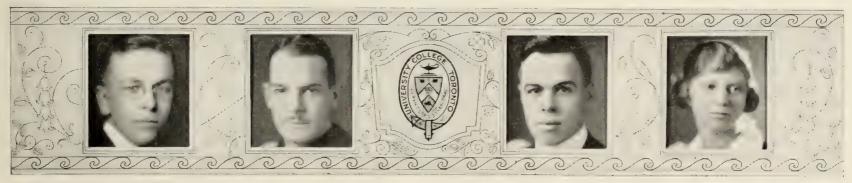

"Woman's at best a contradiction still."

The first woman student to enter and complete the "Commerce and Finance" course. Norma graduates without showing any ill effects from her devotion to what was formerly the exclusive possession of the stronger sex. Post-graduate studies will complete the high ranking and first class honours of her student

MARY LOUISE TELFER

"For fools admire but men of sense approve."

Born in Collingwood, June 17, 1900, and educated at Public Schools and Collegiate Institute there, Mary Louise came to Varsity in the Autumn of 1918. Vice-President of 2T2 in her first year and although one of the most popular as well as ornamental girls to be seen in the halls of U.C., she held her place in Honour Moderns throughout her entire course.

WILFRED W. TERRYBERRY

LUCY BARROTT WEST

"Ask me no questions, and I'll tell you no jibs."

After spending her early years in U. S. and England, Lucy settled down to five years hard work at Harbord Collegiate. On coming to College she entered English and History, and in spite of a horror of essays has managed a goodly number of them during her

HOWARD BELTON WHEATON

"Men like bullets go farthest when smoothest."

Having weathered the highly commendable moulding influences of Jarvis, Howard, of indeterminable objective, stands the embodiment of the above epigram. With a diabolical self-composure, a justifiable scorn for the "olla podrida" of humanity and a wealth of pardonable blandishment, he truly merits the title of "persona grata" in the social vortex.

STANLEY REGINALD WILKINS

"Though modest, on his unimbarrassed brow nature had written 'gentleman.'

Endeared to all by a veritable wealth of personal charm, "Stan.", of attenuated form and stately demeanour hopes to realize his "Lettered" aspirations deferred for three years through European vicissitudes. Brilliant fulfillment of present auguries anticipated in one with a personal respectability unimpeachable and such a positive genius for prevailing over the prepossessions of the multitude.

JANE ASHLEY WILSON

"Just Jane."

For her eager enthusiasms and inimitable ideas we are thankful!

For her capricious charm and waggish wit we are also thankful!

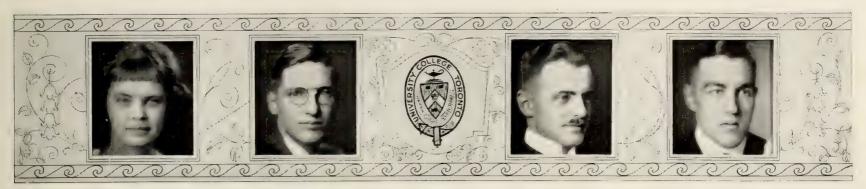

For her sprightly style and bent for books we still are thankful!

But from her infinite irresponsibility, her terrible tardiness and her boundless breaks all through his course. -Good Lord deliver us!

WILLIAM G. WILSON

"We're here to-day and gone to-morrow."

Paging "Bill" Wilson of Midland, Ont. The facts that "Bill" has been twice U.C. hockey captain and an ardent devotee of Terpsichore have not prevented him from passing exams, with standing that has often surprised even himself. The holder of a second "T" for hockey, he has been prominent in athletics

DORIS MARGUERITE WOOD

"She has wit and song and sense, mirth and sport and eloquence."

This witty example of the art of getting through college without effort and worry, breezed in from Brantford to pursue her starry course, specializing in Chemistry. Tenis curator for last two years. Doris has a wonderful sense of humour, a never-failing "come-back" and makes friends wherever she goes.

JAMES DOUGLAS WOOD

"O Douglas, O Douglas, Tendir and trewe."

Born and raised in Toronto. S.A.C. was relieved of him, 1918. Doesn't like work, but does much, especially in spring, has kept a tor place in C. and F. after trying two other courses. Entered Political Science, '19. 1st Alexander McKenzie Scholarship, '20. 2nd McKenzie Scholarship, '21. "Varsity" scribe. Most valued acquisition during his College career—a moustache.

FREDERICK ALLEN LESLIE WOODLAND

"Information bureau; this way, gentlemen."

Les. has claimed Toronto as his home ever since his arrival in 1900. After a preliminary training at U.T.S., he entered Commerce and Finance in 1917. Played rugby for U.C. throughout his college career. Other weaknesses are bouncing a basketball and reporting games for the Varsity. Vice-President, C. & F. Club, '21-'22.

MABEL CHRYESSA WRIGHT

"Naught is seen More beautiful or excellent or fair Than face of faithful friend."

From old St. Margaret's College, Came this maiden seeking knowledge, To the sacred precincts of the U. of T. Here she worked and played discreetly, Winning friends who love her deeply, For her happiness and her fidelity.

FRED HUGH WILKINSON

"He is in love with an ideal."

Born Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, November 18, 1896. Toronto Jarvis Collegiate, Wycliffe and University College, 1915. The war—with the 10th Infantry B. de Sigs., Military Medal with two bars, Wounded Cambrai, 1918; Home 1919. Two honour courses, Orientals and Music. President, Wycliffe Mission Society. Organist and Choirmaster, University Services, "Like with like, then all is right."

ANGUS ALEXANDER MACKENZIE

"A tender heart, a will inflexible,"

"Mac" was heralded in October, '96. Detained in Guelph until matriculation, 1909. Then, four years banking, two years English and History (Classics) 1T8; several years in Frontier College and Y.M.C.A. work; joined 2T2 in 1920. Conscientious President U. C. Y.M.C.A.; takes deep interest in nature and boys; a stickler for facts and detail.

CHARLOTTE F. VALENTINE.

"()f bacon, eggs and butter, Rare philosophy she'll utter,"

On graduation from the Kitchener and Waterloo Collegiate, Charlotte entered the Household Economics Course. Her experience in Household Management is by no means limited for who would require a better recommendation than that of being Head of No. 7, Queen's Hall? We'll miss her, for she is a good sport; and her frankness and enthusiasm have been invaluable on many occasions.

Class History of 2T2

"Who mixed reason with pleasure, and wisdom with mirth."

Our college days are at an end. And now we watch with mingled joy and sorrow The approach of graduation. We have passed the different phases Of college life; as timid frosh (Although they said our class had "pep") We looked with awe upon our Seniors. We went to lectures, even "nine o'clock." And drank in words of wisdom— We hiked and danced and gradually Strange faces in the halls became familiar— May came, and —'tis strange but true— We were survivors of the spring barrage —Exams.— As blasé Sophs in autumn we returned. Bored were we with lectures and the "profs." Were not the oracles of former days. Soothing his verdant spirit by 'nitiation. In sports we took an interest: Hockey, tennis, rugby, claimed Many a "sporting" spirit of our year. And lo! our co-eds in athletic circles Became quite justly famous— C'est la guerre was no more heard So yielded we to gay frivolity. Fun fast and furious Mixed we with lectures grim. The year slipped by, and presto! We were Juniors.

Our puffed-up spirits dwindled And we found ourselves exceeding humble For now we knew we had picked up But tiny crumbs of knowledge. Jolly good times we spent. A hike unto the Humber plus A Hard Times party quite original Cemented ties of friendship. In the spring a lordly banquet Tendered to our Seniors wise In stately Hart House Hall Did gain us commendation and great praise, Once more—exams! And now we're Seniors! We're meeting in our lecture rooms For the last time. Our "hour upon the stage" of college life Will soon be past and gone. We have been shot at by the camera man. Our "biogs" have been duly written up And, looking forward, we do see The class reception and the graduation dance Loom in horizons dim-We prophesy high honours for our stellar lights And, let us pray, no stars for lesser ones— So we march by, flags up and colours flying A blare of trumpets—2T2 is going— "We follow fate which doth too fast pursue."

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE FOURTH YEAR CLASS EXECUTIVE, 1922

TOP ROW:—G. L. Fair (Treasurer), Miss H. W. Morson (Ath. Directress), Miss J. J. McCullough (Scribe), W. H. Sparrow (Ath. Director), Miss K. G. Cordingley (Mus. Directress), Miss M. Moran (Lady Councillor), H. B. Matchett (Gent. Councillor).

BOTTOM ROW:-R. A. Stewart (Secretary), Ross Ryrie (President), Miss J. A. Wilson (Vice-President).

Class History of 2T3

Third year! Juniors! Time was, when we yearned half-despairingly to these ambient heights. And now we have arrived. The depths look very far below and the peaks are near at hand.

When at Mr. Brebner's clarion call we hurried back to pay our respects, we found two hundred and thirty-one familiar faces, whose beaming smiles proclaimed that they were still 2T3. Again, our band had successfully resisted the efforts of the examiners to cast us into the outer darkness, that knows not '23.

So, with our forces mustered, we face the year serenely. Already we have noticed some faint stirrings of our intellectual being, foreign to the second year stage. That famous old sophomore stand-by of sending the freshmen over to the Parliament Buildings to register, that we hailed so blithely last year is no longer a dazzling bit of tactics; rather, we have come to look upon it with slight disfavour.

Having recovered from the not unpleasant surprise that this index of mental prescience occasioned within us we turned more eagerly to Father Taussig, M. Madelin and other "dear enemies."

Skipping lightly over our progress with these we mention instead, with pride, our athletic record. We were well represented on the team that won the Inter-Collegiate Rugby championship, and our prospects of carrying on and even embellishing our old records are exceedingly bright.

The announcement of the imminence of a class party reminded us that last year we had elected an executive and must take the consequences. The first of these befell in the shape of a class party, characterized by a very successful cotilion which augurs well for a year filled with novel and satisfying parties.

But often, in our work and play, we are reminded of a fact that throws a shadow across our happiness. For some of us this is the last year in old U. C. Most of the returned men will graduate this year and leave the class of 2T3. We are sorrier than we can say to lose them. In them we found true friends and staunch supporters; they brought us men who distinguished themselves and their college in the class-room and on the field. Together we endured the vicissitudes of nine o'clock; we shared the nefarious delight of skipped lectures, and the multitudinous joys and duties that link class-mates together. We have no doubts about their future; it is ours that is dimmed by their going. And so we bid them good-bye and good luck.

And we who are left to hold high the torch—it behoves us to take thought. Another year and we, too, shall be leaving. Let us look to ourselves and grasp the golden now, that we may do great things for our College and our University; and so pass on, fit children of the Old Gray Tower.

Class History of 2T4

The year nineteen-twenty saw us make our debut in university life. We had eagerly anticipated this and assured ourselves that, if successful in the matriculation examinations, we would prove worthy followers of the muse of learning. The examination must have been an easy one, for the registration that year was the largest in the history of University College. We were not received with that éclat which we felt became us, for a rough welcome awaited us at the hands of the sophomores, but we showed them in the stadium that 2T4 was a year to be reckoned with.

Throughout the year we pursued the muse with varying degrees of assiduity. In spite of "profs. and sophs." we managed to derive a fair amount of pleasure from life. The class parties brought us into touch with each other and many friendships resulted. These proved a unifying force and strengthened our esprit de corps. We also discovered that co-education had many delights which the critics overlooked.

Towards the close of the year, the sophomores, envious of our independence and desirous of cleansing their escutcheon from the signal defeat of the initiation, knowing us to be dazed by the all-too-soon approach of the final examinations, sought to confound our elections and hold us up in confusion to ridicule. Aroused and indignant, we retaliated, and those who participated realized their weakness amidst the cooling waters of Hart House tank.

It was with bated breath and palpitating heart that we awaited the result of our first year examinations. When we received them we drew a deep breath of thankfulness and blessed the immortal gods. We feel that the fates have been kind to us. After the fierce struggle with Cæsar, Ovid and Analytical Geometry, we feel like Titans in our victory. We have now passed the first milestone in our university life.

In the beginning of this year we assumed our duties toward the freshmen. They have been impressed with the dignity of university spirit. They have worn the garment of admission, and have, as it were, brought water and earth as tokens of submission; finally they have run the gauntlet, becoming worthy members of U. C. When we had vindicated our honour and proved the strength of our arms with those who sought our fellowship as freshmen, we found new fields of conquest. The first class party at U. T. S. saw us in our most chivalrous mood. There, as "music arose with its voluptuous swell," we essayed a step with our fair partner. Joy reigned throughout the evening, and was an augury for the continuance of that spirit which animated the previous year.

We regret the absence of those who have fallen by learning's wayside, and those who have been unable to continue the triumphant march. Our ranks have been thinned, but we go forward, strongly confident that we can uphold the honour of 2T4.

Class History of 2T5

The impossible has been asked of me. Can you imagine the history of 2T5 written on one small page? It would take many volumes to do justice to such a subject.

We were informed by our worthy seniors that an election of officers for the year was customary. We could not, at once, hold this election, being for the most part strangers to one another. But, at the same time, the shortness of the term permitted no delay. A nomination day was chosen. The following week was one round of excitement in which the representatives for the various positions did their utmost to assure the year that he or she was "the man for the job."

Shortly after the elections, the executive held their first regular meeting, and a date was set for that memorable event —"Our First Class Party." It was a success. The orchestra was satisfactory, the refreshments were satisfying, and the year was satisfied.

Ours is the largest year in the history of University College. We hope to be noted not only for our numbers, but for our ability, intellectual, social and athletic.

We realize that it is a difficult task to avoid cliques among such a large body of men and women; but it is the desire of the executive that every member of our year will realize the necessity of developing a true college spirit. "In Union is Strength." With this end in view we intend to make our class parties memorable events in our college career.

We are sure that the primary object of one and all attending the University is to attain an education—not the old-fashioned idea of an education, but that of the great men and women of our country who realize that education consists of more than "the three R's."

We are justly proud of our year, and it is our aim to establish a record that will be unsurpassed in the history of University College.

University College Women's Undergraduate Association

The W. U. A. is the self-government organization of the women of the College. Every woman undergraduate registered in University College is a member of the Association. The executive is composed of an Honorary President, who is a member of the staff (or the wife of a member); a President, a member of the Fourth Year, elected by the whole College; two representatives from the Third Year, and one from both the Second and First Years; the Presidents of the Literary Society, the Athletic Society, the Students' Christian Movement, and the Head Girl at Queen's Hall.

The function of this executive is to unify and control the interests of the women of the College, and also to establish and maintain among them the best standards of work and conduct.

The W. U. A. holds mass meetings from time to time to discuss matters of common interest to the College.

Among its activities this year have been, in the first place, the Autumn Tea—the official welcome to First Year—was held early in October. The W. U. A. organized also, drives for money for the Women's Building Fund, and the Fund for the Starving Students of Central Europe. The work in the University Settlement was strongly supported throughout the year. In the Christmas term a very animated debate took place between the men and women of U. C., the leader in the negative being the President of the W. U. A. The Christmas party at the Union was under the auspices of the W. U. A.

Early in the year it was suggested that a committee of three be appointed from the "Literary and Athletic Society," to meet with a similar committee chosen from the W. U. A. A meeting was called to discuss the advisability of linking the two organizations together by a joint executive. The main advantage of such co-operation is that, in possessing a central executive in the U. C. organizations more privileges of self-government are developed and the students are eventually entrusted with affairs which concern the College as a whole. Later in the year a definite constitution was drafted for the Joint Executive by the President of the W. U. A. and the President of the Literary and Athletic Society.

Executive of Women's Literary Society of University College, 1921-2

The qualities of leadership are not complete without the power of discrimination. The purpose of the Women's Literary Society is to supplement the work of the class room by studying the more recent literary developments in such a way as to train the powers of discrimination, and to discover what is worth while in contemporary literature.

During 1921-22 it was decided to hold the meetings every second Tuesday, instead of Saturday, whereby a larger attendance was secured. At the first three meetings of the fall term papers were read on Joseph Conrad by Janet McCullough, on May Sinclair by Mary McGeachy, on Arthur Beverly Baxter by Margaret Reed, on Frank Swinnerton by Margaret Rosebrugh, and on Maurice Hewlitt by Constance Charlesworth. The fourth meeting took the form of an impromptu debate on: "Resolved, that a University education does not make a girl happy." The judges awarded the decision to the pessimists. Under the able coaching of Miss O'Driscoll, two plays were successfully presented at the last meeting of the fall term—Barrie's "Twelve Pound Load." by Jessie Macpherson, Elizabeth Walton and Mary McGeachy; and Synge's "The Shadow of the Glen," by Grace Williams, Mary McCready, Alice Hunter and Molly Donaldson.

At the first meeting of the Easter term Dr. Wallace gave a paper on "The Growth of the Soil," a novel by Knut Hamsun. a Norweigian writer, who was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1920. This unusual story wins a place among the great novels because it presents a vivid picture of authentic life, and also raises the question of what is worth striving for in life. At the next meeting, the members of the Society were the guests of the Alumnae, and Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst gave a very earnest talk on Social Hygiene. During the remainder of the term papers were read on Compton MacKenzie by Dorothy Haines, on O. Henry by Jean MacFarlane, on Synge by Dorothy Arthur, on Yeats by Rhoda Bird, and on Dunsany by Myra McLean. One evening was also given over to a debate. Discussion and music added to the interest of the meetings, and an enjoyable feature was the sing-songs which brought most of the evenings to a close.

The Literary and Athletic Society of University College

The old has given way to the new, and yet the new is old. The ancient and revered University College Literary and Scientific Society is with the past, and in its stead the Literary and Athletic Society of University College guides our student activities. To graduates who have known and loved the "Old Lit.," the transition is not a cause of rejoicing, but to undergraduates who are, of course, in closer touch with college affairs, the necessity for a change was evident, and so in the spring of 1921 it came to pass that a new society was born and is now active and thriving. It combines the constitutional advantages of a new and up-to-date organization with the traditional advantages of being a follower in the footsteps of the oldest of the societies of the University of Toronto, and it seems well-fitted to cope with the tasks that lie before.

Every phase of student activity among the male undergraduates of U. C. is supervised by the Literary and Athletic Society. Debates, literary programmes, social functions and Athletics are now under its control. The old Athletic Association, which had laboured under great handicaps for many years, has disappeared, and the new society, aided by a compulsory fee of two dollars which every male undergraduate of U. C. must pay at the time of his registration, is able to equip and place in the field teams that are worthy of University College. During the first months of the Society's existence the results it has attained have been most encouraging. The student body seems to have confidence in the Executive and the Executive is leaving no stone unturned to build a foundation upon which future years may build high. However, it must be borne in mind, that the time and attention of this year's Executive has been occupied largely with solving problems that future Executives will not have to face. Consequently the results it has achieved may not be very evident to the casual observer, but the members of the Executive do feel that the Society will be repaid multifold in the years to come for the time and energy they have spent on minute details during their term of office.

The Arts Ball, held in Hart House, under the auspices of the Literary and Athletic Society, was a bigger success than ever. Never in the history of the College have more U. C. men taken so active a part in Intercollegiate and University affairs. The showing made by University College in Rugby was most gratifying, and our swimming team came within one point of winning the Fitzgerald Trophy. At present we are the holders of the Sifton Cup for inter-faculty basketball, and we have two strong teams defending it this year. U. C. is one of three faculties having two teams in the Indoor Baseball League, while in hockey our teams are stronger than they have been for some years. In the realm of debating the Society has been very active. Our team was beaten by the strong Osgoode Hall team in the Inter-College series, but only after providing stout opposition to their opponents, who admittedly had the better side of the subject. A most successful debate was held with the U. C. women, and we had the honour of having two U. C. men chosen on the Intercollegiate debating team, one of whom, unfortunately, was unable to accept. Among the many eminent public men who have addressed the members of the Society is Sir Joseph Flavelle, whose illuminating lecture on "Canadian Railway Problems" will not soon be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to hear it. A most successful smoker was held in Hart House, and it is the hope of the executive that before many months have gone U. C. will have a common room in which to hold such functions as this. The work of the Society is greatly handicapped by this lack of a common meeting place in University College, and in time the Caput will awaken to the fact that there is a crying need for this. Among the many details the Executive has worked out are an Athletic Census of all the men of U. C., and a set of rules governing the awarding of the official U. C. crest for athletics.

With the advent of the Literary and Athletic Society of University College there seems to be a noticeable increase in esprit de corps around the old place. The shadows of Mackenzie King and Arthur Meighen, and other outstanding men that the "Old Lit." trained for public life, still hover 'round the "New Lit.", and who knows but what many of our great men of the future may be products of the Literary and Athletic Society of University College. At any rate, the University College of to-day is far different from the University College of yesterday, and who knows what to-morrow holds in store?

Modern Language Club Executive, 1921-22

The 1921-22 session of the Modern Language Club was characterized by a few changes in the policy of the executive with regard to programme. Instead of depending almost entirely upon the faculty for the more serious part of the evening's entertainment it was decided to call upon the members of the club for papers on various themes of interest, and for short plays and sketches in the various languages studied. Dancing was eliminated as being apt to bring people to the Club and its meetings, whose interests were not entirely literary. Meetings were held a little more frequently after Christmas, and it is hoped that the executive's alterations will be justified in the future.

The annual dramatic production was given in Hart House Theatre on the evening of Monday, December 12, the plays given being "Lax comédie de celui qui éponsa une femme muette," by Anatole France, and "L'ermite," a short curtainraiser by a member of the Club, John MacNaught. The proceeds from the plays were divided between the fund for War Orphans and the Women's Building Fund.

Our University College Residence, 94 St. George Street

Three years ago the University authorities took over 94 St. George Street as a residence for women in University College. Its splendid location and proximity to the University make it especially suitable for a residence.

For the past two years, we were very fortunate in having Miss Waddington as our head, whose kindness and sympathetic interest have endeared her to us all. When Miss Waddington accepted the office of Dean of Women in the University, Miss Harris was appointed to take her place as head of the residence. Miss Harris is a graduate both of Toronto and Oxford, and is especially qualified for her new position. Although the year is still young we feel that we have in her a ready helper and confidente. Margaret Rhodes is our head girl. Her sunny disposition, tact and ability have done a great deal for the well-being of the residence.

As there are only forty girls in the house, the spirit of cameraderie and good fellowship is perhaps more widely spread than in a larger community where the same intimacy is less possible. The constant daily intercourse with one another has its inevitable result. One gradually grows away from purely selfish motives, and learns the great lesson that the well rounded life is based upon the principles of fraternity and service to our fellow beings.

Leadership—Could any more appropriate subject have been chosen at this time? If we are not to lose what we have gained, leaders, who will lead over right paths, are just as necessary now as they were during the war. With our eyes turned towards those who are meeting now at Washington, what wonderful examples we have to inspire us: Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Balfour, Admiral Beatty, General Foch and many others, all leading in the struggle for "Peace, above all."

Of many of you graduating, we can say that already leadership has revealed itself. The time spent here is a wonderful training for it. One can easily see who are gifted with power and insight and imagination. Material for leadership is here in abundance, and one can predict who will be the leaders later on. I most heartily congratulate all those who are graduating this year, and hope that they will be just as successful and happy in whatever work they take up, as they have been during these college years.

Queen's Hall—Our University College Women's Residence

Queen's Hall stands as a bulwark among the shifting sands of University life. Upheld by the strength of its traditions and the proud support of the undergraduate body, its influence has spread far. It is well able to produce leaders at a time when they are so necessary to guide the world into smoother channels. Its self-government tends to develop responsibility and the honour system, a keen sense of truth among students whose standards are being formed under its shelter.

That the scholastic standard of the Hall must be maintained is universally, though sometimes sadly, admitted. Many of our classmates of freshman days are no longer with us, and their absence is a cause of genuine regret. We who still survive, despite the no-star rule, properly appreciate our good fortune.

The year has been a happy one, unmarked by any great changes. Initiation was carried out with due ceremony, and the impressiveness of the oath of allegiance was in no way lessened by the gaiety of what preceded it. Stunt Night was revived with all the old enthusiasm, and produced an undreamed-of crop of original ideas. Our dances have been pleasant landmarks in the swift passage of time. The Senior's Dinner promises to be the chief event of the year and is eagerly anticipated.

The end of the year must bring unfortunately graduation and good-bye to a large number of our Seniors, but their regret at leaving the Hall will be tempered by a host of happy memories and friendships that will endure throughout life.

CHANCELLOR BOWLES

Progress in all social units of whatsoever kind. depends on the leadership of individuals. However much certain forces which are in society as a whole are magnified, and appealed to as explaining the course of history, the fact remains that the determinative and directive force is in the personalities of leaders. In them the hidden and obscure forces come to light. In them these forces are enormously heightened. and from them they return back into society with marvellous vitality. And this is so because in the conscious personality of the few these forces become moral and spiritual forces.

Hidden in society like leaven they are more or less mechanical and physiological, but in the will and conscience and imagination of concrete persons they become ideal and transcendent. The true leader is, therefore, the man in whom the social movements and forces come to expression. judges them and vitalizes them and interprets them to his fellows. He awakens the slumbering ideas and makes them active. He declares the purpose that is in them and through his interpretation their direction is determined. It follows, therefore, that the true leader must be the child of his own age. He must belong to his time. He must be sensitive—finely sensitive to its movements and ideas. More than this, he must transcend his own day and time. His personality must be autonomous and self-acting, with standards and sanctions which are born, not of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God. Knowledge will not make him a leader. Intellectual power, however great, will not make him a leader. He must have something else. Was it over-soul Emerson called it? Who will analyze and define it I know not. The wind bloweth where it listeth and thou hearest the sound thereof but cannot tell whence it cometh or whither it goeth. So is every one that is born of the spirit.

With her delightful sense of humour and her kind winning manner, K. has won her way into the hearts of her college friends. Graduating from Honour Household Science she has yet found time for the liveliest interest in Choral activities.

Dame Fortune promises a most happy and successful career.

GEORGE SPARKS DAY

"I pass, like night, from land to land, I have strange power of speech.

Started rolling in Newfoundland, Public School, Old Perlican; then Methodist College, St. John's. Taught school. Wandered west and north. Enlisted at Toronto '14. Service overseas. Prisoner $2\frac{1}{2}$ years. Vic., '19. Stopped to gather moss. Soccer team '20-'21. Poetic, pugilistic, a good sport and a good pal. Arts, Moderns.

HARLEY WESTON DEWEY

"A light heart liveth a long time."

First heard the "Bells of St. Marys" in 1902. Matric. at St Marys Collegiate entered in '22 Vic. Specialty, Maths. Hobby, Astronomy, and Insurance his life work. Pres. of M. and P. Society. Enjoys dancing. All signs point to success.

JAMES EGERTON ROSWELL DOXSEE

"He was a man of stature tall. With stately mein and kind withal."

Born Belleville, Ont., Sept. 7, '98. Westward Ho! Sask. 1911. Sr. Matric. Regina College '15. Normal '16, brief pedagogic career. Enlisted, and Overseas with C.M.G.C. Vic. '19. Favourite Expression, "an' like that." Hobby: consistent fussing.

KATHLEEN DREW

"Her wrapt soul sitting in her eyes."

But that doesn't do her justice, you ought to hear her having a good time,—she's the most vivacious, aerial young person! What with the music she can make with her fingers, and the friends she can make by her sympathy,—truly her soul can't be a stay-at-home person at all, at all! It's even at home in labs., 'tis whispered, indeed, that K, has scientific ambitions!

MURIEL EVERSON

"Happy by nature, By experience wise Healthy by temperance and by exercise."

Cheerfully investigating life; since Oshawa days she has played the difficult role of Dramatic President, captained a hockey team and deliberated on the Athletic Directorate. So has found a way of facing quietly exacting tasks without sacrificing that lighthearted gaiety which makes "Mig" a friend of the world.

FRANCES ALBERTA FALLIS

"But to see her is to love her."

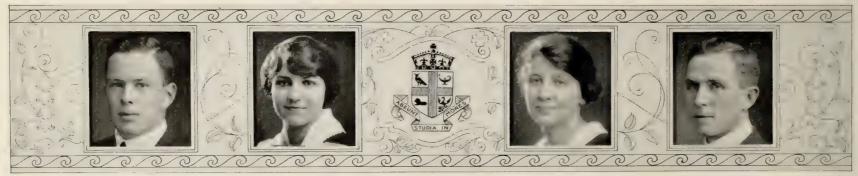

After roving from East to West—being a minister's daughter, you see!—Frank finally came to Victoria. Competent and willing, she has entered enthusiastically into college activities. Her cheery word, happy disposition, sympathy and smile, have won true friends everywhere. Do you wonder she is "Senior Stick"?

Future: "Little Grey Home in the West."

EDWARD FERGUSON

"A man he seems of cheerful yesterdays."

June 7, 1899, was the date and Sarnia the place. A product of Sarnia Collegiate. Has helped to keep the "scarlet in the van" in rugby and hockey. A member of the Mulock cup champions 1920. Noted around Vic. for his hearty laugh and his infectious good humour.

DONALD B. FISHER

"Much study is a weariness to the flesh."

Don's history begins Nov. 18th, 1899. He acquired some knowledge at Brockville and Pembroke. After a trip to France with the Canadian Artillery, he entered second year Political Science in 1919.

BEULAH MARIAN FITZPATRICK

"Laughed with a rast and inextinguishable laughter."

From London Collegiate "Fitzy" came to Vic to study life. Her four years have made her famous for fudge and an irrepressible laugh, but for balance she evidences a keen and active interest in musical and athletic pursuits. Her ready and sympathetic interest and unfailing light-heartedness provide the necessary tonic for any mood.

ELSIE GALLAWAY

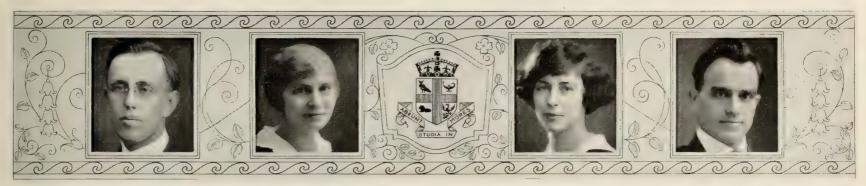

"'Twas how you talked and looked at things that made us love you so."

With all the charm and freshness of her own prairie land came "Elsie" to lead in the mirth and revels of '20. Despite the presidency of W.U.A. and the arduous labors of Household Science, she yet finds time to garner a rich harvest of true friends and happy memories.

AUSTIN GRANT GAY

"Twinkle, twinkle, little star, How I wonder what you are."

Dost think philosophy is dead? The twinkle in an Irish eye will undeceive you. Austin brings a rare gentleness and freshness into all his activities, which in the college, have included soccer and Lit. He has never been surprised into a confession of weakness but—again the twinkle.

ALFRED EDWARD TUCKER GILROY

"A long and solemn man, Yet kind withal."

Arrived 1896; Mount Forest declined. Began Vic's reform 1915. Artillery overseas 1916-18; returned Lieut. 1919. Found several odd jobs—President of Class, U. L. S., Men's Council; Students Court, Bob Committee, Literary Editor Acta, Historical Club, Senior Stick. Also fried many smaller fish. Famous as "Pater Freshetarum." Should plead well at Judgment Bar.

HELEN FREDERICA GOODWYN

"Grace was in her steps, Heaven in her eyes, And in every gesture dignity and love."

In 1919 Helen came from Arnprior to Victoria to enter second year with 2T2. Three years, however, were sufficient for her to capture the Presidency of Choral, a host of friends and, incidentally a B.A. Afterwards? Oh, well --

MARJORIE L. GOULDING

"Sweet personality, full of rascality That's Mar-jorie!"

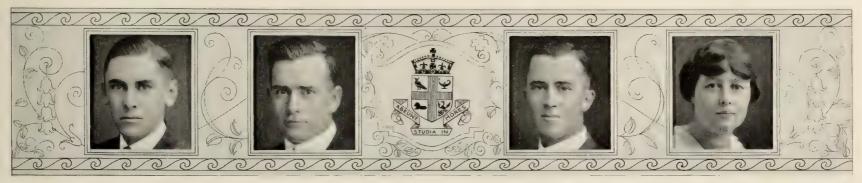

Marjorie's early education was received at Weston. She came to Victoria in 1917, but a year's absence from College put her in the class of 2T2, general course.

She could scarcely be called "garrulous," but her quiet charm, her wit and her originality, have endeared her to all her friends.

JOHN GRUDEFF

"Fax mentis incendium gloriae."

First saw light near Burgas, on the Black Sea. Elementary High School, Saloniki. Came to Canada 1913. Manifold occupations. Matric. Albert College, 1916. Successful University career. Violin frequently invokes the soothing muse.

EDWIN C. GUILLET

"Who mixes reason with pleasure, wisdom with mirth, and sport withal."

Cobourg Collegiate Production; Vic. 1919; Variety his sine qua non. Fnthusiastic over Political Science; Tennis Specialist Sec. University Tennis Club 1921; Won his T and V at this sport; Vic champion 1920; Singles and Doubles University Champion, and member of Intercollegiate Team 1921. A credit 1915. Enlisted at Victoria Oct. 1919. to his Alma Mater.

GEORGE HENRY HAMBLY

"The shades of night were falling fast As through an Alpine village passed A youth who bore through snow and ice A banner with a strange device-

Born Nov. 13th, 1896, at Port Perry, Ont. Spent time after age of 5 at Swan Lake, Manitoba, until enlisting in 10th C.M.R. Oct.

JOHN RUSSELL HAMILTON

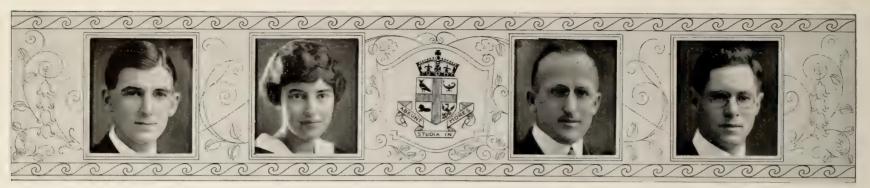

"He loves a joke, a quiet smoke, and friends to call around."

"He came sweet influence to impart" in Waterdown, way back in '98. Following the famous trail of that date, we find Hammy at Hamilton Collegiate, emerging with the odd scholarship. Thence to Vic for a brief stay before leaving for overseas. Chemistry now, future-well, leave it to him.

MARION ISABEL HANNA

"Sweet are the thoughts that savour of content; The quiet mind is richer than a crown.'

A big generous heart and a genial friendly spirit-that's Marion. Graduating from Branksome Hall, she entered Victoria with 2T2 Household Economics Course, and has ever since been indispensable to class executives, finally capturing the permanent Vice-Presidency. May her merry laugh continue to chase care away.

IVAN C. HARRIES

"Come on seven."

"Alph"-a The doctor remarked "What a fine young man" in 1901. Spent his early childhood "wanting more." Slid to Vic. via Jarvis Collegiate, and hopes to knock a "Homer." Household Science, Beware! Once held a Royal Flush P.P.
Omega Going to hunt a job.

GLADYS GRACE HASSARD

"Generous, void of guile, Her whole heart's welcome's in her smile."

Born in a Methodist Parsonage. Matriculated at Harbord Collegiate Institute. Her course is Household Economics and her interests are varied. We call her "Happy" because of her never failing optimism. She is above all else a true friend.

MALCOLM JAMES HAVER

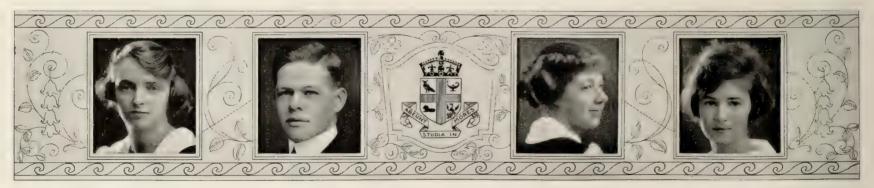

"Keeps his counsel, doth his duty, Cleaves to friends and loveth beauty."

First began the Great Adventure in December, 1892, at Cleveland. Crossed line at age of eight months without duty. Raised and matriculated in the glorious West. Homesteaded, instilled knowledge into young minds, and served overseas. Victoria then discovered and gave him new impetus for further adventures.

HARVEY EATON HAZELWOOD

"We politicians cannot please everybody."

Began study of politics Clifford 1896. Artillery overseas, 1916-19. Then signed up with 2T3-(co-eds). Class and Lit. statesman; Bob Committee; Debating Club; Glee Club. Cheerful, hopeful, tuneful,—equally great on field and chesterfield; first to make chapel hour a social hour. Will do more than 'pave hell with good intentions.'

JEAN EVELYN HOBBS

"An' she's your triend to-day she'll ever be."

Chapter I.—Jean at St. Mary's C. I. Chapter II.—At Victoria, even while successfully pursuing Moderns, she finds time to take a wide interest in the other activities of College life. Her willingness to help and her happy and unselfish nature have made her many true friends.

Chapter III.—Successful, loving and loved, ever after.

ERIC CROMPTON HORWOOD

"Her brother is coming back to-night Breaking up my dream of delight."

Eric has made his home in Toronto ever since July 1900. Honour matriculation at U.T.S. 1918. Though but one of a brilliant family, he has visions of being its most shining light. After his rough and tumble career in Maths. & Physics, he plans a course in S.P.S., not to mention 'Gay Paree.'

MARY HOWITT

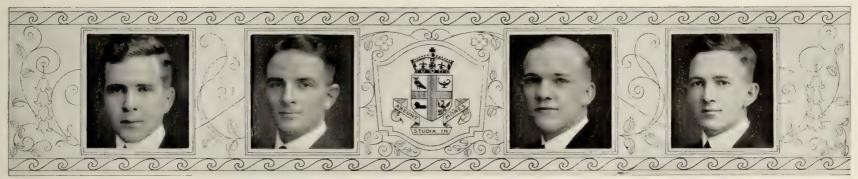

"Now to sense, now nonsense leaning."

Mary entered Victoria as a fresh Sophomore, with 2To. She was much loved by the "Flower of Twenty" for her own true worth and her many teas. A lapse of two years. As a senior she is devoting her time to orchestra, to governing Lower Annesley and, incidentally, to English and History.

RUBY A. HUBBELL

"Her lively looks a sprightly mind disclose,"

A maiden with auburn hair Hailed from the town of Smith Falls On executives doing her share Well known in Victoria's halls. Fond of a dance and a skate With a bit of work sandwiched between We fear that both Cupid and Fate Have their eyes on this little colleen.

LANCELOT CARLTON IRVINE

"Lancelot mused a little space, Said he, 'She has a lovely face.' "

Lance entered the lists in 1896. Managed to spear a scholarship on emerging from St. Mary's Collegiate. In his freshman year with 1T9 threw down his pen and joined the boys. Returned with his enthusiasm for Science unabated. A good "scout" over there, he still is, and always well be. We wish him luck.

JOHN AMBROSE CAMPBELL KELL

"For, even though vanquished he could argue

Arrived harvest time 1897, Cookstown, Ont. Matric. 1913. Faculty Entrance, Barrie, 1915. Rural pursuits till March 1917. Answered call of the sea-Royal Navy. Vic. 1919. Year Pres., Sec. Lit. 1920. Chief hobby, U.F.O.-"a son of the soil and scion of the

J. HAROLD LINDSAY

"Mornings are for sleep, evenings for pleasure;
Do a little work, but leave time for leisure."

Hit the planet at Springfield, Ont., 1899. Graduated from Aylmer High School 1918. After one year in the Royal Air Force, entered Vic. Political Science. An all-round man with a variety of interests.

JAMES MURRAY LUCK

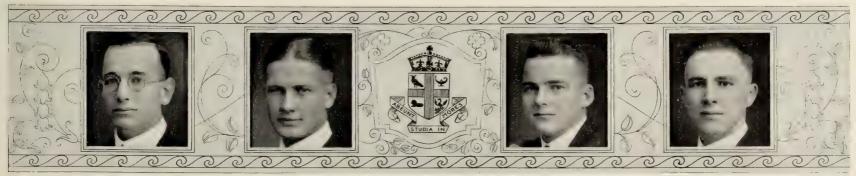

"Something between a hindrance and a help."

Eureka !-- Paris-- October-1899! Apprenticed to Brantford Collegiate. Enrolled at U.C. to study Arts calendar at close range.

Migrated to Vic on completion.

U.L.S., Bob Committee, Men's Council, Acta Board, Executive—Students' Administrative Council—the principal "goat-feathers."

Honour Science (Chemistry)-on the side. Education neglected because of lectures. Future-possibly so.

WILLIAM J. MAINES

"No friend is a friend until he shall prove a friend."

"Bill" first began to express himself April 7th, 1894, at Blyth, and through Public and Continuation Schools he continued blithely. Saskatchewan Missions, Albert College, Munition work, and a Course in Arts and Theology at Vic, have afforded him a wider field of expression. Success to "Bill" as he goes bounding on his way.

E. CLIFFORD MARR

"Twinkle, twinkle, little star, How I wonder what you are!"

Planet Marr first shone forth in this world, June 18th, 1900, at West Lorne, Ontario, and has been twinkling ever since. Came to Varsity with '23. Suffered an eclipse for a year at U.C. but shone forth at Victoria in '20, where his light has since been in the ascendant

Hobby—Endeavouring to lead young Hebrews in the Ward to the "light."

Chief Diversion-Co-eds.

Future—Will probably turn into a shooting-star but in any case a "meet-her-rite."

ALBERT EDWARD ARMSTRONG MENZIES

"Much can be made of a Scotchman if caught young."

Born near Sarnia matriculated at S.C.I.; came to Vic. 1918, where he has since thrived as a loyal wishbone hitter; cool under fire and possessing a voracious appetite for all good things. Rather a dark horse; satisfied with Political Science.

HARRY OSBORNE McANDREW

"What wells of thought lie unsuspected here."

Started with century; kept fairly even. Hamilton to Vic Moderns. Treasurer Bob. Committee, Debating Club; Class executive, prophet; Interfaculty basketball player and manager. A man of many parts and moods, full of strange surprises. Prefers old friends, old pipes, old books, but young women. Gentle cynic, scholar, athlete, man-abouttown, God wot!

JEAN V. McCLENAGHAN

"I am nothing if not critical."

Habitat: Ottawa, which explains her keen interest in politics.

Interests: Modern History, S.C.A., Friendships, Reading.

Diversions: Discussions, Aesthetic Dancing,

Book Reviews, Tea.
Characteristics: Thoughtfulness—an irresistible sense of humour—a dash of contrari-

Future: Well, anything from a Cabaret dancer to a Prime Minister.

ROBERT ALAN MacDOUGALL

"I play a little, just less, and work least."

Born near Petrolia June 16th, 1900. Early education in Sarnia. Graduated from Collegiate with First Carter and Seventh Blake Scholarships, Entered Political Science at U.C. Transferred to Vic. where he is prominent in basketball, baseball and tennis circles, Varsity II. basketball team '20 and '21. President of year, spring term '22.

REGINA MARGARET MILLIKEN

"She's a study, a fancy, a fiction, Yet a fact (take my conviction)."

Oh, young Queenie Milliken came out of the West

And the friendship she gave was the truest and best;

She studied and danced like a gay little linnet.

And charmed care away as she played on her spinet.

J. F. NELSON

"Dost thou love life -then do not squander time."

Non-committal at the time of his birth. Nelson like his great namesake has remained much the same throughout life, and still persists in turning the blind eye upon the sterner necessities of life, hiding himself from the world and those who know him. Still waters run deen.

REGINALD ELBRIDGE NOURSE

"Lectures be damned, I'll have my sleep,"

Storked in Toronto. Public school education in spots. Attended Loews from Parkdale Collegiate Institute. Counted other people's $1,000 bills for R. B. of C. at $15 per. Entered Vic. Jan. '19, where he has done much more than absorb knowledge. Future—As the gods direct.

MARJORIE B. OAKS

"Woman's wit is her sword which she never lets rust.

Act I .- "Childhood."

Scene laid in Preston. Act. II .- "Margie enters College."

Scene laid at U. of T.

Plays hockey and skates enthusiastically,

Interested in dancing and teas especially

Attends lectures and labs in Household Economics incidentally

Has great expectations of graduating eventually.

F. RODERICK PAKENHAM

"A little nonsense now and then Is relished by the wisest men.

"Rod" hails from Norwood, Ont. attending High School, Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Faculty of Education, he entered Political Science en route to Osgoode Hall. His genial manner has won him many friends whose good wishes will follow him wherever he may go.

ETHEL FRANCES PATTERSON

"Whose faith has centre everywhere."

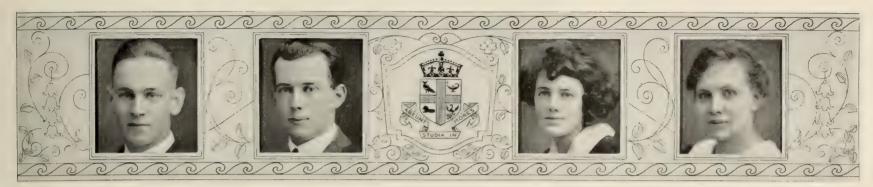

Scene: Vic.

Act I .- Fall of 1918. Enter "Pat" from Niagara Falls en route for a B.A. in English and History. Act II.-1919-1921.

Executive responsibilities and friends surround Pat on every hand.

Act III.-1921-1922.

Pat stands for law and order as President of Annesley Student Government Association. Incidentally leads a Bible Study Group or so.

HARVEY F. POTTER

"The social smile, the sympathetic tear."

First cachinnation July 1, 1899. From Vulcan's forge to Clinton Collegiate; Vic. 1918. Laboured mightily on Class Executives, Bob Committee, Honour Science Club, Torontonensis Board. A man of unsuspected social possibilities, daring on davenports. Counts that day lost when he removes no appendix. Has a brilliant future as a family doctor of the new school.

GEORGE TAYLOR PRENTICE

"By many a happy accident."

Breathed the wholesome air of Collingwood for the first time in 1899. Was educated there in the finer arts of Maths. Has taken advantage of the M. and P. course at Varsity. Enthusiastic over sports. Let George do it!

MARGARET V. RAY

"Stirred with her dream as rose-leaves with the

Have you ever met a girl with the freshest, most original outlook on life, and an irrepressible sense of humour coupled with the deepest love of beauty and art? It's Peggy. Modern History is her course-Dramatics and poetry her soul's delight; she excels in all orphan asylum her friends promise an authoress.

ANNA KATHLEEN REHDER

"Wearing all that weight of learning Lightly like a flower."

K, is noted for her thorough efficiency and cheerful disposition. Educated in Paris High School she came direct to Victoria, entered Mathematics and Physics, and has during her four years carried through that difficult course with honours. We feel confident she will three. Career -She threatens to run an make her influence felt wherever her lifework may lead her.

CHELSEA LAVERN ROWE

Appeared first in Lambton Co., Ont., Oct. 24, 1896. Son of the West by adoption 1907. High School, Strasbourg, Sask. Matric., Regina College 1915. Taught school two years, then enlistment C.F.A. Vic. 1919. Interests: Art and Medicine.

FERN A. SAYLES

Sighted land at Brantford, 1896. Past-drifting with the tide. Present-on the rocks at Victoria. Future-hidden in the fog.

CLIFFORD ENSLEY SCARROW

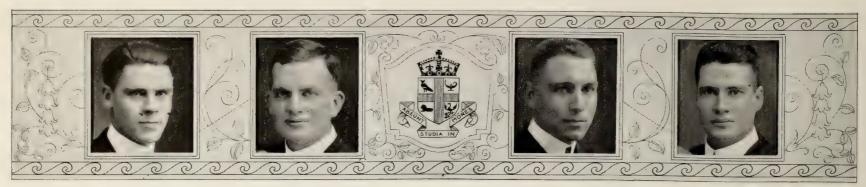

"The why and wherefore were a part of him."

Creemore contributed tennis enthusiasm plus a fund of humour: Collingwood Collegiate developed a liking for study; experience Overseas subtracted from the study habit and added a philosophical trend; University bored him on his return, but now College of Education is attempting to make a perpetual project of him. Unassuming in manner, Cliff leaves his virtues to be advertised by his friends.

BERTRAM METHEREL SHELTON

"He worked a little, played a little, and frolicked a little - with the lambs.

Peterborough claims the honour of his birthplace and his high-school education. Matriculated in 1915. Bert joined up and served in the C.A.M.C. Also learned to tap the key in the R.N.C.V.R. out on the briny deep. Entered college in '19, and delved into obscurities of Honour Science. He also took an active part in college life.

ALEC JOHNSTON SMALE

"And by this face, this seeming brow of justice, he wins the hearts of all."

Took Highgate, Ont., by storm Oct. 2/98; aspired to be a druggist. wandered into the army; cantered down to Vic.; galloped through Arts; decided to slow up and be a parson: admires music; shines in Lit.; brilliant at tennis; doesn't mind fussing.

LEWIS VINCENT SMITH

"I love tranquil solitude And such society As is quiet, wise, and good."

First worried his parents at Brantford, 1898. Came before the awe-inspiring courts of matric. at B.C.I., 1917, winning his case. Canadian Engineers claimed 13 months' service before permitting him to join Vic. Dabbles a little in music, though cannot play. Finds occasional diversion on floor of Lit.

RODERICK DE LA PIERRE STEWART

"His wise, rare smile is full of certainties."

Born 1896, Methodist parsonage. Usual nomad life. Vic. 1T9: American artillery, 1918-19. Interfaculty Basketball Champions, 1916; Captain Vic. and Varsity Seconds; Manager Firsts. Treas. Athletic Union: President, Permanent Executive; Historical Club; Students' Council; Alexander McKenzie Scholarship, Writes—and talks. Future:—Journalism or Matrimony—probably both. Some girl better buy dictionary quick.

Respiration began Dec. 1899 in Lambton County. Early training at Petrolia. Vic welcomed him in '17. Pass Course first year, then Honour P. & B. Sciences.

As a student—one of outstanding ability; a conscientious worker and staunch friend. Hobby—Dissection; vivant ou mort, Future--Aspirations for one, in the far east.

JEAN A. TAYLOR

"Much mirth and no madness,"
Some good and some badness,"

Ye Gods! How write a biography of a girl when her modesty forbids mention of her virtues, and your own discretion forbids disclosure of her faults.

If more of her you wish to hear, In words more terse and fair, Go to her friend the Registrar And read the record there.

ALLEN LLOYD THOMPSON

"My soul has pastured with the stars Upon the meadow-lands of space."

A student since Jan. 28, 1896. Matriculated Hamilton C. I. '14, Honour Matric. '16. Overseas '17, Khaki University, Ripon, '19. Entered Vic. '19.

ANNA MARGARET UREN

"Of talents and friends in abundance."

"Marg" brought to Vic a vim and enthusiasm which could not be confined to Moderns. Every aspect of college life received attention, but Lit and Acta have finally won out. Her spontaneity, wit and naturalness have won many friends. Her motto: "Do now what you would be glad to remember at seventy."

BLANCHE GERTRUDE VAN ALLEN

"Haj py am 1, from care I'm free, Why aren't they all contented like me?"

Fate was kind to Blanche upon her arrival at Crysler's Farm, near Morrisburg, Ontario. Laughing brown eyes, a most amiable disposition, and a heart overflowing with generosity, made her life at High School and Colege, rich in real and lasting friendships. Blanche skated, played tennis, and studied Household Science—in that happy, carefree spirit which endeared her to us all.

FRANCIS E. VIPOND

"He thought as a sage; felt as a man,"

Arrived on our planet at Hamilton, Ont., April 20th, 1899. Matriculated Hamilton C.I. '15. Graduated Hamilton Normal School '18. Taught Honour Matric. '19. Entered Victoria '19. Glee Club. Inter-Faculty track meets '20, '21. Oriental Scholarship '21. Chief ambition-a dark secret.

Nations.

GERTRUDE E. WALLIS

"Sport went hand in hand with science."

"Physiological and Biochemical Science" spells labs and hard work but "Wally" found time to uphold the honour of Old Vic in Sports as well. She won her name and her fame on the basketball and hockey teams and we know she will play a winning game right through.

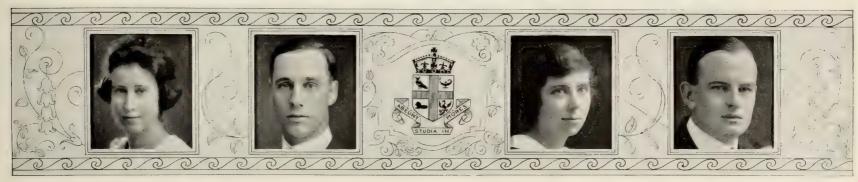

Trophies-"T," "V," "Athletic Stick."

FLORENCE VAUGHAN WILLIAMS

"O she's quick an' she's smart, an' got plaintee heart.

If you know correc' way go about, An' if you don't know, she soon tole you so Den tak' de firs' chance an' get out; But if she tore you, I spik it for true, She will mak' it more beautiful den.

An' sun on de sky can't shine lak de cye Of dat nice leetle Canadienne."

MARJORIE MURIEL WILSON

"A violet by a mossy stone Half-hidden from the eye."

Marjorie came from St. Mary's to Vic. to enter Modern Languages. Ever since, her staunch devotion to her work and her undeniable ability have won the admiration of all her friends.

Modest yet self-reliant, cheerful and kindly, we feel confident that a happy and successful future awaits her.

RALPH LeROY WILSON

"And tender to the spirit touch, Of man's or maiden's eye."

Born, Lynedoch, Ont., 1895. Simcoe H. S. Vic. 1T9. Overseas, Signals, 1916-19. Class Executive twice. Vic Soccer team. Replaced the "Bob Song" in the "Bob." His own opinion :-

'I am nae poet in a sense, But just a rhymer, like, by chance." Ambition :- China.

Future:-Information wanted.

ANNIE MARY WRIGHT

"Mindful not of herself."

Annie entered Moderns at Vic via Malvern C. I., but her thoughts have not been all of books. In an unobtrusive way she has won warm friends and a reputation for seeing the humorous side of every situation. Lit. and S.C.A. have benefitted by her interest, and Choral by her efficiency as Business Manager.

WILFORD J. A. WRIGHT

"He would have all as merry as good company, good wine, good welcome, can make good people."

Born in a "deserted village" in Ontario on August 12th, 1897. Elementary and secondary education received at various centres. Matric. at Dundalk. Vic. M. and P. 179. Toured Europe on foot. Returned to join Vic. 2T2 Pleasures many. Faults? Ambition: "To be an honest business man."

Class History of 2T2

Some people would go so far as to doubt that a University class had such a thing as a history. They would say that every Freshman year is fresh, and that every Sophomore year is cocksure, and that after that every individual goes his own way at his own pace to the end of the chapter.

But we know better, for we have lived through four years of college life in Victoria, and we feel that '22 is stamped all ever us—for better or worse.

When '22 came up to college the war was still on. Consequently our members were few and we had a real experience of the college-in-wartime atmosphere—soldiers, soldiers everywhere, flu, lop-sided parties and just the ghost of a Bob! However, we regarded it all as nothing more than a challenge to make the best of things, and our noble efforts were rewarded by a beneficent Providence upon November the eleventh—which we celebrated with the utmost fervour. Thenceforth we lived in expectation.

And, truly enough, by the time we entered in upon our second year, "the boys had come marching home," and we welcomed twenty-five war-worn heros into our midst. What a transformed college! Everything gay and festive—and we contributed our party by heralding in this new year with the resurrection of the "Bob" in all its prestine glory. The war-strain had certainly disappeared, no one (feminine) now needed to stay away from class parties from self-sacrificing motives—there were enough men to go round, and a few over!! But speaking of class parties, the unheard of independence which the feminine portion of the class developed during the year when it was in the ascendant has been quite a stumbling block in the way of the—ah—business of arranging—ah—class parties! The men, of course, have been firm, while the women, without a doubt, have stood their ground—in sooth we have had stormy times! Stormy though only until the eleventh hour, when peace was forever sealed in Burwash Dining Hall after a highly successful "Field Day" by the singing of that ancient anthem "For they are jolly good fellows."

So it is easily seen that in analyzing the personality of '22 the women and the men must first be considered separately. The women alone have the unbroken tradition, and being few in number they have developed a very real class spirit, which means that however they differ individually in temperament and outlook each one has been the loyal friend of every one else in the year. As for the men, their numbers have varied, their tradition being broken not only by the influx of the aforementioned and joyfully-heralded twenty-five war-worn heroes, but also by the much lamented egress of twelve of the same at the end of their third year. We might call them individualists, and by that we would mean that they are, above all else, self-reliant and enterprising—but more as individuals than as a college class.

And of both men and women we might truthfully say that there never has been a class at Victoria that has worked more faithfully to make college life a corporate reality by throwing themselves heartily into all the college activities—Lit., Dramatics, S. C. A., Acta, Athletics, Choral and even Reception Committees!

To the Graduating Class of St. Michael's College

by

FATHER CARR

FATHER CARR

Up to recently, and in practice, up to the present, parents have been compelled by law to keep their children at school. The state spends immense sums of money on schools for their benefit. At fourteen years of age. parents were free to continue them at school or withdraw them and send them to work. It has worked out that a mere fraction have continued on to the high school. On these pupils, the state continues to spend very large sums. No money. no supervision is expended on the rest. Why is it that the state can spend well over one hundred dollars each year to maintain the pupils in the high school, while the boy or girl who leaves school is allowed to shift for himself or herself without any support from the public taxes? It does not seem right on the face of it. It is true that all are encouraged to continue and the same opportunity given to all, but particular conditions in the life of a boy or girl may and very often do render it impossible for him or her to take advantage of the opportunity. We move to the end of the high school course and come to the door of the university, and we find the same situation over again. A mere fraction of high school students pursue a university course, and yet the state feels satisfied that it can afford to spend large sums of money out of the common funds to educate this small number to enable them to qualify for positions of emolument and honour to which they would not otherwise have had any hope of attaining. Again, in the vast majority of cases, peculiar conditions of nearly all the less fortunate ones make it impossible for them to continue on and win these higher positions. Why should they be discriminated against? Why should the taxes that their parents pay be taken to educate others to live on them and rule over them?

This is a large question which would merit considerable thought and more space than is at my disposal here. If a statesman were asked this question, he would say that the state must have leaders in different departments of life, industrial and commercial, political, social, moral, religious. The favoured ones are so favoured, not from any partiality towards them, but for the betterment of the state at large, which means for all citizens; in other words, the boy or girl in the high school, and the man or woman in the university is educated, to a great extent, at the public expense in order that he or she may render a duty to the rest of the citizens. It is doubtful if any state has yet arrived at such an altruistic stage of development that it would be willing to educate men and women if it knew that they were going to withdraw from the life of the country and confine themselves alone to the enjoyment of the benefits conferred on them. I think that the intention of the state, in so far as it reflects and is conscious of its own intention, is that a few are educated at the expense of many almost solely in order that they may make return in increased possibilities for the happiness of the many.

The point that I am making is the thing incontrovertible, and yet, as you know, universally ignored. You graduates of 1922 are charity students, educated by your neighbours, just as much as if some man of means had taken you as the sons and daughters of poor parents and provided for your education on condition that you would make certain returns. As a body, whether you think of it or not, you are going to be an asset to your country, but if you do a little thinking on this, if you are conscious of your obligation of debt, and if you are men and women of any honour and conscience, you are going to accomplish more than if you were ignorant of your debt. This, then, is my message. What holds true in the life of the state holds true in the life of the church. But as I am restricted to the political side, with great reluctance I refrain from touching the religious side.

PETER JOSEPH BART

"Deep calleth unto deep . ."

Peter was born in Stratford, 1897. Attended Collegiate there and later Assumption College. Came to St. Michael's for Arts. Interested deeply in Rugby. Known variously as the "wild man" and the "Pocket Hercules" of the team. Interested also in Philosophy, and loves a good argument and can be relied upon to make the best of a poor one.

HARRY M. BROWN

"The first requisite to happiness is that a man be born in a famous city."

First saw the light of day in Hamilton. From Collegiate came to St. Michael's in Class 2Tl. Mad pursuit of knowledge interrupted by continental tour. Back to St. Michael's in Class of 2T2. Athletically inclined.

WANOLA C. COLLINS

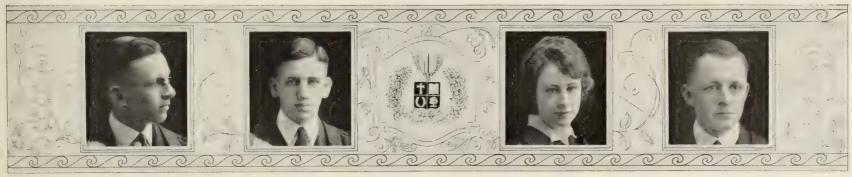

"A friend by turns to saints and sinners Attending lectures, dances, dinners."

Natal City, St. Catharines; primary and secondary education there. Senior Metric. at St. Joseph's, where she entered "Moderns," 1918, developing a versatile genius and exceptional powers of mind and will. President of Class Executives and Senior Representative of her College in the W.S.A.C. Her hand doth execute what her mind conceiveth or

CLAIRE COUGHLIN

"Content adorns her with a lively face,
An open look, and smiling kind of grace."

Belleville claims the honour of her birth. B. H. S. records a glorious scholastic period leading to Senior Matriculation in 1917. Moved to Toronto and Varsity in 1919. Combines "Faust" with basketball in a fashion that proclaims all things are possible for her.

RICHARD J. DOBELL

"A good companion and as firm a friend."

First saw the light of day in Toronto, March 3rd, 1899. Matriculated at De La Salle. Entered Class of 2T1, but joined R.A.F. during course of year. Later welcomed back by 2T2. Says little but smilingly enjoys all lines of philosophical arguments. Chief diversions—boating and swimming. His amiable manner will win him friends wherever he goes.

J. WILFRED DORE

"Tis better to be happy than wise."

"Wilf." is a product of the Mountain City. His genial smile first shone in 1901. After Matric, from St. Mary's High School he cast his lot with Class 2T2. In sport he ranks among the first. Secretary of the Athletic Association. Hobby:—Dramatics. With the past as a criterion we look for successes in the future.

SHEILA DOYLE

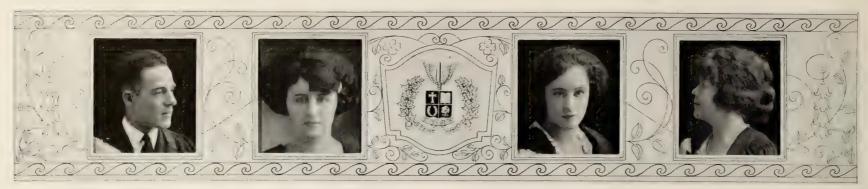

"She is so pure of ways
There is no sin is named
But falls before her feet;
Because she is so frankly free,
So tender and so good to see,
Because she is so sweet."

This is "our Sheila", Torontonian and Loretta scholar during entire school life; heroine in Latin play "Andromeda", 1920. Diversified knowledge. English, singing and reading especial hobbies, but greatest asset is sincerity to friends.

JOHN DUNBAR

"A man of hope and forward-looking mind."

The honour of "Jock's" birthplace belongs to Priceville. Not satisfied with the academic possibilities of his home town, he migrated to St. Mike's in '15, from whence he matriculated and favoured the Class of 2T2 in joining its ranks. Has a keen sense of wit and humour. A lover of sport. Never ruffled.

JAMES A. FORD

"A man!—A right true man, however, Whose work was worthy a man's endeavour."

A product of St. Many's High School, Hamilton. Joined the Class of 2T2. Prominent in all branches of college activity, especially athletics. Captain and star of the Intercolegiate Rugby team. President of the Athletic Association. Manager of the Junior O.H.A. team. Secretary of the Interfaculty Indoor Baseball League. A wearer of the "M".

NAOMI JANE GIBSON

"She gets her 'bachelor of arts'
And also many 'bachelors' 'earts'."

Omi, Irish Queen, Entered Arts One nine-sixteen. Danced her way Through Varsity. Happy girl, Omi.

HELEN MARGARET GUINANE

"Though sprightly, gentle, Though polite, sincere."

First saw the light of day at Toronto. Received her whole education from Loretto Academy and Loretto Day School, where she matriculated in '18. Entered Loretto Abbey College the same year, where a combination of a quick mind and wit with an impulsive and generous disposition have made her a great favourite.

MARY AGNES HANNAN

"Her sorrow only sorrow's shade, Keeps real sorrow far away."

Fond of fun and philosophy, Maire came to Canada from Goresbridge, Kilkenny in 1916. In her a propensity to inquire into "the inner life of things" unites with a keen appreciation of life's lighter aspects. Profoundly sympathetic she is ever sensitive to shades of sorrow in life and literature. Won the Mary Ward Scholarship and the Dockeray prize for English in 1921.

ANNE HENRY

"She can describe the indescribable,"

Although cool and unperturbed, from her first arrival at Lorretto Abbey College Anne has been genuinely intense in things that mattered. Always a lover of English literature, her apt criticisms have shown her true appreciation of "le mot juste." She has taken part in all activities, dramatic, musical and academic, from the role of the Starveling clown to the serious performance of her duties on the Student Executive. Altogether, she is easy to walk with, jolly to talk with and pleasant to look upon.

KATHLEEN KANE LEE

"Social, cheerful, and serene."

Born in August, 1900, at Toronto, "K" began her education at Loretto Abbey. Matriculated in '18 and entered the Class of 2T2 at Loretto Abbey College. An infectious laugh, and cheerful smile, her chief characteristics; won her many lasting friends. A certain forcefulness of expression, and proficiency in English, argue well for her contemplated career in Law. Executive position: St. Michael's Representative on the University Settlement.

TERESA LONGEWAY

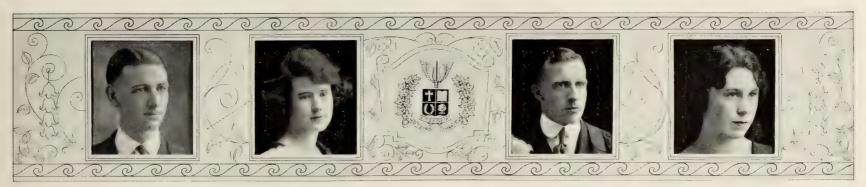

"She has wit, and song, and sense, Mirth and sport and eloquence."

From Stratford. Success has been her motto from infancy. Separate and High School at Loretto Academy. First year, University, 1917. Combined role of teacher and student, 1919-21. President of the Loretto Abbey College Student Council, and Debating Representative of St. Michael's. All hail to her future!

MARY M. McCARDLE

"Wisdom grows in quiet places."

Linwood, Ont., is the birthplace of this coy maiden. Matriculated from Elmira Collegiate, 1918, and joined the Class of 2T2 at St. Joseph's. Has a mind of her own and believes in doing things right. Her hobby is Mathematics. Representative of her College to Torontonensis. That pleasant smile which costs the least and goes the farthest predicts a happy future.

FREDERICK THOMAS McDERMOTT

"I'll find a way or make it."

Toronto claims the honour of busy Mac's native city. The auspicious event occurred on December 31st, 1900. Prep. Course at St. Helen's Separate School and De La Salle. His ability in undertaking coupled with his popularity both in class and out, leave no room for doubting his future success. May it be

BETTY McGRATH

"I'll climb a mountain peak and see The world and all my heart's desire."

From St. John's Newfoundland Betty came to Loretto and has made her mark in English and History. Ever ready in an emergency she scorns a daily routine. The St. Michael's Year Book and the "Varsity" have profited by her ability. May her genius carry her far!

J. VINCENT McINTYRE

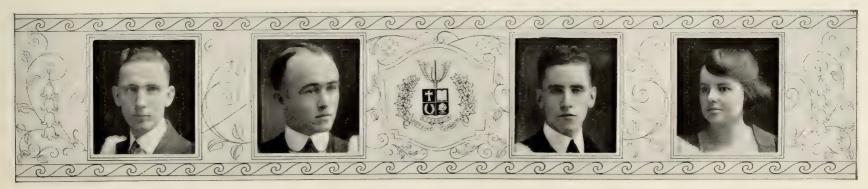

"Oh, that a man might know The end of this day's business, ere it come."

Born at Brantford, 1895. His name still remains on many chairs, desks, etc., in B.C.I. Heard the guns with the Princess Pats. Obtained the hickory at O. C. E. Graduating from third year. Very versatile. Will talk on any subject but himself. Has a leaning towards dramatics. He has made many friends at St. Mike's and promises to split "fifty-fifty."

ELEANOR NEALE MACKINTOSH

"Well, something must be done for May, The time is drawing nigh To figure in the catalogue And woo the public eye."

Entered this busy world January 14th, 1901, and has since been kept busy on various Social Executives. Loretto Abbey, followed by Loretto Abbey College, responsible for her education. Fulfils to perfection the arduous duties of a popular co-ed.

EARL JOSEPH McMAHON

"Surely never did there live on earth A man of kindlier nature."

"Spivis" brought from Delhi his little bag of tricks and an oriental atmosphere. Resumed his studies with 2T2 after his military career was fini. Genial, kind and true he was chosen President of the Students' Council. Philosopher. Much can be expected from his six feet of long lean length.

BASIL P. MALONE

"A man of cheerful yesterdays
And confident to-morrows."

Born in Toronto, January 3rd, 1899. Matric at De La Salle, leaving his desire for knowledge unsatiated, "Bas" sought higher things with Philosophy 2T2. Vice-President of the Graduating Class. Member of the Students' Council. A keen sportsman, he can hold his own with the best in hockey, handball and baseball. Keeping the golden mean between saying too much and too little he is "in toto" a man whom it is good to know.

JOHN BERTHOLD MORRISSEY

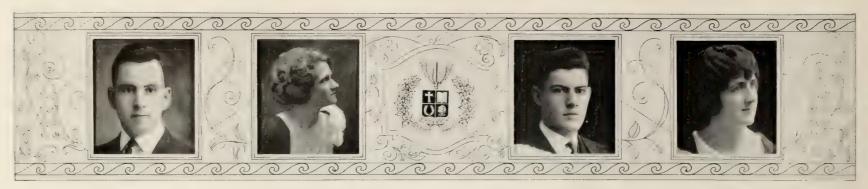

"Ancient founts of inspiration Well thro' al my fancy yet,"

After a brilliant career at Hamilton Collegiate, Bert packed up his Scholarships and entered Classics at Varsity, where he proved himself a thorough student. Enthusiastic Athlete in all branches of Sport, good musician, debater, former Editor of the Year Book, these are the principal marks of his versatility. He will undoubtedly make his name in the teaching profession.

ANNIE MULLETT

"My own thoughts are my companions,"

Annie complimented Carleton Place some twenty years ago by being born there. Carleton Place Schools supplied her early education. Since 1918 she has been on intimate terms with the Modern Language Course of Toronto University. Languages are her hobby, foreign travel her ambition. This is all just now. We shall hear of her again.

ALPHONSUS L. O'DONNELL

"Whether I was early of late or was behind before, matters not if I be first at last."

Phonse first blinked his eyes in Merrickville, Ont. Matriculated from M.H.S. in '17. After roaming a year he finally cast in his lot with 2T2. For him the future is still adventuresome.

A. MARGUERITE O'DONNELL

"Her ways were unique; even herselt."

Marguerite gained her first impressions of life in Oterville, Ont. She graduated from St. Joseph's Academy, Toronto, and obsessed with the idea of following knowledge "like a sinking star," entered Loretto Abbey College. Pre-eminently a thinker, Marguerite feels quite at home in an argument. Broad in her sympathies, humorous, and even tempered, she has made many lasting friendships.

FRANK E. O'DONOHUE

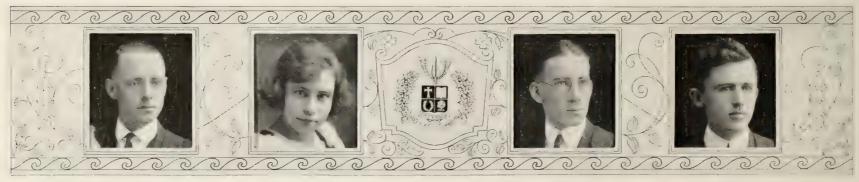

"And thus from day to day, my little boat Sits in its harbour, rocking peacefully."

On the 19th of May, 1901, Frank's first utt'erances reverterated throughout Guelph. Stands responsible for his early training. Matriculating at B. C. I. in '18, he now finds himself "baby" of 2T2. In the line of sports, baseball is his specialty and he successfully generaled the Intermediate Football team during the past season. With this record he need feel no qualms for the

KATHLEEN GO O'LEARY

"Her rare, sweet smile and tranquil face Lend all she says and does a grace."

Kathleen's search for truth began in Parkhill, Ont., and was continued at St. Joseph's College with the Class of 2T2, to which she proved her loyalty by unfailing success. She has developed the "historical mind" and a wanderlust she hopes to satisfy. Sole joy of the O'L, home!

M. AUGUSTINE O'SHEA

"I do what many dream of all their lives."

Born in Norwood and matriculated from the High School. St. Michael's was his next step, and there, by his genial disposition and ready wit, he has made a host of friends. As leader of the College Progressive Party, he has shown himself a capable organizer.

AGNES C. SIMPSON

"She was made for happy thoughts, For playful wit and laughter."

Down came Agnes from Owen Sound,
Took Matric. at S. J. C.;
Then she said quite "Agnes-like,"
"Might as well get my degree."
So she stayed, to our delight,
Happy, witty, free from pose,
Kind, unselfish, peerless friend,
She'll be loed where'er she goes.

FRANK R. SIMPSON

"Night after night he sat And bleared his eyes with books."

When he had captured all the certificates available in Owen Sound, Frank entered M. and P. Aesthetically inclined, he soon tired of linear functions and sought greener fields in Philosophy. His talents are many. Good musician. Politician. Editor of the Year Book. His genial presence will be missed from the College halls.

LAURENCE JAMES STOCK

"New thought is new life."

A subordinate, Laurence resides at Mimico Beach, Ont. Born May 18th, 1893. Made the jump from elementary school to arts, after a ten-year interval. Interfaculty debater, '20. S.M.C. representative to Students' Administrative Council. Politician, vocalist, biggame hunter. A man who wants to find out about things. Success will be his.

History of Class 2T2, St. Michael's College

Four years ago, when we, the future class of 2T2, took our first steps along the well-beaten pathway that leads to a degree, we acknowledge (for with Cicero whose flowing periods and rhetorical phrases were the bane of our first year's otherwise blissful existence "aperte dicamus") that the way seemed long and the obstacles well-nigh unsurmountable. Slowly at first, but then with inconceivable speed, the days glided by, those first great days at college, so filled for us now with mirth-provoking memories of our air of self-importance (for, mark you! the laurels of matriculation were yet fresh upon our youthful brows). Then the weeks slipped by and the months, yea, even the years, until we stand to-day at the summit of the hill and looking back behold not four stages in our journey, not four years, but only one, all too short, happy, college life-time.

Undoubtedly in first year we were a verdan green, so green that some of us assumed an air of nonchalance even to the neglecting to attend initiation, a much regretted nonconformity. We came from various parts of the Dominion, Hamilton sending the "Big Four" to join us on November the eleventh with the world-wide celebration of the signing of the armistice. After Christmas some of our members made a brilliant showing on the College Hockey Team, while within the walls our "orators" even wrested honours from the genial but would-be intellectually superior Sophs. The clear sky of May was dotted with a few stars to mark our passage to Second Year, but apart from these uninvited attendants, the class formed a truly triumphant procession to the seats of the mighty Sophomores.

Chamelon-like, the beginning of our Second Year, our temperamental hue gradually changed from green to red—for we saw red everywhere in our mad endeavours to make the knowledge of the few our common possession. With the return of our men from the front, several new members were added to our class, who were our boast and pride, and to whom we learned to turn in every circumstance that required discretion and those saner judgments that come with experience. During the year the "co-eds" gave a Latin play "Andromeda," in which they not only displayed exceptional dramatic ability but what was even more to their credit, a thorough acquaintance of the Latin tongue—no mean acquisition in these days when the tendencies are all against the classics and in favour of things modern. Not less delightful was the evening they gave of selections from the eighteenth century dramatists. Sir Anthony and Mrs. Malaprop are still vivid in our memories.

In Third Year we seemed to have fallen into a brown study, for the year passed by quietly and uneventfully. Was it because our mightiest intellectuals and "auctores ludorum" were too deep in their first philosophical problems to lend themselves to more material things?

But now that we hardy annuals have arrived at Fourth Year, the tone of our feelings is decidedly blue at having so soon to part from the friends and scenes of those four happy, incomparable years. Our ranks are considerably diminished, but in spite of that we are proud of the fact that ours is the largest class yet graduated since St. Michael's became a federated College. This year has been filled with many executive and administrative duties that fall to the lot of Senior Students, but we have found these extra labours only a pleasure, and have been amply repaid by the thought that in this way we can show some appreciation, at least, of all that our College has done for us during our years within her hallowed walls.

Graduates, we stand to-day at the portals of the great and busy world of men and affairs, that lies beyond our college walls. Like "children of the morning," with the light of learning bright upon our brows, we are going forth to play a "virilem partem" in helping to solve the great problems of the age. So that this is not, after all, the history of the class of 2T2, but only the first chapter of it. Its real history is yet to be written. May the record of each member's life-work be one that will reflect only the highest credit on our Alma Mater.

Trinity College

To the Graduating Class of Trinity College

by PROVOST SEAGER

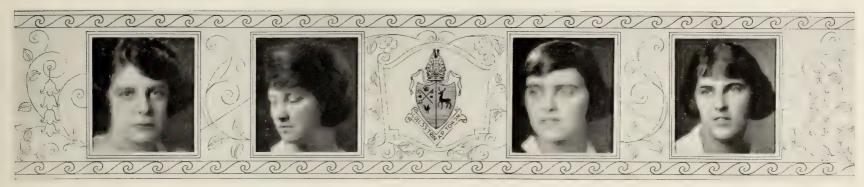

PROVOST SEAGER

By way of a message to the Graduating Class of 1922 I should like to stress a warning and an exhortation.

The warning is "expect hardship." Probably two of the most critical times in the life of a young man or a young women are that of entering an University and that of leaving it. This is particularly the case, of course, with those who are leaving the University to make their way in the world's work. They have to begin, as it were, all over again, their foot on the bottom rung of a new ladder. The conditions of life are wholly different. The attitude of people about them is different too. They have their hand upon a new, untried, unknown task, and the grip is trembling and uncertain. Mistakes are easy, indeed almost inevitable. They must be expected, but not feared. Humility, coupled with quiet confidence, patience, and with wide open alertness to the significance of things, readiness for hard work without over anxiety, these are the things to carry men through initial stages in new tasks and bring them to that great moment when they become conscious that they are masters of the thing they are called upon to do and at last equipped for their life service.

The exhortation is "have a true ideal." The essence of true ideals is that they are unselfish. They are never merely utilitarian, but always altruistic. The man or woman who looks upon education merely as an instrument to extract more from society than he could have won without it is an individual without an ideal in any true sense of the word. To conceive of mental equipment as an increase of capacity to serve one's generation is to be truly idealistic. Incidentally, in the long run, it pays, because what society calls for is people willing and able to serve it in its higher interest. Our youthful, heady democracy needs, probably more than anything else, an infusion of idealism; it is for the new generation to make that contribution.

Dental College

To the Graduating Class in Dentistry

by

DEAN WEBSTER

DEAN WEBSTER

Opportunity is the only thing a young person needs. Having this priceless commodity, every desirable thing in life should be attainable. Opportunity often stares young people in the face, and yet it is not seen. Some see it but faintly, and lack courage or mental vigor to grasp it.

Dentistry is the calling of opportunity to-day. The young man who graduates in dentistry during these next few years is indeed fortunate. By a combination of circumstances it has gained the attention of the great mass of the people. Its scientific foundation engages the attention of the best minds, while its benefits are easily recognized by all.

While dentistry is a problem of medicine, mechanics, engineering and art, it is also one of comfort, happiness and longevity. With the past decade oral conditions have been recognized as a problem of public health as well. Kings, princes and paupers know its value. Governments, Legislatures, Councils, Universities, Colleges, Schools, Professors, Teachers and Armies have given it a place among the beneficient things of life. A demand has been created, not by over zeal on the part of a few, but by the steady-going every-day members of the profession who have applied themselves diligently in painstaking effort to relieve suffering and prevent discomfort and disease.

It was lives of service to mankind that accumulated a heritage for the young dentists of to-day. With a heritage of opportunity, the first duty is to be grateful to those who left it and avow that through diligence, honesty and perseverance the torch will be aflame for those who follow.

The Dean and the faculty have had four years of exceedingly pleasant relations with what may rightly be called "the ambitions and progressive class of 1921." They desire these relations to be extended and ripened in the years to come, and wish to express the belief that this class as individuals will gain the same place in the affairs of Canada that they have during their college career.

LIONEL SHARPE

"His smile is brightest when things go wrong."

First smiled on the world in Toronto, September 16th, 1899, and has been smiling ever since. Matriculated from Parkdale Collegiate Institute, 1918. It was rumoured that he once stopped smiling, but this must have been before he entered R.C.D.S. This reads like a lot of smiles but then so does our "Sharpey."

GERALD EMANUEL SHRAGGE

"And e'en his failings leaned to virtue's side,"

It was in Kenora, Ont., where Jerry first gazed upon this "immortal coil", and the great day was March 23rd, 1901. It was hence, in this mere hamlet that the blonde boy acquired his juvenile erudition and matriculated. Many of us regret that the West still claims him.

JOHN MUIR SHULTIS

"And when a lady's in the case, You know all other things give place."

Born at Heathcote, Ont., April 18th, 1899, John made his appearance at Port Colborne at the age of 12. Never been known to miss a football or hockey game or a boxing bout. Was one of the main cogs in Dentantics. He is a ball player of no mean ability, managing the Judean team in '21, but it is because he possesses that magnetic personality that we predict success for him where'er he may go.

CECIL ROY SIMS

"I am short, but so is life, So I ask you, why the strife?"

On February 9th, 1900, when Roy was ushered into the world. Owen Sound did not appreciate its latest asset—But now! Roy spent his happy boyhood days at Public and Collegiate, in the old home town. He matriculated in 1916, and then burst into Dental circles. After his first year he served in the Dental Corps. During the summer months the C.P.R. claimed him as one of its officials. Roy is a pianist and singer and always has a host of friends.

BERNARD ERNEST SLEETH

"He is truly happy who makes others happy,"

A child of the Queen City. He matriculated at Meisterchaft School in 1909. Entered Dental College, 1910 to 1912. His pleasing personality enchanted the business world until 1920, when he returned into our folds. As chairman of Dentantics Committee, he proved himself worthy of the quotation above.

MAURICE SMOLLER

"He lived to clutch the golden keys."

A holiday should have been declared in Toronto on May 5th, 1901, to welcome Maurice to our midst. Attended Ogden School Spent four very successful years at Jarvis Collegiate, where he played Rugby for the school teams. On graduating in '18, he entered R.C.D.S. deciding to take up Dentistry as his life work.

CECIL M. SNELGROVE

Dental Rifle Club

Ever since the Great War considerable interest has been taken in rifle shooting by members of the R. C. D. S.

With the revival of the University of Toronto Rifle Association the Dental Rifle Club was formed with the assistance of Prof. C. N. Cochrane.

Subsequently many pleasant mornings and afternoons were spent at Long Branch ranges.

The interfaculty contest took place on October 27th and the De Lury Shield, which is the coveted trophy donated in 1904 by Prof. De Lury, was won by five members of the Dental Rifle Club. The R. C. D. S. team of 1908 also won this trophy.

The Ontario Rifle Association silver medal was won by the Captain of the Dental team, Mr. H. C. McDonald.

Of the eight members of the U.T.R.A. who composed the championship team which won the Interuniversities Challenge Trophy on Nov. 7, 1921, six were members of the Dental Club of the R. C. D. S.

The officers of the Association are:—
Hon. President—Dr. W. E. Willmott.
President—Mr. R. A. Williams.
Vice-President—Mr. F. L. Mills.

DENTAL "T" HOLDERS, GRADUATING CLASS 1922

J F. Lippert, E. Underhill, W. M. Stevenson, A. S. Holmes, S. Brown, F. W. Edwards, C. L. Griffin, L. Perlman.

A Sketch of the Graduating Class, R.C.D.S.

Do you remember the twenty-first of September, nineteen hundred and eighteen, when approximately one hundred and thirty knowledge seekers from the east, west, north and south congregated in the halls of the old R. C. D. S., and at the office timidly made known their desire to enter the study of dentistry?

Those were dark and gloomy days. The great war had reached its crisis, and few there were who did not realize the seriousness of the times. True those days are past, and we but recall them in order to associate the history of our class with the greatest of all chapters in the history of the world. Let us humbly and sincerely thank God that the clouds have all been dispelled, and that upon the completion of our college career, we are able to gaze on a brighter and fairer world.

In our freshmen year there was the influenza epidemic which necessitated a few weeks holidays just after we had begun and were growing accustomed to college routine and ivory blocks. Then something happened on the eleventh of November when everybody went downtown and threw talcum instead of going to college. Will you ever forget that feeling?

Then there was the banquet tendered us by the jolly sophomores at the Carls-Rite when someone put Fletcher's Castoria in the ginger ale. Which theatre party was best, and can you forget the big freshman dance at the Masonic Temple?

As sophomores our numbers were swelled by the returning men of the C. E. F. to the grand total of one hundred and ninety. We began work in earnest and a record in anatomy was the result. This was the year of theatre parties and dances, and all intercollegiate sports were revived—a happy and successful year.

The Junior year will be remembered as the year of "quizzes" by our little culminating in that greatest horrible nightmare—the infirmary quiz. All other occurrences of the year are dwarfed by comparison, as we think of that stern-visaged tribunal whose only command was "Read some more." A few of the more fortunate who escaped, were made to suffer from the cruel jibes and taunts of the nurses and seniors in the infirmary. Pity was shown to the more unfortunate by the faculty in their own inimitable way, and these were invited to spend most of their summer in the infirmary. Of course the invitation was as readily accepted, and the college infirmary was the scene of many a nervy operation in May and June. Altogether a year of exquisite thrills—our first patient thrills for both.

And what shall the chronicler write of the last year? A pleasant year of work and play. We approach graduation with mixed feelings of joy and a certain sadness. Our goal as students, has been almost reached and we gladly enter our chosen profession to carry on the service of health to the world. In the four years of our university career two of our number have been cut down by the grim reaper and others have suffered the loss of friends and relatives, but these losses have intensified the fraternal bonds which unite the class. A few more weeks and the class of 2T2 goes forth with courage high to the practice of the noblest profession; and success will surely follow their sincerest efforts to serve their fellow men.

To the Graduating Class in Medicine

By DEAN PRIMROSE

DEAN PRIMROSE

The function of a University is to train men for leadership. This is true in all departments of study, in Literature, in Science, in all the varied activities of life the graduate of the University is or ought to be specially trained to take a leading part. Whatever be his chosen field he comes to the University in order that he may equip himself for his life's work, and in doing so he must get abreast of his fellows and his effort is ever to get "in the lead." This effort, on the part of the individual student may be an unconscious one, but it is none the less effective in attaining its end. He succeeds only in so far as he becomes an intelligent student, a true investigator, a man capable of sifting the truth from falsehood, one who is capable of guiding others, so that others recognising his ability will naturally turn to him for guidance.

If men are trained for leadership in the University it becomes us to inquire as to the manner of their training. The accummulation of knowledge would appear to be one of the main objects of a University course. There is a real danger in assuming that it is sufficient merely "to know" and not equally essential to "understand." The student is apt to accept all statements without question and often without understanding them. The best teacher is he who succeeds in making his students think for themselves. In modern parlance we may say that every student should become a research scholar. He should be trained to investigate and to arrive at logical conclusions of his own initiative.

Far be it from me to undervalue the importance of in-culcating that respect for authority which is an essential element in the character of a true student, and yet there is a slavish respect for so-called authority which is exceedingly harmful. There are unfortunately those who are very credulous and who are too ready to accept statements as true without sufficient proof of their accuracy. There are those who are apt to accept as true the statements made by an author simply because they are contained in the page of a book duly bound and labelled. It is a very old doctrine, but we have much need of appreciating its importance to-day:—

"Prove all things, hold fast that which is good."

We must recognise that there are false leaders, false authorities. Moreover, in the advance of learning it is inevitable that the teaching of to-day may be at variance with the teaching of to-morrow. If we are to be progressive we must be prepared at times to discard old theories when, in the light of recent discovery, they are proved to be false. The authority of Galen was worshipped to such an extent that for centuries men had not the courage to challenge it nor to accept the teachings of those who eventually had the temerity to differ from him although the latter had proved that Galen was wrong in certain of his beliefs. The greatest teachers have been those who were ever on the alert to detect possible fallacies in their own teaching. Take for example, John Hunter, one of the outstanding men of science of the eighteenth century, on one occasion Sir Ashley Cooper asked Hunter with surprise if he had not the year before stated an opinion on some point directly at variance with one he had just put forth, "very likely I did," Hunter replied, "I hope I grow wiser every year," and in similar fashion, on one occasion, he objected to a student taking notes stating "you had better not take down that observation, for very likely I shall think differently next year." Lister in his life and work was one of the greatest benefactors of the human race. Had he not been untramelled by the teachings and doctrines of his immediate predecessors and indeed of many of his own contemporaries he would have failed to accomplish the splendid achievement which proved such a blessing to the sick and suffering. In fact his life was a continual fight to upset false dogma and to establish truth.

It thus becomes apparent that we must constantly revise our standards of belief. Truth never changes but our conception and interpretation of the truth are capable of error. The University trains a man, not only to apply the knowledge gained in his course of study but also to search for and establish facts hitherto unknown. He thus becomes a living factor in advancing learning and in the course of human progress is recognised as a leader.

FRANK N. ALLAN

"The reason firm, the temperate will, Endurance, foresight, strength and skill."

ROBERT J. LOWRIE

"Graduating at length that tower of strength."

Born in Hamilton several years ago. Matriculation from Riverdale Collegiate, Toronto. Served his time in Arts, but repented and entered Medicine. Bob is a big genial Scotchman whose infectious wit and ready smile have made him a general favourite.

FLORENCE MACDONALD

"I feel a kind of trembling at my heart."

The Island did its best for Florence educationally, leaving Varsity to complete the task by lectures, clinics, dances, art clubs and discussions. The crises of medicine, namely, anatomy quizzes, physiology labs., pediatrics clinics, a spring attack of rheumatic fever traits he enjoys humour, is sincere, and is a have not lessened Flossie's smile, nor her determination to see it through.

WILLIAM GEORGE MACKERSIE

"He was a gentleman on whom I built an absolute trust."

Belize, British Honduras was the birthplace of this son of the manse. Matric. at Bracebridge. F.O.E., Toronto, 1913. Medicine 1915. Overseas. Joined 2T2 in 1918. Member A.O.A. 1920. Despite characteristic Scotch consistent student.

CHARLES ALBERT MARKOWITZ

"Faithful to race and true to ereed, A friend to all in time of need."

Genial Charles was born in Poland, 1897. Came to Canada when 9 years of age. Started his career in McCaul School, then J.C.I. gave knowledge and finally landed in "College." Played basketball for "Meds." Unquestionably an artist, having won prizes for paintings.

CHARLES ANSLEY MARTIN

"His house was known to all the vagrant train: He chid their wanderings, but relieved their pain."

Sport and fusser in his day, still far from smeat. Education well-rounded in early years, then broadened on coming to Meds. and Trinity. Largeness of heart has won "Carl" the college for a friend; increasing efficiency the college for a practice.

GEORGE GRAYDON MARTIN

"He that hath knowledge spareth his words,"

December 7th, 1898, marked the spontaneous entry of "Marty", in Northumberland County. Matric. with honours at Campbellford High School. Meds '22. Surveying a hobby: Quiet, reserved, brilliant student. Success most assured.

ROY CHURCH MERIFIELD

"He was the mildest manner'd man That ever scuttled slap or cut a throat."

Coming from Prince Albert, Sask., in 1911, Mery entered P. and B. '15. But 1915 found him back West and then followed a period of teaching, courtship, love, romance, marriage, R.A.F. till 1919, when he joined '22. A good student, though never caught at it, a good sport, a thoroughly likeable fellow.

E. G. MERRITT

"Ah, fill the cups what botts it to repeat How time is slipping underneath our feet. Unborn to-morrow, a dead yesterday, Why fret about them if to-day be sweet."

Joined the class of 2T2 in Medicine, in time to graduate with them. Has met with varied success throughout his course and intends pursuing his profession in the future under more favourable conidtions.

JOHN EDWARD MINNS

"I'm tired and I want to go to bed."

Gods and goddesses smiled when John illuminated Barrie in '97. Many Ontario towns have been brightened since then, until he started his life's work with 2T0. Bacchus soon carried him to London, Mars transported him to France, but Venus made him love Paris most. War weary, Pan coaxed him back to music and medicine with 2T2.

R. H. MORRIS

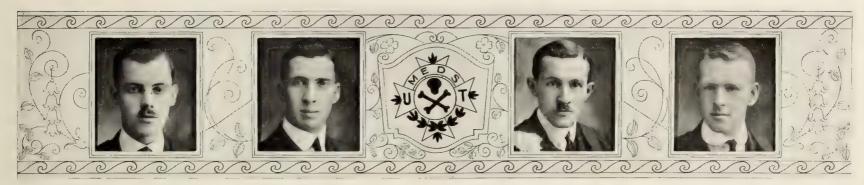

"And he could almost heat a broken heart."

A product of the Bluenose country. Bob was contented in his youth with the education offered him by "King's University." Entered Medicine with Class '18. In the spring of '15 his Scotch blood answered the call of war. Resumed his course Fall '19 with Class '22. Prominent in Class and University activities, and an oarsman of renown for which he received his "T." Bob's success in his chosen profession is certain. "Over the top, with the best of luck."

AUBREY R. E. MOUNCE

"The best laid schemes o' mice an' men Gang aft agley."

Eddie hails from Oshawa, arrived there in 1900, slaked his thirst at the local fount of Helicon. Matric. 1915. Honour Matric., 1917. With the poet he says, "Varsity alone gives joy."

FREDERIC C. MYERS

"And I am one who lives to say
My life has held more gold than gray."

"Ted" comes from St. Mary's and both are proud of that fact. His last five years have been spent making friends, building castles, and studying enough Medicine to provide for a future that should be rich in all the things that make life worth while.

JOHN CLARENCE McCLELLAND

"Life would be intolerable, were it not for its amusements."

History of the Class of Medicine 2T2

Even great things have small beginnings, so as some 200 aspirants took their turn leaning over the little desk in the secretary's office in the Medical building early in October, 1917, many great careers were launched with but slight splash.

Our first year was very usual including lectures, scraps, dog-fish, frogs, and examinations. As the year drew to a close we bade farewell to many of our members who enlisted.

The second year opened with many vacancies in the ranks due to enlistments and the blue pencil. We were soon complete again, however, and stronger than before, when we were joined by some 40 men of previous years who had for various periods transferred their allegiance to Mars and Neptune and who now united once more as they returned to offer their services to Aescuplapius. In this year various bits of information regarding the human being were handed to us by many members of the faculty and it was not long till we felt entitled to prefix our statements with, "Speaking from a medical standpoint" and such phrases. In our second year through the epidemic of influenza our class lost one of its best loved members in the death of Miss Verya Jackson.

As the third lap of the race started we realised very suddenly that we were rapidly becoming educated and took the privilege of attaching the initials T. G. H. to our names, as if we were now essential to the make up of that institution.

We were also allowed the privilege of carrying a stethoscope partly in our pockets and of giving free medical advice to all the other roomers in our house. "Increased audability" became a very real term to the other years in the faculty.

The fourth year in our course served among other things to help us solve the mystery of where people go when they die. In spite of the most severe warnings against the dangers of knowledge we pushed steadily on to greater things.

We have as a year made some advancements. In athletics we have contributed our full share to the interfaculty and university basket ball teams. In social matters we have not fallen short and have to our credit the winning of the Daffydil cup three years in succession. While in our academic work we blushingly feel forced to confess that we certainly are quite clever.

Now, as we stand on the threshold of the greatest profession, we turn to the other years and encourage them with the thought that we went through it all so it must be fairly easy. We turn to thank our faculty for the great service that they have rendered us and we thank our many benefactors for the interest they have taken in us and the help they have given us. We hope that some day a year as great as us may come again into medicine, as we advance to that great stage in our lives when we each and every one will be independent and able to write our own prescriptions.

Rugby in Faculty of Medicine, 1921-22

This season has proved to be an eventful one for Meds. in interfaculty rugby in that, for the first time in some years the Senior and Junior teams met in the Mulock Cup Finals.

The early start in organization and their subsequent success was largely made possible by the support accorded by the Medical Athletic Association. Alb. Dickson, president of the Association, lost no time in fulfilling his election promises and the result of his endeavour was the establishment of a fund which placed at the disposal of playing teams the much required equipment.

The new system has already proved its value. The promotion of Interfaculty Sport has as its underlying principle the production of better sportsmen in Varsity and the revealing of the possibilities of many who might otherwise never find their way into the Varsity camps. At a banquet tendered to the two winning Med. teams by the Medical Society, Dr. Jack Maynard, in an address on "Athletics at Varsity," struck a responsive note when he emphasized the necessity of putting the needs of Varsity teams first. If his recommendations are put into effect we should see better use made of Interfaculty sport in the future.

In the sport space provided it is possible to deal with the records of the team only in a summary manner.

JUNIOR MEDS.—Record: played 8 games—lost one. Coach, "Sandy" English.

"Sandy" spent considerable time training the Juniors, and their record is a tribute to how effective his help was.

Manager—Don Strebig.

Don got about forty men in the junior three years out to play and kept them out despite the limited number of positions to fill. It is hard work, and genial manner earned him the re-election to managership next year.

SENIOR MEDS.—Record: played 7 games—lost one.
Manager, H. S. Douglas.
Captain, Eddie Harkins.

Eddie has been quarter-back for Medical rugby teams for the last three years. Twice his team has won the Mulock Cup and the other time they lost out in the finals. He was the unanimous choice for Captain this year and once more demonstrated his ability both in handling his team and playing the game.

DEAN MITCHELL

The first object of a University is to produce real citizens; citizens to whom the future of the country will be entrusted when their time comes. The University must see to it that those coming citizens will, in their younger years, be adequately educated and trained to assume their responsibilities and be imbued with a high moral sense of those responsibilities.

This process of training which the University presents must consist of more than that commonly regarded as learning, more than that prescribed within the confines of a curriculum and much more than that involved in the acquisition of knowledge measured by yearly examinations. Life at a University has another side than that of the academic work in classroom and laboratory. The years spent within the University walls brings so much more to the young student who is shortly to become the young citizen, that it is difficult to appraise the relative values of the academic and the—shall we say atmospheric?—elements in his University life.

If one may view life out in the world as a more or less complex machine about which the young University student learns the rudiments while doing his four years course, then the academic work may be considered to consist of the simplest study of the machine itself and its complexities and the other part may be thought of as giving him the simplest insight into its manipulations for manipulate the machine he must after he gets out.

But beyond the start given by the University life there is its merging into real life in earnest. If perchance we may think of the machine as a motor car, the student may have learned much about its mechanism, the principles on which its engine or its steering gear or its starting or oiling apparatus are designed and he may even thoroughly know the instructions for their use and the rudiments of their operation. But it is altogether another thing to operate the motor car with his own hands on a rough road or on streets crowded with traffic, on a slippery pavement at night or amongst steep hills and tortuous valley roads; all this he must learn by experience and perhaps years of driving. Then, too, he has not merely himself to consider, although he may feel secure in his seat at the steering wheel. He has his passengers, their welfore and safety to consider and he has also always to be mindful of the other people on the road, for they may not be as careful in their driving or as experienced as he. It is only through these later years after learning the first rudiments that he becomes an expert in road tactics as distinct from the mere operator in the laboratory, in the garage or on the practice course.

The young graduate when he leaves this University to go out into life, promptly becomes an integral part of the nation, is one of its new assets for carrying on its work and progress. Whether young engineering graduates go into engineering or business or other professions they add to the national wealth a potentiality which it is their duty to exercise. The rest of the nation looks to them, expects something from them more they do not accept it they are not fulfilling a duty to themselves or their fellow citizens. Every graduate has his leader's they do not accept it they are not fulfilling a duty to themselves or their fellow citizens. Every graduate has his leader's card in his pocket.

So if I may give you a message as you leave, it is to accept the challenge whenever and wherever it comes, spring to the leadership as soon as opportunity offers, for it is not only your opportunity but your privilege and duty.

I wish you all good fortune and success and may you all lead, in some form or other, in the great race on the Highway of Life.

Class History of 2T2

The fall of 1918 is noteworthy for two important events: the conclusion of the World War, and the arrival of Class '22 at S. P. S. Entering thus, at the end of that period when the University routine was so completely disorganized. when much of the room in our buildings was occupied by the R. A. F. and the D. S. C. R., we beheld the close of the old order and the commencement of the new.

Numbering eighty-five lusty frosh and one freshette, we arrived on the first of October. After parting with sundry hard-earned dollars, and after the usual confusion of settling down, we elected Frank Spence as president and followed him on the evening of November 8 to the old gymnasium of the U. T. S. building, where the remainder of the Faculty, numbering ninety in all, welcomed us with tenderness and assorted stale fruits.

On the evening of November 15 we showed our Christian spirit of forgiveness, by arranging the Annual Theatre Party at the Gayety. Sophomores and "gentlemen of the 1st year" joined in chanting the School Psalm and wildly applauding the efforts of the chorus.

In the following spring, during moments spared from the eternal battle for admission to the Beanery, which was then situated at the rear of U. C.; or from tramping glumly around the campus and contorting ourselves into weird postures for the delectation of brazen-throated drill sergeants, we laboured far into the night over learned tomes, having to do with the eccentricities of the elusive X., or dealing with the action of sulphuric acid on iron sulphide.

On February 25 a pitched battle raged against the despised and ignoble Meds., when we covered ourselves with mud and glory, under the astonished gaze of General Pau and before the eyes of numerous co-eds. On March 12 we elected Stan. Everson as our year president. Lectures ceased on April 1, and we commenced the painful process of developing into Sophomores, via the Examination route.

The commencement of our second year was marked by the inauguration of our new Dean, Brig.-Gen. C. H. Mitchell, on October 8. On the evening of October 27, the freshmen class, numbering over four hundred, were joyously and thoroughly initiated at the School building, where Dean Mitchell went through the tornado with the others, but emerged unscathed.

Vaccination parade was the order of the day on November 6, and 11 p.m. of the 12th saw us clamouring for admission to the Star, where the freshmen class had arranged for a special show, which was riotously enjoyed. On Election Day, March 12, when "Spike" Thompson became our next president, the Faculty of Medicine again engaged us in a gentle disputation, which argument was finally closed by the payment of one dollar apiece.

The opening of our third session was saddened by the news of the death of our beloved former Dean, Dr. W. H. Ellis, on August 23.

After making Stan. Coulter captain for our last voyage, and placing Jack Langford at the head of the Engineering Society, we weathered the stormy passage of the spring exams. and found ourselves in the enviable (?) position of the Senior. who, it may be recalled, "comes back to have a fling."

We have not been backward in the field of Athletics. No fewer than nine T's and seventeen S's have been awarded to members of the class, while some of them have made records and performed doughty deeds which will not soon be forgotten.

As we realize the full meaning of "Tempus abire est," we may look forward to reunions where we shall meet again the old comrades and friends of our Varsity days, when we were members of '22.

APPLIED SCIENCE-ARCHITECTURE

JAMES BURN HELME

"A man he seems of cheerfut yesterdays And confident to-morrows."

Spent the morning of his life from 1897 on in Smith's Falls, whence he came in 191? to study at the U. of T. Atelier. As a singer, not a success, but as a consistent exponent of the Neo-Greek style, unexcelled. Cherishes a secret ambition to be a Town Planner. Two years behind schedule on account of the "Lovely War," but will undoubtedly now show the boys how it's done.

MAXWELL ARDEN NORCROSS

"The light that lies
In woman'e eyes
Has been my heart's undoing."

The first twenty-one years of the race, three of which were spent at Bishop's College, he ran in Lennoxville, Quebec. In 1917 the Navy called and for two years the Atlantic and Mediterranean were his stamping-grounds. Realizing the error of his ways in time to sign up with School 2T2, his sunny disposition and facile pencil will quickly win for him a place in the profession.

KENNETH F. NOXON

"'Tis of men, the chief of all perfections, to be plain and brief."

Born in Toronto, 1900. Studied a great range of subjects in a greater number of countries, but came to the conclusion that Canada needed more architects and picked on Toronto for his preliminary work. Activities chiefly confined to the Draughting Room.

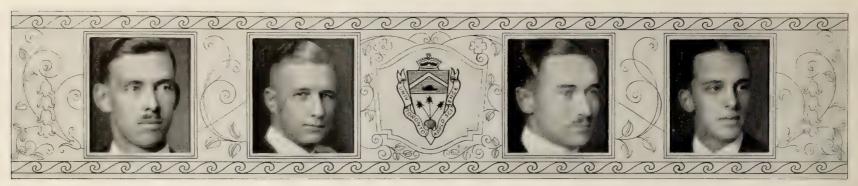

ARCHITECTURAL CLUB, UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO, 1921-22

STANDING:-J. G. Magee (Treasurer), W. H. Steele (first year representative), E. M. Coleman (second year representative), F. B. Brown (third year representative).

SITTING-J. B. Helme (Chairman), Prof. Adrian Berrington (Hon. Chairman), M. A. Norcross (Vice-Chairman). ABSENT:-P. A. Deacon (Secretary).

GORDON ROSS BONGARD

"He drinks when he has occasion, and sometimes when he has no occasion,"

Despite the fact he was born on a Friday and that the 13th of January 1899, he has suffered no ill luck. After attending U.T.S. he took a course at R.M.C., served in France with the R.F.A. Joined Chemicals 2T2 in December 1918.

CARL LOUIS BREITHAUPT

"The boy is fair, of female favour, And a little devilish in his behaviour."

Carl was born in Kitchener somewhere in the '90's. He has done much experimenting in his search for erudition, and the paths of learning have led him to Kitchener Collegiate, Kidley, North Western College, Queen's and Varsity. He served as an Engineer in the army and is still one.

GEORGE MITCHELL BROUGHALL

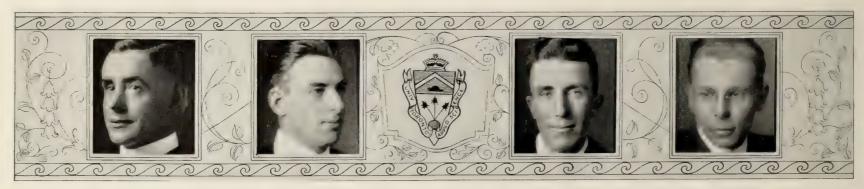

"For the night shows stars and women in a better light."

Born Toronto, Feb. 13, 1900, and favoured U.T.S. from which he matriculated in 1918. During the next four years Chemical Engineering occupied a small part of his time. He prefers the blondes.

HERBERT ALEXANDER BYSSHE

"Light feet, dark violet eyes, and parted hair."

First saw light April 1, 1898, at Peterboro, Ont. Conquered Honour Matric. at Parkdale Collegiate, Toronto, Ont., in '17, and entered Science in same year. Captain School Basketball Team '17-'18. Manager School Rugby Team '19. Vice-President School Athletic Association '19. Participated in "Spasms" '20-'21. For further achievements see "Twenty Years After."

WILLIAM A. CAMPBELL, B.A.

"On his own merits he is dumb,"

Born at Durham, Ont. Early education there, and at Meaford Collegiate. After teaching school for a time, he entered Queen's obtaining his B.A. in '16. Joined the Canadian Cyclists, transferred to Air Force with which he served in France until wounded September 1, 1917. Returning to Canada in 1919 he joined class of Science 2T2

CLARENCE HALE CARSLAKE

"To-morrow's tangle to the winds resign."

"Clar" stole into Martha's Vineyard, Mass. 1896. Early skipped to Guelph, then to Toronto. Hoodwinked Riverdale Collegiate Staff, got past the recruiting officer, Feb. 1916, and made a fine fluctuating bombardier in alternating batteries, 47th to 60th. Submerged at Queen's, May 1919; emerged at Varsity 2T2 Expected to paint the world Tetramethyldiamidodioxydiphenylmethane.

HOWARD McDOUGALL CHANTLER

"We've yet to make our fortune, we've yet to make our fame."

Howard brightened up this vale of woe, Quebec sector, in 1897. Of parson stock, he naturally rolled around the country, but gathered enough moss to get in with 179. Off or the "Duration" with the Cyclists in 1916. but found his way back to 2T2 for a final polish, before delving into the mysteries of Industrial Engineering.

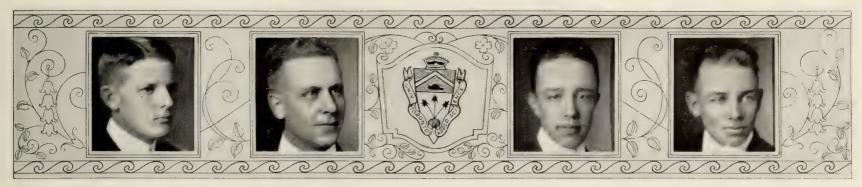

J. JACKSON CRAWFORD

"Now we shall go aroaming, far into the night."

Born Dec. 10th, 1898. Matriculated from

Jarvis Collegiate, and entered Science '22.

Not content at being just a school man,
Jack ravaged far into the realms of music and is chiefly known for his piano accomplishments and extreme fondness for nocturnal expeditions. He is well remembered as the champion charioteer for his year.

GEORGE ARTHUR DAY

"He travels the fastest who travels alone."

He first startled an expectant world at O.A.C., Guelph, April 14th, 1901. After five arduous years at Guelph Collegiate, he came to Varsity to recuperate. Not wishing to misogynist but hopes for his recovery are executive—and he's still smiling. still held.

HUGH M. DIGNAM

HAROLD MARSHALL DILWORTH

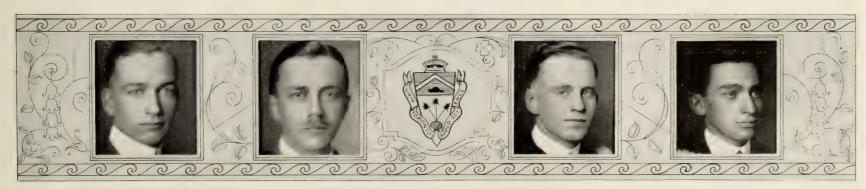

"Cool, unperturbed by stress and hurry, Inclined to work, but not to worry.'

April 13th, 1901, was the unfortunate but eventful day. At Harbord Collegiate Institute, in 1918, Harold annexed Honour Matriculation, and being bitten at the same time with the Chemical Bug, his next experiment was with School, 2T2 Chemicals. Hobby: calling acids and bases by their first names.

EDWARD EVEREST

"Stillest streams oft water finest meadows And the bird that flutters least is longest on the wing."

Wardie arrived January 1901, Scarboro, Ont. His education commenced Kimberley school, Toronto, continued Malvern Collegiate till 1918, thence to S.P.S. with Chemicals '22. He graduated with best wishes from his friends to whom his quietness, sincerity and industry, guarantee his success in life.

A. E. HAROLD FAIR

"All the world's a stage."

Backstage in Midland he makes his entrance on March 2nd, 1899. WILFRID J. GRANT

"Content to begin with doubts,"

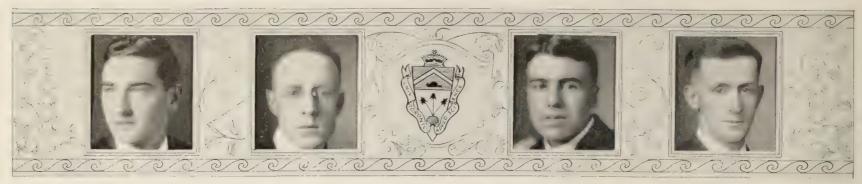

Born in Toronto Aug. '99. Entered Humberside in '13; after juggling successfully with Euclid and Caesar, matriculated in '17. Honour Matric. '18. Entered S.P.S. as a Civil. At the end of first term threw aside the Transit and plumb-bob for the beaker and Test Tube.

To "Soc," seeing is believing,

FRANKLIN M. GRAY

"A youth to fortune and to tame unknown,"

Frank arrived in Owen Sound, on May 6, 1899. His early education was obtained in the public schools and Collegiate Institute of that town. After obtaining his Matriculation in 1916, he emigrated to the big city, where he attended Parkdale C. I. He has been with the class of 2T2 from its beginning.

CHARLES NORMAN HALDENBY

"Hate I inadvertently said some evil thing?"

Toronto assumed responsibilities in October 1897. Honour matriculation from Parkdale Collegiate in 1916. Norman betook to foreign fields with 2nd C.D.A.C.-wounded-resumed studies with 2T2 -pleasantly impulsive, with decidedly social tendencies-all in all, a prince among the brave and the fair.

CRAIG HAMILTON

"Music hath charms."

Gave his first yell December 19, 1899, Dundee, Scotland. Favoured Toronto 1911. Matriculated from Oakwood Collegiate. tered "School" in 1917, but war work claimed him. Re-entered "School" Fall of '18, where he has been occasionally since. Secretary-Treasurer, Industrial Chemical Club '19-'20. "Toike-Oikestra" since '19, Varsity Cheer Leader '20-'21. Fusser since the beginning of time.

A. HAROLD HEATLEY

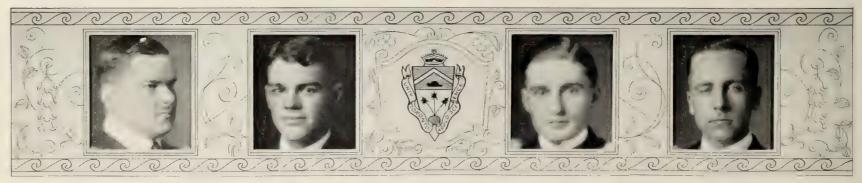

"Nature never hurries, atom by atom, Little by little, she achieves her work."

She commenced her task 29th August 1897 at Brampton. Her subject matriculated from B.H.S. with the Trimble Scholarship. He entered class 1T9 "Chemicals," but forthwith joined the P.P.C.L.I. (The atoms almost dislating career (five stars!) at Varsity in Sep- 2T2 at Christmas, 1918. tember 1918.

JOHN ARCHIE KAY

"I only ask that fortune send A little more than I can spend."

"George" landed in Stratford but it couldtook him to Europe and back, thence to Queen's. Then 2T2 and South House welcomed him with wide-open arms, to dinners, dances and honours. And may he always hold the better hands.

ARTHUR LINDSAY

"Anything onec."

An event of world-wide importance struck n't hold him past matriculation. His travels the town of Dresden in April 1901, It has never been the same since Art left there to graduate from Chatham Collegiate. He has been favoucing 2T2 Chemicals with his presence since '18 and if the glassware lasts '22 will proudly claim him theirs.

HOWARD BAILDON MEYER

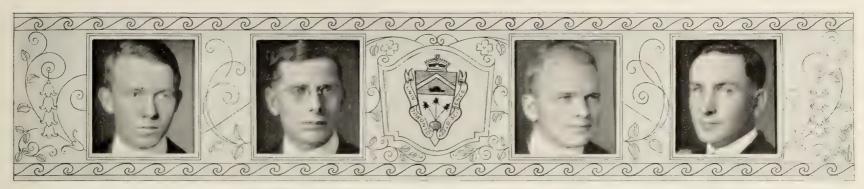

"I am bewitched with the roque's company. If the rascal has not given me medicines to make me love him, I'll be hanged!"

In 1899 "Joe's" wistful smile first burst forth in New York. Ridley shaped his early destinies whence he emerged as Head Boy. O.T.C.—overseas—returned to join 2T2. The success which has marked his very active college career we are sure will follow him into the future.

CHARLES McKEOWN

"Always roaming with a hungry heart."

Born Mono Road 1895, Orangeville H. S., Parkdale C. I., U.C. class 1T9. Overseas Company C.O.T.C., R.F.C. He dropped in on the Germans one afternoon and they entertained him for ten months. On his return he set his feet on the pathway of Science. He was on the Y.M.C.A. executive, and Editor of "Transactions.

ROLAND RUSK McLAUGHLIN

"O well for him whose will is strong,"

Herb first saw the light of the world in Toronto, May 21st, 1897. Leaving a trail of smoke through Harbord Collegiate he 'gazed with awe on a two-foot rule" in 1915. After his first year, the Toronto & Niagara Power Co. made use of him during three war years, and returning to school he now issues forth Chemicals.

ROBERT EDWIN PARKER

"Still waters run deep."

Bob startled Zorra with a "School" yell in June 1897. He walked the odd mile to Stratford Collegiate, graduating in '16. After two years in an office he was massaged into School where he consistently made honours. Gym. team '21. He is a "strong" man among the

ROBERT ROSS PARKER

"Look! He's winding up the watch of his wit; by and by it will strike."

Born May 10th, 1901, at Stirling. Matriculated from Bowmanville High School. It is reported that he occasionally attends '22 lectures. Since then the world has been divided into two great classes-things he knows a little about, and things he knows all about.

CLAYTON BENJAMIN PEAREN

"Labor Omnia Vincit."

"Benny" was born Friday the 13th of April, 1900, but has overcome that handicap. Matric, at Riverdale Collegiate, 1917. Honour Matric, 1918. He entered 2T2 and distinguished himself by obtaining Alumni scholarship which he has held successfully since. A brilliant student, an honour to his year.

WILLIAM RAY RICHARDSON

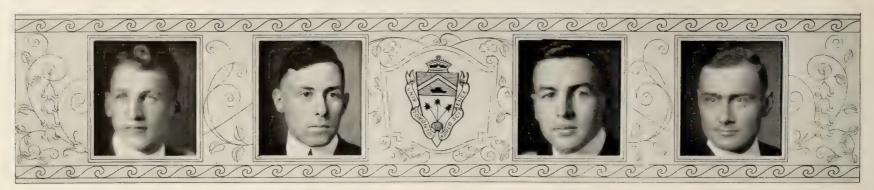

"I am that wretched man."

Ray was first heard from on April 15, 1900. Essex Public and High school conquered, he decided on Chemical Engineering and entered Varsity at the age of 18. Among various honours, vice-president of his second year. His precipitation into the Chemical world will be the beginning of a reaction in that field.

ROBERT I. WYNNE-ROBERTS

"Ad astra per ardua."

Like a cherub from heaven did Bobby appear on March 7, 1901, at Cape Town, South Africa. London, England, Regina, and Toronto contributed to his wealth of knowledge. With Honour matriculation from Jarvis Collegiate, he entered Science '22. His amiability, Welsh accent and long black hair make Robert a man apart an outstanding feature of his class.

DAVID ARTHUR SCHEMNITZ

Scholarship is seldom the measure of a man's power and worth."

First delved in the mystic art of chemistry at Central Tech. whence he matriculated in '18. As there were a few more facts still to be learned, he joined the '22 Chemicals Won "S" and "T" for interfaculty rugby and boxing, also tyro medal for individual rifle shooting. Still going strong.

WILFRID S. SHERK

"The alchemists in their search for gold discovered other things of greater value."

Began his career in '98 at Sherkston. Junior matric at Ridgeway and Senior at Welland. Practised Analytical Chemistry for three years, helped finish war as aviator at Borden. Intercollegiate 115 lb, wrestling champion in '20. Won "T" and "S." Sec.-Treas. "School" Athletics in '20.

FRANK S. SPENCE

"Not what I have but what I do."

Being a B.A.Sc. early education was naturally up to the standard. Elected President of his Freshman year, delegate to Des Moines Conference in second year. Secretary of Kowing Club, Chief Engineer of "Kiotat" in third year. Active member of Players Club. Member of Historical Club, Manager of Kowing Club in fourth year.

FRANK LLOYD WASS

"A proper man as one shall see in a summer's day,"

Lloyd came from "Nowhere into here" at Granton in 1898, and there he was initiated into the three R's. Completing his preliminary education at St. Mary's and Stratford Collegiate Institute, he joined the C.F.A. On the expiration of the war, he joined Chemicals 2T2 in February, 1919.

JOHN HARVEY WESTREN

"The cock loft is not always empty in those whom nature hath built many stories high."

ALEXANDER MacGREGOR ANDERSON

"As mild a mannered man as ever scuttled ship or "He who is in a hurry shows that the thing he is cut a throat."

Crashed on this old planet June, 1898. Glided lightly through North Toronto Collegiate and entered the little red school house with 2T0, harkened to the gods of war and chased butterflies with R.N.A.S. in France. Returned to graduate in a cloud of glory with 2T2.

SAMUEL WALLACE ARCHIBALD

about is too big for him." Born near Seaforth, May 13th, 1894. Matriculated S.C.I. 1912. The war found "Archie" hobnobbing with the Infantry. Started home on shrapnel route and caught a place with 2T2. A naturalist notorious for rare descriptions of black flies, mosquitoes, etc., of Northern Ontario.

GEORGE CECIL AYKROYD

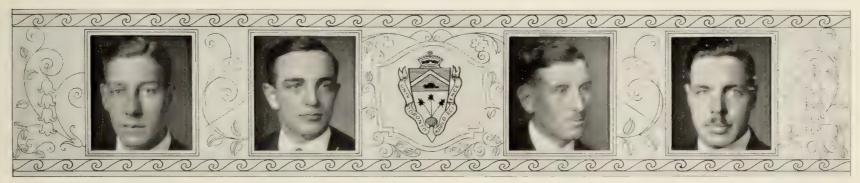

"A king is but a man, fair maid, and so am I."

"Ayk" appeared alive and kicking in '95. After jazzing his way through U.C.C. he arrived at School in '14. Spent the next four years taming mules and came back to join 2T2. He is an ardent long-distance fusser and expects to profit from it in the near future. Believe me, he'll be a bear some day, so watch his smoke.

CYRIL CROPTON ASHCROFT

"He doth himself contrive, enact, behold,"

A minister's son born in Toronto, 1897. Wandered to York Mills, 1900. Matric., 1913, at Tech. Tried surveying, but needing clothes joined 2nd contingent. Finding issue insufficient, obtained a commission in C.F.A., 6th Battery. While drifting homeward, summered at Queen's, 1919, then was caught in the Varsity whirlpool. "Cy" should get away with the swim of 2T2.

KEITH LIVINGSTONE CARRUTHERS

".111 work and no play, Makes Jack a dull boy."

Entered class '19 civil engineering from Parkdale Collegiate. Mulock Cup Champions 1915. Absent 31/2 years visiting Europe. Rejoined with class '22. J. K. WHITE

"Still pondering where and when, And how the business may be done."

With hopes of giving a practical turn to the tenor of his life, Jack entered the old Red School and started dabbling with electricity. If circumstances so permit and the star of fate sheds her guiding light upon his pathway he hopes to surpass Franklin himself and discover why God made Electricity.

RICHARD ERIC WHITE

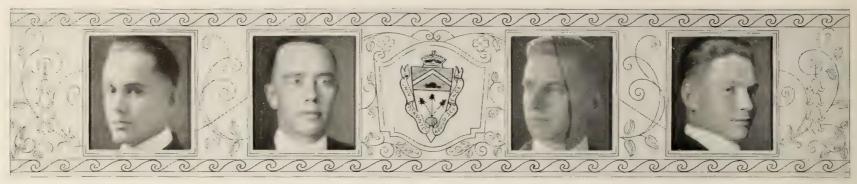

"By nature honest, by experience wise,"

Born Winnipeg, 5th December, 1893. Educated at numerous schools, including: Loretto, Edinburgh, Scotland; Trinity College School, Fort Hope, and R.M.C., 1912-14. Served overseas during the war with the Royal Field Artillery from January, 1915 to 1919, on many fronts including France, Mesopotamia, India, Persia, South Russia and the Caspian Sea.

ROBERT JAMES WILLIAMSON

"Tall oaks from little acorns grow."

Born in Toronto, October 13th, 1900. Received education in Toronto, matriculating from Central Technical School, June, 1918. Won his "T" as member of the Gym. team, Intercollegiate Champions, 1920, and was elected captain for 1921. Though only five foot three has a distinguished repertoire of laboratory stories. Expects to revolutionize Graham Bell's specialty in the near future.

E. VICTOR AHARA

"At times most marked industrious."

First heard of in Beloit, Wisconsin, 1902. Became dissatisfied with his surroundings in 1906, and decided to try Toronto. Junio and Honour Matric from Oakwood Collegiate 1918. Joined class of 2T2 in Mechanical Engineering. Alumni Scholarship 1918-21; Boiler Inspection Scholarship 1921. Pastime—Parties.

To Vic. the limit of accuracy means nothing.

EDWARD FISHER ARMSTRONG

"Among new joys, I reach for joys I leave."

"Army" first looked things over August 3, 1898. After absorbing all that Iroquois High School had to offer, he entered school in '16. His studies proving too strenuous he helped himself to a vacation in the R.A.F. Returned in '19 with class 272. Has done nothing since.

WILLIAM THOMAS BRICKENDEN

"Time is money don't spend too much in one place."

Past Performance:—Launched in 'ninety-seven. Riverdale Collegiate and Morse St. school were honoured; S.P.S. spasmodically—1T9 - Specials 2T1—finally mechanical 2T2. Canadian Signallers and Wireless Operator R.N.C.V.R.

Present Circumstances:—Broke (so he says).
Future Prospects:—As an engineer—fair;
As a musician (ir Toike Oichestra)—punk;
As a husband?

P. GERALD DUNBAR

"He's little, but he's wise; He's a terror for his size."

Starting at Leamington, P. G. rolled about from place to place until he at last emerged from Essex High School. He then put in a couple of years overseas ending up in the third division. Took his first yeat at Queen's but, seeing the error of his ways, came to Varsity. "Next stop?!!"

WII LIAM BOYD ELLIOTT

"He was fat, but we loved him."

It was in St. Catharines that Bill's infant shriek disturbed the placid stillness. He set tled down to growing and gleaning knowledge ir. the schools of St. Kitts, and fought a good war in the R.F.C., winning his captaincy and the D.F.C. He is a budding mechanical engineer which partially explains the nechanical regularity of his trips to Statement of the school o

MAX M. EVANS

"A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance."

Max made his debut at Bradford in 1901; strolled through Newmarket High School and joined the original 2T2 company in the role of precocious juvenile. Subsequently outrivalled Ben Hur, as official charioteer. Hockey, lacrosse, prospector, co-discoverer of Lou-Max mountain. A critical temperament enlivened by a dash of originality.

ALLAN KENNETH GREIG

"Thou didst smile."

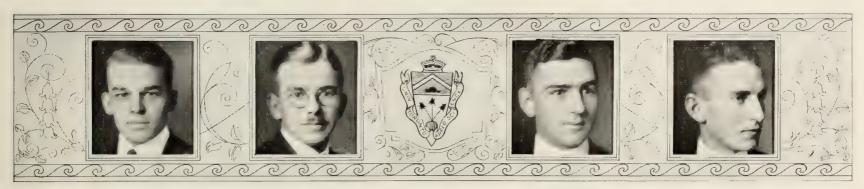

Toronto Nov. 22nd, 1899. Kenny has never regretted it. U.T.S. till June 1918. Warlike ambitions — R.M.C. — no luck — war over. 'Home' and "School," Dec. 1st, 1918. Invaluable man on S.P.S. rugby and hockey teams. Made Varsity intermediate intercollegiate champion rugby team 1920, and was n anager of the 1921 champions.

He'll succeed! The world smiles with him.

GEORGE HAMMOND HARLOW

"Still they gazed and still the wonder grew
That one small head could carry all he knew."

Made his debut at London, England, May 16, 1900. His first great step was across the Atlantic in 1910. Honour Matriculation at U.T.S. 1918. Spent 1918-22 at "SCHOOL" learning what makes the wheels go around and how to stop them. Chief Characteristic—Woman-Hater. See his Smile.

ALFRED LLOYD HELLIWELL

"I am that merry wanderer of the night."

Celebrated his "zero hour" at Toronto 1898. Received preparatory education at University Schools. Royal Military College and Canadian Field Artillery caused two years' break. His ability for sports was sacrificed in the struggle for knowledge. "Staff" fills his niche ir, the hall of fame for his musical talents and hearty goodfellowship.

SIMPSON WILLIAM HENRY

"That which I said then I said, But that which I say now is true."

Simpson started his career in 1899; although slow while starting, has been accelerating ever since. Entered Stratford Collegiate 1913, S.P.S. 1918. Enters his life work '22? "Time will tell."

ALLAN GIBSON HUME

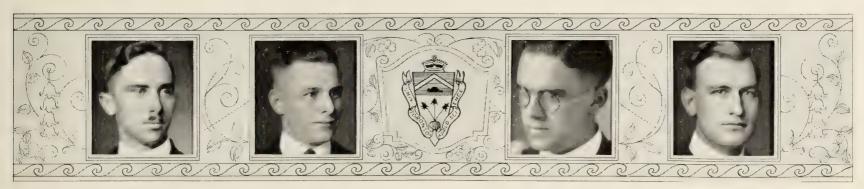

"Kind hearts are more than coronets, And simple faith than Norman blood."

The first day of January, 1896, saw the commencement of his career, in the city of Toronto. He attended Harbord C. I., entering S.P.S. 1913. Enlisted April 1916. After two years' army service, returned to School in 1919, taking Architecture, Draughting, and Mechanical Engineering.

HOWARD H. KERR

"All in all, he's a problem to puzzle the devil."

"H. H." hails from Seaforth. The cares and worries of his years at Seaforth C. I. and with the engineers of '22 set lightly on his shoulders. His uncanny skill and luck in getting results with little effort, has won him many admirers (?) Where does he go from here?

JOHN R. KIRKCONNELL

"There is nothing so becomes a man as modest stillness and humility."

A twin. July 25, 1900. Port Hope for seven years. Lindsay is his home. Entrance-Scholarship 1913. Since then he has won no other. Education wished on to hirr at Lindsay Collegiate. In 1918 duck shooting was poor so John came to School.

J. S. EDISON MacALLISTER

"In other respects, the best fellow in the world,"

The time,—Oct. 24, 1900. The place,— Huron County, Ont. After taking matric. '17, and honour matric. '18, from Humberside Collegiate, he turned engineer, class 2T2. Played interfaculty basketball '19, '20, and indoor baseball '21, '22. Without a peer as ladies' man; also as slide rule artist.

CHARLES RUTHERFORD MUMMERY

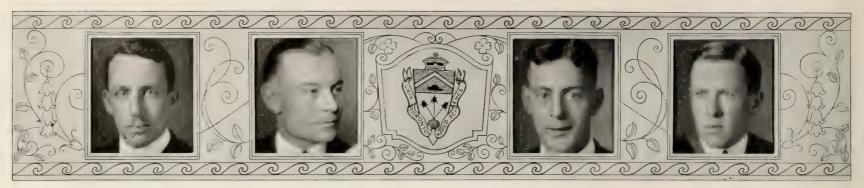

"He needs no enlogy; he speaks for himself,"

Chick was born on Jan. 14, 1901, in Hamilton of all places on the globe. Standing just over six feet in his sandals, and of corresponding breadth, it is just as well to be his friend. He is studious, carable and a baseball twirler of reputation. His fondness for thermodynamics and the other sex is to be regretted.

ARTHUR ROBERT MURPHY

"Nature made him, and ne'er made such another,"

On Mar. 26, 1900. Mike made his first appearance on this sphere at Essex. His early knowledge was acquired during a nomadic existence in Western Ontario schools, finally securing matriculation at Dutton. The luce of things mechanical led him to S.P.S. He has never been a fusser, poor fellow, but was always bugs on internal combustion engines.

W. RALPH PEARCE

"One man in a thousand, Will stick more close than a brother."

Seaforth had the honour April 6th, '99. Highfield and U.T.S. Khaki called in '17, interrupting search for knowledge for two years. Vice-President, "Specials" in '19. His place in sports was taken up by writing labs. for the rest of his group to copy. A great pal, aiways cheerful.

HOWARD JOSEPH PHILP

"Good humour is the health of the soul."

"Happy" was first heard from in Nestleton, 1899, matriculating from Lindsay C.I., entered Victoria in '20 Class. After arguing with street cars in A.S.C., and Hun two-scaters in R.F.C., entered School '22. Devotes his spare time to music and dancing, bridge, billiards and blondes. His wonderful jolly personality will go a long way towards success.

MORLEY VINCENT POWELL

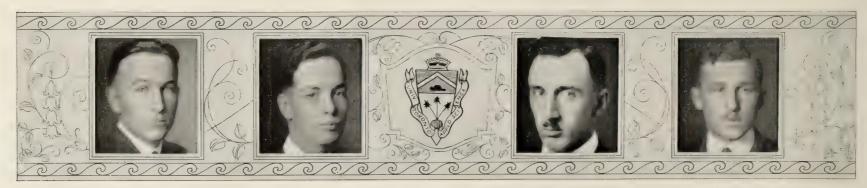

"And when a lady's in the case, You know all other things give place."

"M. V." was born at Pêterborough around 1895. He scraped through public school and collegiate, and came to Victoria, where he mis-spent two years. He then escaped to private life, and finally decided to learn something, so came to this knowledge factory. He is expected to disappear in April.

ARTHUR C. SANDERSON

"Can keep your head while those about you are losing theirs."

Art. was born in Toronto, 18th December, 1899. Attended U.T.S., 1912-1918. Then went to Yale for short term, October-December, 1918. He entered S.P.S., February, 1919. Since then the routine life has been his lot. However, he graduates this year and is sure to make a success.

VERNEY STEWART

"On with the dance, Let joy be unconfined."

Although hailing from Saskatchewan, Verney has one saving grace. He was born in Ontario at Kemptville, May 9th, 1898. For two years he laboured under the intense strains of an Arts course at Saskatchewan University, but learning of a "Better Ole" came down here to "School." Here's wishing him success.

GEORGE LOCKHART STUART

"Who loves not women, wine and song is dead the world unto."

Toronto, "home and beauty", April 29th, 1900. University Schools, Toronto, obliged by giving honour matric. Entered Science in '18. Member of the Athletic Directorate, '18-'19. Has always been a fair scholar. Answers to "Red" once in a while. His greatest enjoyment is dancing.

HOWARD GRANT THOMPSON

"O, Young Lochinvar is come out of the west!"

"Spike" made his first entry into social activities on August 21st, 1896, at Belmont. Ont. Belmont H.S. and London C.I. were reliminaries to "School" 1T8. European activities then claimed him, and he distinguished himself with the R.N.A.S. until 1919. Again with "School" 2T2, is Convenor of the Students' Court, and President of North Residence. A "dream" of a dancer.

STEPHEN WILLIAMS

"I'll warrant that man from drowning were the ship no stronger than a nut shell."

Time—January 8th, 1900. Place—Toronto. Enter "Steve". Primary Education, U.T.S., 1910-13; Ridley, 1913-17. Then R.M.C. for military training School 1920. Varsity Gym. team, Intercollegiate Champions, 1920. President Gym. Club, 1921-22. Rowed in tackweight eight, 1921. Chapter one ends June, 1922.

EDGAR JOHN WOELFLE

The Engineering Society

The Engineering Society of the University of Toronto, the official student organization of the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering, is the oldest engineering society in Canada. The School of Practical Science was founded in 1877 and it began operation under an agreement with University College. As the "school" prospered and the student registration increased, the need of an official student organization became manifest and the result was the founding of the Engineering Society in 1885 through the efforts of T. Kennard Thompson and Herbert Bowman; Dean Galbraith was the first president. By 1886 the membership of the Society had reached 104 with four honorary members.

The original Society was designed to meet the needs of the students of the "School" both individually and collectively, the membership being open to all at a nominal fee, but students were not compelled to join until 1893 when a compulsory fee was instituted. The Engineering Society as it exists at present is a student organization composed of students and administered by an executive of students elected annually by the members of the Society. The executive, of which the President is the chairman, consists of 15 members and contains representatives from each of the four years and the five engineering clubs.

The Society operates a Student Supply Department through which all materials and supplies used by the students are available at a low cost. The Engineering Society is composed of five engineering clubs representing the eight departments in Applied Science. General meetings of the Society are held alternate weeks, in the interests of Engineering in general, the best Engineers and public men of the day being procured as the speakers. Each of the five clubs hold meetings monthly at which matters of local importance too technical and detailed for general consideration, are discussed. The clubs also assist socially in enabling the members of each department to become better acquainted. The Society through its executive promotes all the social functions of the faculty which consist of the Annual Dinner, Dance and the newly created "Stunt Night." Each of these functions in accordance with the policy of the present executive is carried out by a committee, the chairman being chosen from the executive and the personnel chosen by the chairman from the members of the Society. The publication known as "Transactions" issued by the Society from 1886 until 1907, was replaced in that year by a monthly magazine "Applied Science" which was continued till 1915. This year "Transactions" will be published in one volume with the "Year Book." The Society coöperates with the "Varsity" by appointing a chairman of the Press Committee, which committee is responsible for the reporting of the faculty news. A small publication, "Toike Oike," is issued every "now and then" by the executive.

The President of the Society and the presidents of each of the four years compose the Students' Administrative Council of the Faculty of Applied Science, which council forms an integral part of the Students' Administration Council of the University, and which is entrusted by the Senate with the governing and disciplining of the student body.

The Society coöperates with the Athletic Directorate of the University in the carrying on of sport within the faculty. It also coöperates with the Debating Club and the Students' Christian Association, both of which are local units of the University organizations of the same names. The Engineering Society is interested in and influences every phase of the student life.

Forestry Building

To the Graduating Class in Forestry

DEAN HOWE

DEAN HOWE

The education of a forestry student centers upon and revolves about living trees, since the object of the forestry profession is the production of trees for utilization by the various wood-using industries. So long as nature unaided produces trees in quality fit for the manufacturing arts and in quantity as great as that used by lumbermen and destroyed by disease, fire and wind, there is no economic necessity for creating trained brain power to be applied to the production of trees in order to supply the manufacturing industries. Such need develops slowly and is dependent upon many economic and industrial factors. It has taken more than one hundred years for certain European countries to attain their policy of carefully guarded and intelligently tended forests. We in an industrially young country are now beginning to realize, after only thirty years of forestry propaganda, that it is both illogical and expensive to destroy and build anew after many years what might have been kept continuously productive under intelligent direction. The oft-repeated statements that over onehalf the commercially forested area of Canada, about 1,000,000 square miles has been burned, and that forest destruction by fire still continues practically unabated, except in unusually wet seasons, in some of the most valuable forest regions in the country, are bearing fruit, and the significance of such facts in relation to the future prosperity of Canada is beginning to penetrate the public consciousness. Recent events such as the soaring prices of lumber and newsprint, the disclosures of callous indifference to the just dues of the people on the part of those charged with the administration of the forests in certain portions of the country, the possibility of strained international relations over pulpwood exports, the scramble for supplies in far remote regions of the country on the part of certain great wood-using industries have also focused the attention of the public upon the necessity of conserving our forest resources. It is the work of a forester to keep the natural forest areas continuously productive in terms of commercially valuable trees—trees whose products annually increase the wealth of the country by nearly a half billion dollars.

C. D. McGILVRAY

As the time approaches when you begin your professional career my earnest wish is that you may prosper. While wishing you prosperity I would, nevertheless. enjoin on you to be guided by the impulses to a noble life and high character. The more we see of events the more convinced we become that our fate or destiny in life is largely a reflex of character. Cherish therefore every noble, generous impulse. every true principle, every right thought and deed. By so doing your character will be strengthened, your influence more constant, and your opportunities enlarged. What we ordinarily consider as opportunity is often presented in our lives. You should be prepared to avail yourself of it. Alas for the person who considers he has no opportunity. Through preparedness you will be able to grasp and take better advantage of opportunity. In times like these you are truly commencing your life work during a period of transition and re-development. The upbuilding of nations on an enduring basis of mutual goodwill and confidence may call for a larger measure of service and sacrifice. May your professional conduct be guided by the incidence of national service and high standards. Fortunately, it is becoming more fully realized that veterinary science is enlarging its usefulness in public service. This is being accomplished through the various branches under municipal and government auspices. An effort has been made through academic studies to properly train and equip you so that you may more adequately realize and perform the services expected of you. At the same time you must understand that your training is not completed through academic studies. To become fully developed it must be continued throughout your professional life.

May success attend you in your efforts throughout your future career.

In Memoriam

Edward Alexander Andrew Grange, V.S., M.Sc., formerly Principal of the Ontario Veterinary College, passed away July 25th at his home, 34 Chicora Avenue, Toronto, after a long illness. Dr. Grange, who was in his 74th year, was compelled to give up active connection with the College about three years ago, retiring with the title of Principal Emeritus.

Dr. Grange, who was of Irish descent, was born in London, Eng. He was the son of the late Lieutenant-Colonel George Grange, at one time President of the Guelph and Galt Railway, and who, from 1840 to 1876, was Sheriff of Wellington County. After receiving his education by private tuition and in private schools, he graduated from the Ontario Veterinary College in 1873. He was a lecturer in the College from 1875 to 1882, and from 1883 to 1897 he was professor of Veterinary Science at Michigan Agricultural College, becoming Principal of Detroit Veterinary College in the latter year. From 1899 to 1908 he conducted veterinary research work in New York State, and was then appointed Principal of the Ontario Veterinary College in succession to the late Dr. Andrew Smith. In 1908 he obtained the degree of M.Sc. Dr. Grange, in addition to being an effective and popular lecturer, frequently contributed articles to veterinary science journals. He was a member of numerous veterinary and other scientific societies, and held honorary membership in the Alpha Psi Society of Cornell University and the New York Alumni Association of the same college. In religion he was an Anglican. Throughout his life he was closely identified with veterinary education and other activities of the profession. He enjoyed a wide professional acquaintance and devoted a life of usefulness to the advancement of veterinary science.

The funeral service was held on Wednesday, July 27th, at St. George's Church.

This Association was organized for the purpose of promoting the investigation and discussion of subjects pertaining to Veterinary Science and the live-stock industry. It is also the aim of the Association to conduct these meetings on a basis strictly adhering to parliamentary rules, thus preparing the student to conduct or take part in future meetings in a business-like manner.

A great number of the diseases which are causing considerable economic loss to the country have been discussed, especially the means for their control and suppression. Besides discussion by the students, prominent men connected with the live-stock industry are invited to address the Association from time to time during the college year. Subjects as professional ethics and veterinary jurisprudence are also dealt with.

C

Let us hope that the Association will continue to be of service to the student, helping him to cope with every emergency, when he sets out in life for himself and exposes himself to public opinion, as young professional men must.

PRINCIPAL GANDIER

PRINCIPAL GANDIER

I congratulate you on completing that course of training in Arts and Theology which the accumulated experience of the past has decided to be the best preparation for the great and holy task to which you are called in the Christian Ministry. The first epistle to Timothy deprecates the appointment of a novice as a bishop of souls. Your long course at college, and your experience in summer mission fields, has delivered you from this incapacity. Successive years of training have tested the fixity of your purpose, taken from you foolish self-confidence, delivered you from many crudities of thought and manner. broadened vour outlook.

widened your knowledge of men and things, and given a humble consciousness of the powers necessary to take your place among the pastors and teachers of the Church.

After the long discipline and correcting fellowships of college life you will not be easily puffed up nor quickly discouraged, but will move as leaders among men, quiet, steady, strong.

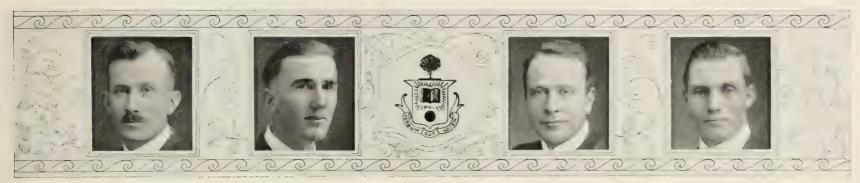

But you cannot rest in any training of the past however thorough, or any acquisition of knowledge however great. It will be yours week by week to lead the worship, guide the studies, suggest the religious thought, quicken the conscience, inspire the will, shape the conduct and comfort the heart of scores or hundreds of your fellow human beings; and only he is fit to do this, or has any right to attempt it, who is in constant fellowship with God through Jesus Christ, and constantly learning of men and their needs through literature and life. Supported by your fellow-men and freed from worldly care that you may give yourselves wholly to the ministry of the word and prayer, you are to be "men apart from men"—specialists. It is justly expected that each one of you will be the student of the community in which he dwells, the prophet on the watch-tower discerning the signs of the times and voicing the will of God, the Specialist in religion,—the man who keeps his contact with the unseen and is a living witness to the fact that men do not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. But each of you must also be a man among men, in closest human sympathy with all who need help. Jesus the Son of Man mingled with the humblest and even the sinfullest; knew the weaknesses and frailties of common people without despising them; understood the pride of mothers in their babes, the play of children in the street; felt the shepherd's loss when one sheep had disappeared, the careful housewife's agony when one of her few silver coins had been mislaid. And as representatives of this Son of Man, nothing that brings human loss or pertains to human well-being can be a matter of indifference to you. Little things are great to little men, and nothing will ever be trifling to you, on which may turn the joy or sorrow of a human soul.

It will be yours on the one hand to find the great principles of conduct and the noblest emotions of human personality amid humble surroundings and in people of narrow outlook and circumscribed sphere of service. On the other hand, it will be yours to give the weakest and the most obscure a consciousness of their place within the sweep of the Divine purpose in human history, and to have them share consciously in the all-inclusive, world-mission of the Church.

The graduate of Knox who has the humblest group of souls to shepherd in the name of the Church and for the purposes of the kingdom, need envy no man his work in life.

PRINCIPAL O'MEARA

PRINCIPAL O'MEARA

I am glad that the keynote chosen for this year's TORONTONENSIS is Leadership. It seems to me that in this word is focused the very raison d'être of a College or University, at least in Canada, and during the days through which we are now passing.

The rapid movements and the unlimited possibilities in every department of modern life constitute a claimant call for those who can lead. It was certainly the case during the Great War. Both in the control and administration affairs at the home base and in every department of military and naval organization and activity at the Front, the outstanding need was for men of leadership and of vision. There are those among us who still think that if that one great outstanding leader of men, Lord Kitchener, had not been betrayed, and thus prevented from carrying to completion the objects of his visit to Russia, the whole history of the latter period of the war would have been changed.

What I feel led to say to every man going forth from our University and its Colleges this year is that the greatest need of Canada and the world to-day is for men who have learned the secret of leading others in the paths of righteousness, of enterprise and of service. There are plenty of men willing and ready to follow, but comparatively few who can lead.

In no calling is this quality more to be desired or can be used to better advantage than that of the Christian ministry. But leadership often entails loneliness, discouragement, and an infinite amount of patience. One of the greatest Bishops in England years ago wrote to a young man starting out upon his life work the following words of friendly warning: "He that cannot bear a good many wet blankets of waiting, suspense, disappointment, etc., at his first start, will never stand the buckets of cold water he must put up with before he gets home."

Canada with its tractless territory, Canada with its limitless resources of mine, forest and field, Canada with its ever increasing cosmopolitan population is before you. You have in your possession in the Bible and the wonderful Gospel of Jesus Christ that which Canada needs more than anything else in the world if she is to be true to herself and her great opportunity. Could any man ask a finer chance, a bigger job? So equipped, go forth to be leaders in one of the greatest lands and in the most glorious cause in the wide world to-day, and may God crown your life and ministry with success.

The Ontario College of Pharmacy

To the Graduating Class of Pharmacy

by DEAN HEEBNER

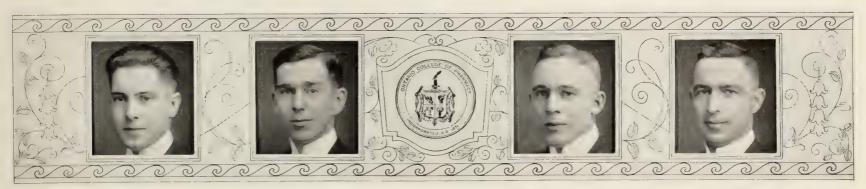

DEAN HEEBNER

The Pharmacist is both a business man and a professional one and the general public's recognition that our calling has a professional aspect is one of the most valuable possessions and we should strive to advance our standing as professional men.

There has been recently a considerable development of the commercial side of the drug store and we are in great danger of becoming mere buyers and sellers of goods. Some pharmacists now seem anxious to exchange their birthright of recognition as professional men for a mess of pottage in the form of commercialism. If we are to continue to be more than mere tradesmen, it is necessary for pharmacists to realize this present danger and to overcome it by living up to the traditions of their profession.

The ideal pharmacist is the one who has retained his professional standing and used it to aid him in achieving commercial success. There is no incompatibility between professionalism and commercialism in pharmacy if they are developed side by side; each in its own proper proportion and not at the expense of the other. It is obvious that a man cannot become a successful pharmacist unless he is a good business man, but neither can he become a successful pharmacist unless he is a pharmacist.

Hence, pharmacists must continue to show that they are professional men with professional training and standards and be capable of assuming the serious responsibilities of the dispenser of medicines by having acquired a thorough grounding in the basic subjects of pharmacy.

The Ontario College of Education

The Ontario College of Education is the University's professional School of Education. Founded in December, 1906, as a Faculty of Education, in succession to the Ontario Normal College at Hamilton, it assumed its present name in 1920 when the two Ontario Faculties of Education were discontinued and the training of secondary teachers was concentrated in Toronto.

The work of the College of Education may be considered under two heads—the professional training of teachers, who, on the satisfactory completion of their courses, are granted Provincial certificates by the Department of Education; and the graduate research work in education, the end of which is one of the higher degrees of the University.

The professional training of teachers comprises the preparation of graduates in Arts, Applied Science, Agriculture, and Commerce for work in the secondary schools of Ontario, and of teachers already in the schools for special service in Household Science. Graduates from practically every university of Canada, as well as from several of those of the British Isles, are now in attendance in the one-year courses for secondary teachers. On commencing their work they make a choice, based on their several predilections and previous academic preparation, either of a course predominantly scientific and mathematical, or of one predominantly linguistic and humanistic. To this basic programme, the end of which is a High School Assistant's certificate, or in the case of the Honour Graduate in Arts, a High School Specialist's certificate. they add the choice of a minor course selected from the following: public school methods, physical training, art. Those who select public school methods obtain a certificate which is valid in public elementary schools. From this group of candidates will probably be drawn many of the inspectors, training school instructors, and educational experts of the future. The additional qualifications and certificates in art or physical training are a response to the rapidly expanding demands of the High School in these subjects. The one-year course for teachers of Household Science comprises theoretical and practical work in cooking, sewing, and household management, as well as practice in the teaching of these subjects in the schools of Toronto.

All courses of the College of Education for teachers' certificates include practice in teaching under supervision in Public or High Schools. The University Schools (U. T. S.) are the practice schools of the College. The buildings of these schools, only as yet partially completed, serve to house both the Schools and the College. The Schools provide an 8 or 9 year course of study, extending from the work of Form III. of the Public School to Honour Matriculation. Although scarcely more than 10 years old, they have won a leading place among the secondary schools of Ontario.

Since 1920 none but graduates have been admitted to the courses for secondary school teachers. The College of Education is, therefore, practically a post-graduate institution for the training of teachers—the only one in Canada, if not in the whole world. As might be expected, it places special emphasis upon graduate work in education. Since its inception in 1906. it has undertaken courses leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Pedagogy and Doctor of Pedagogy. These were, at first, extra-mural degrees. In 1914 summer schools were established for the training of candidates for the Bachelor of Pedagogy and Doctor of Pedagogy degrees. Attended at first by a bare score of candidates, this part of the work has steadily developed until in 1921 over 70 candidates, drawn from every province of the Dominion, as well as from four States of the United States, were attracted to Toronto. So great has been the demand for graduate work for the degrees in Pedagogy and for the Master's degree in Arts, that regular courses during the winter session now form part of the college programme.

To assist teachers who wish to give full time to graduate work, the College now has at its disposal four or five research scholarships, valued at not less than $500 each. When all plans are in full working order, and when the additions to the buildings have been completed, the College expects to be not only a school for the training of teachers for the schools of Ontario, but also a research institution strong enough in staff and equipment to attract advanced students of education from all parts of the Dominion.

Joint Executive Students' Administrative Council

"When they do agree their unanimity is wonderful."

The Joint Executive of the Students' Administrative Council, which for some time existed merely by virtue of an agreement between the Men's and Women's Administrative Councils, is now since last year an officially recognized and regularly functioning institution in the University. Its purpose is to act as a connecting link and unifying force between the two Councils and to direct and finance those activities and publications in which the interests of both men and women students are alike involved.

The Joint Executive consists, as the name implies, of the Executive of the Men's Council and the Executive of the Women's Council. Thus the men upon it are the Men's President, who acts as chairman of the joint body; the Vice-President, who is also ex-officio chairman of the Advisory Board to the "Varsity"; the General Secretary-Treasurer, who is Secretary-Treasurer of the Joint Executive; the convenors of the three permanent Council committees, the Athletic and Discipline Committee (better known, perhaps, as the Student Court), the Committee on Literary Organizations and the Committee on Musical Organizations; the Varsity representative; the TORONTONENSIS representative; the Council representative on the Hart House Board of Stewards. The women members are the Presidents of the Undergraduate Associations or the senior representatives respectively from University College, Victoria College, St. Hilda's College, St. Michael's College and the Faculty of Medicine. The President of the Women's Council acts as Vice-Chairman of the Joint Executive and the Secretary-Treasurer as Assistant Secretary-Treasurer. All these representatives are elected to their positions in the first place by the undergraduates of the various colleges and faculties so that the Joint Executive as a whole is thoroughly representative of every phase of activity and every shade of opinion among the University student body. In a group so constituted complete agreement on all points is neither to be expected nor desired, but the way in which men and women of different traditions and widely varying viewpoints have found it possible, without in any way sacrificing individual interests, to work together harmoniously in the discussion and promotion of University affairs, augurs well for the future.

Among the numerous responsibilities of the Joint Executive is the publication of the undergraduates' newspaper, the "Varsity," which takes so important a part in our life here. As an agent for the dispersion of University news and as a medium for student opinion it is difficult to over-estimate its value. The "Varsity" is actually produced by its own special staff, but the financing and general direction rest with the Joint Executive by whom the Editor is appointed and to whom he is responsible. Other publications of the Joint Executive include "Torontonensis," the appearance of which is anticipated with great eagerness by the graduating classes, and that handy little booklet, the "Students' Directory," which is such a great convenience to all members of the University. The General Secretary-Treasurer acts as business manager of all these publications.

To mention the publications, however, is to glance at merely one side of the manifold activities in which the Joint Executive interests itself. They make up, it is true, the most important item on its agenda, but every problem affecting the welfare and interests of the students lies within its province if both men and women are involved. And the experience of the last two years has shown conclusively that those problems are more adequately dealt with when both men and women co-operate for their solution. The account of the Joint Executive in Torontonensis, 1921, closed with the words: "This new organization has within it a splendid power—the power of growth." The prediction which those words implied has been more than fulfilled, and we can thankfully record another notable stage reached in that process of development reached, too, with a happy absence of those "growing pains" which so often assail a new institution in its early days. Notwithstanding what it has achieved, the Joint Executive still has the power of further growth, and there is literally no limit to the extension of its usefulness, if only its wide possibilities be seen and a concerted attempt made to realize them.

JOINT EXECUTIVE OF THE STUDENTS' ADMINISTRATION COUNCIL.

Students' Administrative Council

A member of the Students' Administrative Council briefly reviewing the events of the past academic year will find amid considerable routine business of a necessary and useful but not noteworthy nature two items of particular interest standing out. One is the prominent place which the Students' Court has taken in regulating student affairs—the other is the long over-due revision of the Council constitution.

The year has shown conclusively, if it was ever doubtful, that the Athletic and Discipline Committee, constituting when acting in its formal capacity the Students' Court, is by far the most important unit within the Council. The importance of its functions can be the more confidently asserted in that we are now in a position to judge by the fruit of actual experience. In the article which appeared in last year's TORONTO-NENSIS under this heading the writer congratulated the Council on the fact that at last the Court was duly and constitutionally established with full powers, and then went on to add that so far the Court had fortunately had no opportunity to exert those powers or to test its efficiency. That defect—if defect it was—has now been removed. It is sadly true that the Court could only be thoroughly tried out through the occurrence of derelictions of student manners and morals! However that may be, in the past few months several occasions of convoking that body have come and gone, and we can now fairly sum up the situation on the basis of fact, not conjecture. We think we are justified in saying that at the present moment the Students' Court, by the smooth working of its machinery, and the judiciousness of its verdicts, enjoys a confidence and a prestige among the student body which is built on a solid and enduring foundation. No little part of the success it has had hitherto, be it noted, is due to the cordial sympathy and cooperation of the President and Caput of the University. With those two influences behind it, student loyalty and the trust of the authorities, the Court can carry on in the serene conviction that there is an assured place for it in the University and a good work for it to do. We hope that it may never have to meet again, but it is a pardonable satisfaction to us to feel that when the situation arises we have a body to deal with it and that it will do so satisfactorily.

The other outstanding item mentioned above is the preparation of a revised draft of the constitution, one of those unwelcome, exacting tasks which one is glad to have finished. Not that the former constitution did not serve the purpose tolerably well, but the lapse of a number of years had brought numerous amendments, and there was also room for improvement along the lines of conciseness, clarity, arrangement and wording. A competent committee was set to work, and after considerable painstaking discussion on the basis of their labours, the work has just recently been brought to completion. The constitution is now, it is to be hoped, in a form which will obviate the necessity of any alteration for many years. It is the intention of the Council to publish it in convenient printed form in the near future for the benefit of students and all who, whether within or without the University of Toronto, are interested in student organizations.

While those are the things that occur to the mind as deserving of special mention, it would be misleading if the impression were given that they by any means exhaust the activities of the Council. It is a fact to be noticed and a tendency to be guarded against that in proportion as an institution grows older and perfects its running machinery, people get a little too much inclined to take it for granted. Some faint trace of that attitude and the slackening of interest in Council matters consequent thereon has been detected of late—certainly not enough to worry about, but enough perhaps to justify a warning. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon our readers that the usefulness of your Council is measured by your own constant interest. We feel sure that a hint is enough and that the Students' Council can look forward to a long life of everextending service to the University. There is plenty for it to do. One of the things, for example, which fell to the lot of the Literary Organizations Committee this year was making the arrangements for the revival of Intercollegiate debating in Toronto—arrangements which resulted in a most successful debate in Convocation Hall and a creditable victory for U. of T. And so with musical activities and everything which in any way concerns the students' interests—there is no space here to chronicle in detail the manifold activities of the Council nor to attempt to estimate its value in facilitating co-operation between the various faculties and colleges and in co-ordinating the activities which they have in common.

To the graduates of 1922 the Students' Council wishes all success and prosperity in the wider field upon which they are about to enter.

Women Students' Administrative Council

The Women Students' Administrative Council is in the sixth year of its existence, and is now a recognized force in college life. The Council is the only body which has official administrative and disciplinary powers for the whole University, and its activities are varied and sometimes curious.

A free Book Exchange for women is conducted in the office and up to the Christmas vacation approximately five hundred books had changed hands.

Through the courtesy of the Men's Athletic Directorate, a section has been reserved for women at all intercollegiate football and hockey games, and the tickets handled entirely through the Council. That this privilege is appreciated by the women is evidenced by the fact that the six hundred and thirty tickets for the Varsity-McGill football game in October, and an additional hundred generously offered by the Men's Council were gone in the twinkling of an eye, and a number of enthusiasts lined up for the standing room rush!

Tickets for the Special Convocation for Lord Byng of Vimy were also handled by the Council, and harrowing moments were spent in a fair apportioning of the three hundred tickets.

The disciplinary efforts of the Council up to the time of writing have mainly consisted in requests to various organizations and individuals that they should discontinue certain practices.

The chief business of the Council is conducted through the Joint Executive of the two Councils which directs various important student publications and activities of interest to all undergraduates.

The Toronto Newman Club

In October, 1921, the Toronto Newman Club celebrated its eighth birthday. In looking up the record of the Club, one year after its inauguration, we find the TORONTONENSIS saying:

"The object of Newman Club is to promote a spirit of comradeship among the Catholic students, and to encourage mutual assistance in the duties and practices of the Catholic faith."

This object has been admirably realized; the past eight years have been teeming with activity, and the registration at the Club to-day is well over the three hundred mark. Such a registration proves that the bond between Catholic students is very real, and that a strong spirit of comradeship pervades the Club.

The activities of the Newman Club are varied so as to appeal to the many as well as to the few. The celebration of daily mass as well as the Sunday sermon, which is peculiarly adapted to meet the needs and solve the problems of University students, goes a long way towards realizing the primary end of Newman Club. The advantage of having a resident pastor, who is ready to devote his whole time to the needs of the students, is another advantage—one which few other clubs of this kind possess.

The intellectual and the social enter very largely into the life of the Club. A schedule of oratorical contests is drawn up by the Canadian Society of Newman Club at the beginning of the year. Such contests are for the women as well as for the men and keen interest is shown in them by the Club members. Lectures are given at intervals by various prominent men under the auspices of the different societies formed within the Club.

The social aspect is perhaps the one by which Newman Club is best known to the average University student. It has been customary in the past to hold informal dances in the Club House almost every week. The registration is now so large, however, that this form of entertainment has been changed. Tea dances are being held regularly in Columbus Hall throughout the year, and an annual Club dance is given in February. Mock parliaments, mock trials and musicales take a prominent part in the Club entertainments.

Last year, in order to keep in touch with the rapidly increasing number of the Alumnae and to offer one more interest to the Club members, a monthly paper was issued, "The Torch." The paper is flourishing, and has become a necessity of the Club since it fills a need that was none the less great because its existence was only lately realized.

Every Catholic student of Toronto University owes a debt of gratitude to Newman Club for what it offers him spiritually, intellectually and socially. It exists only to serve the Catholic students, and gives such service as few other organizations can boast of.

The Anglican Club

The Anglican Club is a University organization of which the primary object is to bring the Anglican women students into closer contact and fellowship. This aim of the Club is largely accomplished by a series of meetings, most of which take place at the Church of England Deaconess House.

At these meetings the members have not only a very delightful opportunity to "get together," but they are also able to do social service work. The making of surgical dressings is the most usual outlet for the energies of the Club. At almost every meeting some interesting speaker is asked to be present and to deliver an informal address to the members as they work. By this means, matters of great interest in foreign mission fields and in domestic social service work are brought to the knowledge of the Club. Upon the occasion of an exceptionally interesting speaker a more formal meeting is called.

Hikes and skating parties are often held under the auspices of the association. The most outstanding feature of the present year, along that line, was, however, a very charming Christmas party and toy shower.

The Anglican Club meets a very present need at the University and, though still in its infancy, it is justifying its presence by its work.

The Hart House Sketch Club

The Hart House Sketch Club was formed in January, 1917, by a few far-seeing students. Until this year the Club was known as the University of Toronto Sketch Club, and to Mr. Joseph Bannigan—then President of the Engineering Society—is perhaps most due the initial organization.

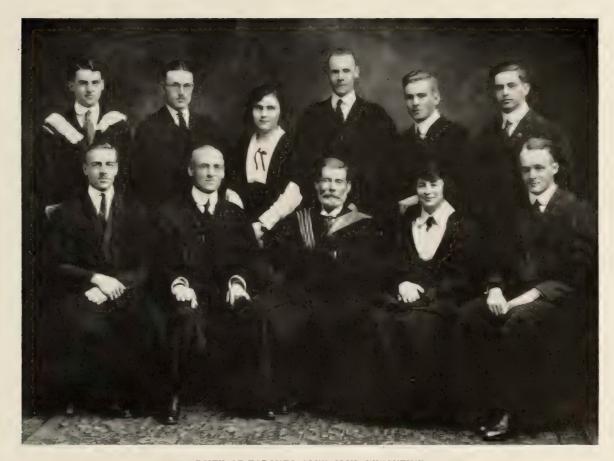

During the first two years the Club was rather nomadic, being obliged to hold their meetings when and where convenient. Feeling that such an organization should become an essential factor of the student life, the executive convinced the donors of Hart House that such was the case, and consequently the Club was given the beautiful Sketch Room in which to carry on their good work.

Last year marked the first real advance of the Club. Meetings were held throughout the winter in the Sketch Room, when illustrated talks were given by established artists, and these were supplemented by visits to the "Grange" to view each of the several exhibitions during the year.

This year the Club has made remarkable progress. As well as the illustrated talks and exhibitions a special course in elementary drawing has been started. These weekly classes are conducted under the supervision of capable artists and are aimed to provide means whereby a man with enthusiasm—previous training being unnecessary—may improve his drawing under the best possible artistic supervision. The Club is also vested with the full charge of the annual exhibition of pictures in Hart House.

The ideals of this Society are to promote and maintain a genuine interest in the Fine Arts—and more particularly the Graphic Arts—among the members of Hart House, graduate, undergraduate and members of the faculty. The real need is to provide some essence of art culture among the undergraduates, who have felt that such has been sadly lacking, so that they may be the art missionaries of the future, and that some day a Fine Arts faculty will be opened when Art will become an essential factor in the life of the nation, as it was in the days of Greece.

The University of Toronto Rifle Association

The University of Toronto Rifle Association is a most representative body, drawing, as it does, its membership of about 200 from the staff and undergraduates of all faculties and colleges.

The Association was founded in 1902. It has had a healthy and vigorous growth.

On the outbreak of war all the rifles and supplies were turned over to the C. O. T. C. and activities of the Association were suspended.

On the outbreak of war, while the authorization of the C. O. T. C. was still pending, members of the universities were enlisted in the Rifle Association in order that military instruction could be given them until the University unit was formed.

The Association was reorganized in 1920 with Prof. C. N. Cochrane as President, and is rapidly developing its pre-war strength due to interest aroused in this branch of sport during the late war.

During the past season practices have been held at Long Branch Ranges which are reached by a pleasant, invigorating trolley ride along the lake shore.

This association is purely a civilian organization, the membership fee of which is two dollars per year. Indeed, it would be hard to find, for the same investment, any sport or amusement at all comparable with rifle shooting. Marksmanship demands more composure, judgment, perception and self-control than any other form of diversion.

During the winter months practices are carried on at the new Hart House indoor range with Government service rifles and gallery ammunition. Through the generosity of the Massey Foundation this range is now one of the best equipped indoor ranges in existence from the standpoint of convenience and safety. Great credit is due the association this year for having equipped the indoor range with permanent lockers for the rifles and equipment of each faculty.

Interest is quickened in the outdoor practices at Long Branch by keen competition for the silver medal of the Ontario Rifle Association; the Tyro Medal, the gift of Mr. E. L. C. Forster, a graduate and former secretary of the association; the inter-university Challenge Trophy, presented by the Dominion Rifle Association, and the DeLury Challenge Shield, presented by Prof. DeLury for annual interfaculty competition.

The annual match was held on October 27th, 1921, and the DeLury shield was won by the Dental Rifle Team, the captain of which, Mr. H. C. McDonald, won the O.R.A. Silver Medal.

The Tyro Medal was won by Mr. Shemnitz, of S.P.S.

On November 7 the Inter-universities competition took place, and this handsome trophy was again won by the U. T. R. A. This cup was also won by Toronto in 1908 and 1909.

Negotiations are now under way for the formation of a rifle league for annual indoor and outdoor competition with R. M. C. and other universities.

The officers of the Association are:
President—Prof. C. N. Cochrane.
Treasurer—Prof. F. B. Kenrick.

The University of Toronto Y.M.C.A.

In form of organization the University of Toronto Y.M.C.A is like the University itself, a federation. In it are comprised six distinct associations operating among the faculties of Medicine and Science and of University, Dental, Veterinary and Pharmacy Colleges. These local associations each with its own executive co-operate through the Federal Cabinet in matters touching the common interest. The local associations are linked up Nationally by the General Committee of the Student Christian Movement of Canada. All the Associations in the University of Toronto are integral parts of the National Movement.

The purpose of the University of Toronto Y.M.C.A. is to discover the mind of Jesus and to express His spirit in every relationship. In its fellowship men are given an opportunity to find out the greatest human need and to equip themselves to satisfy that need. It is the general concensus of opinion among political economists, scientists, statesmen, journalists, military leaders, church leaders, and others most prominent in world affairs, that what humanity needs is the religion of Jesus in a pure and anadulterated form. Men need His Spirit of love and friendship, together with His earnest conviction and fearlessness. History has proved that economic systems, scientific discoveries, governments, the pen and sword are all in themselves powerless to solve the world's problems. Men with the spirit of Jesus working through these systems can meet the need and establish the Kingdom of God. To live this life of Jesus is a grand adventure, and life itself may be the price one is compelled to pay for His conviction. Jesus said this was the only way to understand the meaning of life, however, and he who will not venture everything will never really live or lead. The main inspiration of this Student Christian Movement is derived from a study of the Bible—the climax of which is found in the records of the life and teaching of Jesus. The Association regards as its primary activity the honest study of this life through informal study groups under the leadership of men who are willing to embark on a voyage of discovery with their groups.

The activities of the Association seek to give practical expression to the spirit of friendship and service which such study inevitably stimulates. Thus, the student, when he comes to the University in the autumn, is given a handbook prepared with a view to its usefulness among the men of his Faculty; he is aided in the selection of a suitable roominghouse; through the Book Exchange he is enabled to dispose of text-books which he does not require and to purchase used books at moderate prices; if he is a freshman he is invited to a reception, where he may meet his classmates. The Association seeks also to carry this friendly spirit of campus service bevond the University into community service. By working through the established social agencies in the city the University Association introduces students into such activities as the teaching of English to foreigners and the leadership of boys' clubs. Such activities as these, while not great contributions in themselves, serve to bring university men into something more than academic contact with the human side of social and industrial life.

The various Summer Conferences have already been the means of developing a National Student consciousness among Canadian students, but Christian students must have a vision much broader than the Dominion of Canada, and interests much wider. The students of Europe and Asia and other lands beyond the seas are our brothers, and when they need our help we must come to their assistance. We cannot live to ourselves even if we desire it. Through closest co-operation with the Student Volunteer Movement the Student Christian Movement of Canada seeks to carry the spirit of service to the uttermost parts of the earth.

International Students' Association

About five years ago, when the University of Toronto was rapidly becoming an educational centre for students from every corner of the globe, an association known as the Foreign Students' Association sprang into existence. The great World War, into which so many nations of the world were plunged, and the rapid succession of events following close upon the cessation of hostilities were all contributory factors in knitting the nations more closely together, irrespective of race, colour or religion. So now we are beginning to think internationally, and this year instead of the Foreign Students' Association the International Students' Association makes its debut.

The purpose of the Association is to promote a friendly relationship and mutual understanding among future world leaders by drawing more closely those bonds of brotherhood which already bind the members of the Association.

The last time The Varsity made its little bow through the medium of Torontonensis was in 1919, and the closing lines of its message then portrayed the future as a challenge which succeeding staffs must accept. Looking back on the sixty issues that have gone to make up the forty-first volume of the paper it seems that the challenge has been accepted and victory has come to the staff.

Overcoming the many handicaps that face any body of volunteer workers, who must sacrifice work-time and play-time for the common cause, the staff this year has succeeded, perhaps better than ever before, in doing the greatest good to the greatest number, and this with a decreasing instead of an increasing number of technical mistakes in head-writing, typography and make-up.

This is the result of several changes in the former policy, notably the institution of the "shift" system of reporting, by which a reporter is permanently assigned to one definite issue of each week. Other contributing factors are the increased interest in Varsity work being shown by the undergraduates, which has resulted in a larger staff than ever before and a number of necessary additions to the office equipment.

The volume also marks the inauguration of a new arrangement with regard to editorial service. Instead of the Editor being appointed from October until March, as heretofore, appointments are now made from January to December, thus insuring continuity and enabling the Editor when he lands at Varsity to begin the fall term to know beforehand the obstacles he must overcome.

In still another particular, this year's Varsity has been unique. On the occasion of the visits of Baron Byng and Admiral Beatty to the University, a "special extra" was got out by the staff. It was only a small one page sheet, but it marked a new departure for Varsity, and was, in fact, the first extra ever published by any Canadian university newspaper.

A challenge was handed to the staff when it commenced its work last fall. In all fairness it should be allowed to hand one to succeeding staffs. The Varsity has almost six thousand subscribers. Such support deserves more than tri-weekly news service. The demand for a daily paper is growing ever more insistent. What preparation future staffs make for this radical step, and to what extent they will succeed, time alone can tell. It will mean many changes in the system of management; many improvements in and additions to the technical equipment; and what is most important of all, a greater amount of self-sacrifice on the part of the volunteer workers. But the demand must be heeded, and from the work of the past there is reason for confidence for the future.

It seems most fitting to conclude with a paragraph from the pen of "MacCuaig," whose humorous news items have received such appreciative comment during the past year.

"Another minute, and we shall write '30' to this last trial of your patience; a few weeks, and some of us will write it to our Varsity days; a few years at the most, and all of us will have to write it to our little life. Let our every thought and action so tend that the great Editor-in-Chief may ever approve and in the end of the days when He takes His blue pencil to your story and mine, He may mark it O.K. for a two-column head on the front page."

In Memoriam

"Prof." Tailliams
Reproduced from Torontonensis, 1898

Dies 23 Jan. 1922 on 3 Do 1893. The funeral of the late Alfred "Prof." Williams, for thirty years Physical Director at Varsity, took place Wednesday (25 afternoon from Knox Presbyterian Church. The minister, Rev. John Gibson Inkster, assisted by the Rev. A. F. Barr, conducted the service, which was very impressive.

A large number of students were present, the choir-loft being filled with them. Representatives from all branches of athletic sport in the city, and members of the 48th Highlanders also attended. The old friends present included: Professor C. H. C. Wright, Dr. Barton, Dr. W. B. Henry, Dr. Wm. Ross, Dr. John McCallum, and many others prominently identified with athletics in the University.

Mr. McQueen, of S.P.S., rendered most beautifully "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," and Mr. Craig Hamilton, of S.P.S., presided at the organ. The hymns sung were, "Rock of Ages" and "Forever with the Lord" The pall-bearers were: Col. P. Biggs, Major W. Grant, Capt. T. H. Banton, Sergts. W. A. Hawkins and David Hunter, and Mr Charles Walter.

Athletics

The athletic record for the year 1921-22, while not being as distinguished as that of the previous year, was, nevertheless, a most satisfactory one. In Intercollegiate athletics Varsity more than held her own; the Interfaculty Series were well contested, and produced many good athletes. The "fortunes of war" resulted in the loss of the Earl Grey Cup, which was defended by the Rugby team, and of the Allan Cup, which was defended by the Hockey Team.

(In the photographs reproduced in TORONTONENSIS it is not possible, owing to the necessity of going to press early in the year, to collate all the teams of the current academic year. The Rugby, Soccer, Tennis, Track and Harrier, are of the teams that represented the University in the autumn of 1921. The Hockey, Basketball, Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing, etc., are of the teams of the spring of 1921, i.e., the previous academic year, 1920-21.)

Rugby

The Rugby Club got down to work early, the first practice being called for September 6th. Dr. J. M. Maynard succeeded Mr. Hamilton Cassels, Jr., as Honorary Coach, and fully maintained the high standard set the previous year. The Old Boys' game was won by this year's team on Saturday, October 1st. but they were defeated by Queen's the following Saturday in Kingston for the first time in many years. Varsity won both home games, and held McGill to a tie score in a great contest before fifteen thousand people at McGill Stadium. The defeat of McGill by Queen's on November 12th, determined the series, and Varsity remained holders of the Yates Cup. It may be of interest to note that Varsity has won the Intercollegiate championship eleven times out of nineteen contests.

The Intermediate Rugby Team was also successful in winning the Intercollegiate championship, defeating Queen's, the winners of the Eastern group. The team was ably coached by Dr. Frank S. Park, who, notwithstanding a series of disappointments, and the taking of many of his best players for the First Team, was able to place a team on the field that did credit to the University.

The Junior Team, after winning the Western Series, were defeated by Queen's in the play-off.

In the Mulock Cup Series, sixteen teams were entered, Senior Meds. winning the cup by defeating Junior Meds. in the final game.

Soccer

The First Team won the Intercollegiate championship, defeating Queen's both here and in Kingston. In the Interfaculty Series eight teams were entered, the winners of the Faculty Cup being the S. P. S. team, who defeated O. A. C. in the finals.

Tennis

The Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament was this year held in Montreal, and Varsity again failed to capture the cup, which still remains in Montreal. The Interfaculty tournament brought out the largest number of contestants in many years, The University champion was Mr. E. C. Guillet, of Victoria College.

Track

The Interfaculty Track meet was held on October 10th, and resulted in an unprecedented number of entries. S. P. S. rolled up 49 points, which placed them far ahead of any other faculty, and to this total K. L. Carruthers contributed 16 points. The following Interfaculty records were broken: In discus throw, Carruthers made 119 ft. 5½ in., and in the hurdles clipped 1-5 second off his own record of the previous year. McAuliffe of Pharmacy ran the three mile in 15 mins. 53-4-5 secs., cutting 3 seconds off the previous record.

The Intercollegiate Meet was held at the new Richardson Stadium at Queen's on October 21st, but McGill were again declared the winners by 71 points to Varsity's 54. Despite the weather, two records were broken, both by "Blue and White" competitors. McAuliffe winning the three mile in 15 mins. 42 secs., being 33 seconds better than the previous record; and Carruthers the discus throw, his throw of 118 ft. 9\frac{3}{4} in. being 4 ft. 2\frac{1}{4} in. better than the previous record, made in 1909.

Athletics Continued

The Track Team were fortunate in having as coach Mr. Frank Halbus, a Varsity Colour of 1909, whose untiring efforts throughout the year, both on the outdoor and indoor track, have contributed greatly to setting a high standard in this, one of the oldest and most important of college athletic activities.

Harrier

The Interfaculty Harrier Meet was held this year on October 29th, there being nearly 100 entries. The Brotherton Cup was won by O. A. C. for the first time in history.

The Intercollegiate Meet was held in Kingston on November 4th, Varsity winning hands down with their men in first, second, third and fourth places.

Hockey

In the Senior Intercollegiate Series Varsity won all four games, retaining the cup. The team, ably coached again by Dr. W. A. Dafoe (Med. '20), got off to a good start, and won the Senior S. P. A. Cup in December. They also had a most successful Christmas tour, winning all seven of their games and earning golden opinions from the American clubs with whom they played. Unfortunately for various reasons they were not successful in defending the John Ross Robertson Cup (Senior O. H. A.)

The Intermediate team lost to St. Michael's College in the Intercollegiate Series, who in turn were defeated by Queen's.

The Junior team commenced the season by winning the S. P. S. Trophy, but, after a hardly contested series, they lost out to the O. H. A. They won their group in the Intercollegiate, but were defeated by Queen's in the finals.

In the Jennings Cup Series there was the usual large number of clubs entered, and the series was run through in record time. The group winners were Junior Meds., Senior S. P. S., Victoria and Forestry. Victoria won the Jennings Cup, defeating Junior Meds. in the final game.

Basketball

In the Sifton Cup (Interfaculty) Series, seventeen teams were entered, the group winners being Senior Vic., Knox, Senior Meds., Junior S. P. S. and Senior Dents. In the final, Senior Meds. defeated Knox, who, with a small registration, but lots of college spirit, won their group after a number of exciting games.

The Senior Intercollegiate team failed to hold the cup, which this year was won by McGill.

In addition to the Intercollegiate team, four teams were entered in the Toronto and District League, which was productive of a great deal of good basketball. An Intermediate Intercollegiate Series was started, with a Western division consisting of teams from O. A. C., Western University and Varsity, the latter being winners of the series.

Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing

For the first time since 1915 the Intercollegiate meet was held in Toronto, and will go down in Varsity annals as one of the most successful in the history of that branch of Intercollegiate sport. The Blue and White won 10 events to McGill's 6 and Queen's single.

In the Interfaculty meet, held the previous week, O. A. C. were the winners, capturing the Davison Cup after a most keenly contested series of events. They won 60 points, Meds. coming second with 41.

Swimming and Water Polo

At the Interfaculty meet, held in December, the Fitzgerald Cup was retained by the S. P. S. team, School also winning the Water Polo Series.

The Intercollegiate championship was this year won by Varsity, at Montreal, but in Water Polo McGill were successful in winning both games. Three records were broken, Waldron of Varsity breaking the Canadian record for the long plunge with 71 ft. 3 in., and the Varsity Relay Team making a new record by winning in 1 min. 52 1-5 sec.

Lacrosse

The Lacrosse team made its usual spring tour in the United States, visiting several sister universities. They won many of their games, and added greatly to the reputation of the University of Toronto in athletics. The team was managed by H. E. Firth, of S. P. S. '24.

Gymnasium

The Gymnasium Club made a great advance on the previous year's work, and visited McGill on March 11th. Unfortunately Queen's and R. M. C. did not enter teams as expected, but the events were so keenly contested that the result was in doubt until the points were totalled at the end of the evening.

Rowing

The Rowing Club fully maintained the high standard set in 1920, and under the able coaching of Professor T. R. Loudon, won new laurels both at home and abroad. They held the Hanlan Memorial Trophy for Senior Eights at the Canadian Henley Regatta in August, and won the Intermediate Eights. Later on they journeyed to Buffalo to participate in the Regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, where they won the Intermediate Championship of America, represented by the Fox Trophy, and only lost the Senior Championship by inches.

British Rugby

A successful attempt was made to introduce British Rugby into Intercollegiate Athletics. Home-and-home games were played with McGill, Varsity winning the first game by a considerable margin, but losing in Montreal the following week. The success of the venture, however, augurs well for the continuation of this important branch of sport.

Women's Athletics

The outstanding event in connection with Women's Athletics in the past year has been the formation of a Women's Athletic Association, controlled by a directorate organized in a similar manner to that of the men. Under this body it has been possible to promote intercollegiate athletics for women, and already two basketball meets, including teams from McGill, Queen's and Varsity have been held, and one hockey match between McGill and Varsity.

The Varsity women have not been behind the men in winning championships for the Blue and White, as they were undefeated in a single basketball game either at the Kingston meet in February, 1921, or the Toronto meet in February, 1922, and won out by a good margin in the hockey. So much enthusiasm was aroused by the hockey game that the members of the Engineering Society of the Faculty of Applied Science of the University of Toronto have donated a magnificent trophy cup to be competed for annually by the Senior Teams in the Women's Intercollegiate Hockey League. The trophy is to be called the W. Beattie Ramsay Cup, and has been won by Varsity for the year 1921-22.

BASKETBALL.

Interfaculty Basketball, played in the fall term, found University College and Medicine as the winners in the two groups. In the final series between the two, the first game resulted in a tie, and Medicine won the second game and the championship by the close score of 24-21.

The scores of the Intercollegiate games here in February were: Varsity-Queen's, 28-13; McGill-Queen's, 21-13; Varsity-McGill, 42-32, the latter being one of the cleanest and fastest games every played here. Great credit is due to Mr. Moote and Miss Doris Wood for the coaching and managing of the team.

HOCKEY.

The U. of T. Women's Hockey Club has successfully completed the first year of its existence. The interfaculty hockey competition leaves U. C. and Victoria tie in one group and St. Hilda's winners of the other. A challenge was sent to McGill to meet the Varsity hockey team in Toronto on February 24th. The Club was most fortunate in its choice of Mr. Banbury as coach and Miss Margaret Thomas as manager, and they created a team which defeated McGill 4-0, and upheld every Varsity tradition of clean play and good sportsmanship.

SWIMMING.

Interest in swimming this year has been more enthusiastic than ever, largely due to the interest taken by Mr. Cochrane, the new instructor, in every individual who has entered the tank. At an interfaculty meet in March the handsome challenge cup presented by Ishbel Robertson for the individual swimming championship will be put up for competition for the first time.

TENNIS.

Interfaculty Tennis was managed this year by the newly organized University Tennis Club. The Tournament did not follow the old method of entering teams from each College, but took the form of an open draw. Owing to weather conditions, play did not proceed past the semi-finals. Unfortunately, there is no Tennis Cup to offer at present, as the former one has been won permanently by Victoria.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

In addition to general gymnasium work, special classes are held by the Physical Instructor to emphasize remedial and corrective exercises prescribed by the Medical Advisor.

"Toronto"

or the Pride of the North

Where smiles the lake 'neath a sky ever blue,
Where blooms the maple tree,
There stands Toronto, the Pride of the North,
And her children all are we.
Yes, we are from Toronto,
Our Alma Mater, our mother dear:
And proudly now we sing her praises,
That all may know that her sons are near.

Up with the Blue and the White! let them wave
High o'er the old gray Tower;
Forth from its portals have stepped in their might
The Dominion's men of power.
Yes,—they come from Toronto,
Our noble statesmen, our soldiers true:
And fondly each one hails the mem'ry
Of that dear spot 'neath the White and Blue.

All hail to thee, Toronto!
Proud Mistress of the North!
With heart and voice we praise thee,
As we go marching forth.

KANT. EATON COLIMITED

AND ITS MORE THAN FIFTY YEARS OF COMMERCIAL HISTORY

A LINK WITH THE PAST, A FACTOR OF THE PRESENT, AND AN EARNEST OF THE FUTURE IS THIS IMMENSE BUSINESS

Sooner or Later and probably sooner the visitor to Toronto arrives at this Store, which ranks among the world's largest. Certainly the hugeness of it is impressive, if one can realize the facts of sixty acres of floor space and a normal staff of about 12.000 employees: but the vast activities, world-wide, which this business involves, the buying in many markets, and the selling over wide areas—these are unseen for the most part, and unknown except to the initiated.

BUYING OFFICES

In those pulsating places where great affairs are transacted, where the fate of merchandise hangs in the balance, the T. Eaton Co., Limited, has established its buying offices. London, Paris, New York—each has its office and its resident buvers who act as sleuths for things novel, beautiful and useful. In Manchester, Leicester, Belfast, the cotton, hosiery, and linen industries involve specially trained buyers who are resident in these cities, and in Japan the Yokohama office acts as a vantage point for the purchase of Oriental silks and porcelain.

With the growth and progress of Canadian manufactures, the Canadian buying offices increase in importance. The headquarters for buying "Made-in-Canada" merchandise is on the third floor of the Store, and the value of Montreal as a centre for ready-made clothing, has involved a buying office there, which draws on an immense trade for its merchandise. So it is that the latest achievements of the great couturiers appear in the T. Eaton Co.'s showrooms less than a month after their sensational debut in Paris. Objets d'art from Kashmir, rugs from Persia, chintzes from English looms, linen from Ireland, perfumes and lingerie from France, ribbons and embroideries from Switzerland they come from far and near and are all stored in this great treasure house.

MAIL ORDER AND CATALOGUE

To those who live in remote, isolated spots, far from stores and factories, the Eaton Mail Order plays the part of fairy godmother. From three centres in Toronto, Winnipeg and Moncton, the Mail Order distribution radiates over the whole country. The trapper in Northern woods, the housewife in the Western farmhouse, the habitant in old-world Quebec—all know the Mail Order system, and use its resources in half a hundred ways. It brings to their doors furniture. household supplies of every kind, clothing, farm implements — almost everything that civilization demands. TORONTO

A letter, with its order referring to the catalogue. arrives at the Mail Order Building in one of these centres, and from that moment the whole service of the huge organization is concentrated on fulfilling the instructions and despatching the merchandise with the utmost speed and care. The catalogue itself represents a vast industry. Published twice a year and printed by the Mail Order presses, it covers all seasons and practically every class of merchandise.

and provides a valuable link between Store and customers all over the Dominion.
